PREFACE.

IN a work of this nature consisting, entirely of the minutest detail, the materials of which are derived from different and often conflicting authorities, perfect accuracy cannot reasonably be expected. My object has been in every instance to make such an approximation to the truth as may be sufficient for every practical purpose; and, as no labour has been spared in the attempt, I feel assured that it will be found on experience that I have generally succeeded.

The statistical information has been principally communicated by Gentlemen whose situation and official employments enabled them to supply it, and to whom I submitted the bare skeleton of the Routes for that purpose. In some instances the population is stated from actual investigation, while in others the number of houses and shops is given on conjecture only. Particular circumstances however affect the correctness of both. The Routes through Malwa and the adjacent Provinces were principally measured during the years 1817, 1818, and 1819, when the country was slowly recovering from a state of anarchy; and the same observation applies nearly to Khandes.* The Routes in the Deccan were collected during the years 1823, 1824, and 1825, at a time when many of the districts were greatly depopulated by the united effects of cholera and famine, and the survivors abandoned their homes from the apprehension of those dreadful evils. During this eventful period some districts were for many months almost entirely deserted, while those adjacent obtained a small increase of population.

* It will be observed that the spelling of names varies in different parts of the work; for instance Ahmednuggur, Nassik, Kallian, &c. When part of the work had been printed, it occurred to me as an improvement to dispense in some cases with the double consonant which custom has sanctioned.

In the Alphabetical Index to the Towns, &c. which occur in the course of the work, I have endeavoured to add the names of the province in which they are respectively situated. I am, however, not so well acquainted with geographical boundaries as to suppose my arrangement free from error. Of the ancient division of the country into Sirkars, Prants, and Soobhas, full information might perhaps have been obtained from the old territorial records in the office at Poona, but the labour of examining them would have been immense, and the result more an object of curiosity than utility. I have therefore adopted those names for provinces or divisions of the country with which most of us are familiar. It will be requisite however to mark the limits of those divisions.

Beginning at the South, I have distinguished by the name of Carnatic the country south of the Toombudra.

That river indeed, in its whole course, forms the best southern boundary to this Presidency that can be contemplated. The numerous southern Jageerdars of the Mahratta State who all reside north and west of it, possess the greater part of the territory as far as the Bheema.

The name of Doab, better known as the Southern Mahratta country, I have applied to the territory between the Toombudra and Krishna rivers above the Ghats, not however including such part of the territories of the Kolapoor and Sattara Rajahs as are situated within these limits.

The Kolapoor Rajah's country is divided from that of the Sattara Rajah by the Warna river, and generally from the rich and populous country of the Southern Jageerdars by the Krishna. The Sattara territory extends to Pundurpoor on the east, and is separated by the Neera river from the country I have distinguished by the name of Deccan.

For the proper limits of the Deccan I refer my readers to Hamilton's Hindoostan, or other works of authority, the tract to which I have given that name includes only the Collectorships of Poona, Ahmednuggur and Sholapoor. The province of Beder is to the east of this.

North of Beder, bounded by the Deccan on the west and Berar on the east, is the Nizam's portion of the ancient Sirkar of Aurungabad, which formerly extended to the Ocean. This territory I have distinguished by the name of Nizam's in the Index. But throughout the Routes, besides the entire provinces of Beder and Hyderabad, there are many towns in the Deccan, and Southern Mahratta country, which belong to his Highness. The whole of Berar also, west of the Wurda river, from its source to its junction with the Godavery, belongs to the Nizam, while the territory on the east bank belongs to the Rajah of Nagpoor.

Khandes, the highly fertile but still desolate valley of the Taptee, has the Sautpoora range of hills for its northern boundary, and the Indiadree or Chandore range for its southern. Meiwar I conclude to form part of Khandes. Nemaour is that part of the valley of the Nerbudda comprehended between the Sautpoora and the nearest part of the Vindhia range, the north bank forming part of Malwa.

The Attaveesee is sometimes distinguished as part of Gujerat, of which it contributes to form the southern military division, and occasionally is mentioned as part of the Northern Konkan; the name is applied in the present work to the country between the Taptee and Damungunga.

By Gujerat I intend the countries between Malwa on the east and the two Runs on the west, and from the Taptee to the province of Sirowi. The four provinces in the Gujerat peninsula I have included under the name of Katteeawar, of which Okamundel is an insulated portion. Wagur is separated from Kutch Proper by the river Sahrin, and Mooltan from the latter by an extensive Run.

These geographical limits are merely assumed as best suited for this work. Had I attempted more minute divisions, I should often have been led into error, while those which I have adopted are sufficiently distinct for the purposes of the ordinary Traveller and my brother Officers.

It will be readily perceived that I have followed no particular system of orthography. I have not ventured to alter the spelling of such words, or names of places, as long usage and a kind of official sanction have made familiar, however incorrect. An uniform system of representing oriental words in the Roman character is unfortunately still a desideratum; and though every one feels the inconvenience, every succeeding attempt seems only to render it more hopeless. The critic in orthography must not be offended if occasional violations of every system occur in the present work.

JOHN CLUNES.

		Descent of Sawurchool ghât...	0 7
		Note.—The descent is precipitous and rocky, with difficulty passable to loaded animals ascending. I descend- ed with care on an elephant. The Wussera ghat, by which the baggage is usually sent, is said to be better, but increases the distance 4 m. The Wussera ghat, with temporary repairs, is used for guns.

Note.—The Malsej ghat may be said to commence at Teetubee, when the road first descending winds between high mountains. The ascent then begins and continues to the top 1¼ miles more, which is the extent of the ghat properly so called. From the top the road leads through a valley between high ranges of mountains to Murra. The Malsej ghat is perfectly passable by camels and elephants, but being steep, and, in some places narrow, with a precipice on one side, their loads require to be taken off at the bottom, and to be carried up by coolies, which are procurable in plenty at Murra. There is a made road throughout, which, though much out of repair, offers great comparative facility for improvement. In the ascent is an excavation containing carved images of Gunesh and Hunooman, and a cistern of fine water. The scenery is grand, but the mountains are scantily wooded.

The route most frequented by native travellers between Asseer and Simrole ghât, which leads to Indore, crosses the Nerbudda at Burwae. The following is extracted from a gentleman's journal, who travelled the road with camels :		Note.—The Nerbudda's bed, when fordable at Motuku, is most unfavourable for the passage of cattle, being exceedingly stony.
To Boorgaon, l. v.	12 4	This route is not only shorter, but by all accounts better than that by Mundlaisur and the Jaum ghât. Carts, guns, and camels may be taken the whole way, and the Simrole ghât is so good that a curricule might be driven from the top to the bottom. The passage of the Nerbudda is the only evil, and that is not much less at Mundlaisur. The Jaum ghat is impassable for wheel carriages.		Note.—The Peeprana ghat is not difficult. The road to Kairee not remarkably good or bad, but thence to Bheekungaon the country is desolate, hilly, covered with long grass and thin jungle, with a stony bad road.

Note.—The egress from this ghat at the top is through an old gateway. The road leads along a ridge, which, on the left, is perfectly perpendicular from its base in the Konkan. Four miles on the right is the fort of Rangna, and on the left is the strong hill fort of Munhar, of which fable has made the god Pandoo architect. Songurh, Buddurgurh, Suanto, and other hill forts belonging to the Kolapoor Rajah, are seen in the distance, also the Warree country, the Konkan, and the sea. The distance from the top to the Kusba of Pautgaon is about 5 miles.

HUNOUMAN GHAT, the next adjacent, is a cattle road, but a very bad one. Pautgaon is 4 miles from Hunmuntgurh at the top, and Banda is 4 miles from Tulkut at the bottom. There is a chokey at the foot dependent on Munhar, to collect the customs on cattle.

GHOTGAY GHAT, is a good road for cattle, excepting some bad places near the top, which is 5 miles from Pautgaon.

SEWGURH GHAT is frequented by cattle from Kolapoor, who go to the weekly bazar at Koorlee, near the foot of the ghat. Koorlee is about 6m. from Phonda, and about 7m. over a very bad hill road to Khurool, at the bottom of the Bowra ghat.

The road by Tanda branches off at Bang and joins here: it is considerably nearer, but the Tanda ghat is said to be impassable to guns and carts.		Note.—Dhar is an ancient city, head of a petty state under the protection of the British Government. Before this alliance it had been nearly annihilated, but the population is now rapidly increasing. The ruins of the once celebrated city of Mendoo or Mandow are 12 or 13 m. distant. A remarkable block of iron, called Ukbar Shah's is shewn here.

Note.—The difference in the distance from the sea coast to Mhow between the Kaira and the Baroda route is trifling; i. e. from Kambay to Mhow, via Kaira and Godra, and from Tankaree Bunder to Mhow, via Baroda. The roads on both routes are equally good, but the facilities of obtaining supplies and carriage are not the same. On the Baroda route from chota Oodeepoor to Bhopawur, a distance of about 90 miles, neither bullocks nor carts can be procured, and no provisions, except grain, and occasionally a little milk. During the hot season water is scarce and bad. The people are inhospitable, and rather insolent, and the jungle is very extensive and dangerously unhealthy after the rains. The villages are very poor and small, and the inhabitants generally speaking very unwilling to assist travellers, or to have any intercourse with them, except for the purpose of committing robbery.		the Veraswuttee in front of the left, and a nullah in front of the right. This road is bad and rocky through thick jungle to the ghat, which descends into the plain of Dohud about 2 miles from the choky, which belongs to Sindhia, and divides his territories from the Barreah Rajah's. The ghat is steep and rugged.
		From Godra is through the Barreah jungle, and the traveller will find a Bheel guard of 5 or 6 men absolutely
On the route via Kaira and Godra the villages are much larger, and all common supplies may be obtained at most of them, and carts and bullocks at many. The jungle, though very thick in some places, is considerably broken and interrupted, and does not extend above 60 miles altogether. The people are more civilized and accommodating than on the other road, and the country abounds with game. However the Bheels are very numerous, and robbery is so common that no native will travel by night. Guards of seven or eight men armed with matchlocks, &c. can always be procured, and the traveller is perfectly safe while under their protection. This route has hitherto been very little frequented by Europeans; but were it more generally known, I think it would always be preferred to the other.

GOGO TO RAJKOT:

Note.—Gogo is almost surrounded by a creek, which at high water admits of large boats coming close up to the town. In the S. W. moonsoon it is a safe roadsted to which vessels may run in case of parting with their anchors in Surat road. Vessels from 50 to 300 tons are built here. The town is large, affording all kinds of supplies and good water, and there are two public bungalows for travellers. Bhownuggur is distant $11\frac{1}{2}$ m. partly over a muddy run in many places very swampy.

The Hindoo pilgrims bathe at the junction of the rivers Hurna, Kupula, and Sirsuttee. He succeeded in taking Puttun, which he plundered, and destroyed the temple. The present temple was erected by Alia Bhye, the wife of the first Mulhar Rao Holkar (vide Malcolm's Central India) a woman whose piety and beneficence have spread her gifts in every part of India. FROM NOWANUGGUR TO MUDDI, IN OKAMUNDEL :		Okamundel is separated from the main land by a Runn, over which there are roads across at Pindtaruk or Pindtara, and Ghorglur on the main land, and Muddi on the Oka shore. To the last place the road is along an embankment 20 paces broad, erected against the sea, and is passable at all times. Okamundel was inhabited by a number of independent, and formerly piratical, tribes, and the country which is covered with milk bush and hauble jungle, was favourable to their habits. The valleys are partially sown with bajree and jooree. There are no rivers, and the villages are supplied with water from tanks. Besides the temples of Dwarka and Shunkodwar, there are three fortified places in the province, Aramra, Beerwalla, and Positra. The Gopee Chundun is taken from a tank near the latter place. On the road which leads to Dwarka (which is 10 miles S. E. from Muddi) there are a number of stone baths of a very handsome structure, called Seeta Khoond, for the pilgrims to wash themselves in. This wild province has several superb pieces of architecture, and the terrace along the Goomtah (creek near Dwarka) has a number of handsome Dheeris of various designs.

Note.—The Nerbudda here is about half a mile broad, abounding in good fish and large tortoises. The road from Kundwa to the Agnee river requires repair to render it passable for ordnance; thence to Hurda is described as affording ready passage to village pundies. The country between Blhangurh and Charwa is completely deserted (1817), and, from within a few miles of the former place, covered with thin jungle and long grass. There is not a more direct line from Kundwa to Hindia than through Charwa. The road from Kundwa to Charwa by Singossa and Moondhi are both reported as being impassable for wheel carriages. Grain is likely to be scarce unless a liberal price is given.

Nuldroog. The Nuwab Dooly Khan's, vide XXI.....	14	6

Note.—The set in this division is calculated for 12 bearers and 1 mausaljee.

The set at Tendoolwaree carries to Nuldroog, to which place the Postmaster at Poona has to post bearers for persons travelling post by order of Government.

When a private gentleman requires bearers to be posted for him he should be very particular in stating to his correspondent whom he relies on for assistance, the day, even the hour, on which he proposes to commence his journey; the places he intends to halt at for refreshment, and the time he intends to halt for that purpose. If neglectful of these particulars the hummalls may reach their stations several days before they are required, and incur to the traveller, perhaps a great additional expence. Should the traveller, on any occasion wish to halt a day at any place, his stating his intention previously would save the posting of one set. For instance, a traveller from Bombay to Poona will meet the first Poona set at Khalapoor, and supposing that they take him to the top of the ghat to breakfast, they can, having refreshed themselves, take him on in the evening to Wurgaon; or they might come to Karlee to breakfast and run to Wurgaon or Tuligaon in the evening. For the extra labour however, they would be entitled to, at least half a rupee each man, additional. The hummalls at Panwell are under the Collector at Tanna, at Poona they are under the Collector in the city, and under the Bazar Master in camp; and this applies also to Sholapoor.

The expence is 8 annas per diem to each bearer, reckoned from the day they quit their families till they return. It may be as well to mention also, that any mistake in posting any one set may subject the traveller to great loss of time and considerable expence.

If bearers are detained more than one day batta must be paid at the rate of 1 fanam, or 1 anna 3 pice per day. Bearers are procurable on the spot to the extent of one set at Moonegala; two sets at Nundegama; two sets at Ibrampatam; and perhaps one hundred and fifty bearers at Ellore. Note.—The road to Manikapatam is through heavy sand, with Chilka Lake close on the right. At Manikapatam cross an arm of the sea one mile wide at low water, which communicates with the Chilka Lake. At Nursingapatam cross a rivulet which has a ferry boat on it during the rains. Cross the Bandia nulla, 100 yards wide, near Juggonath Pooree, a small civil and military station : the residents at which have houses on the sea coast about a mile from the celebrated temple of Juganath. Cross the Teon Mahanuddee to Mookoon-dapoor, two miles on the Jugganath side of Peeplee. The civil and military station of Cuttack is on the banks of the Mahanuddee, one mile east of the city of Cuttack, which is on the Ratgoree river. The Ratgoree is one mile wide, and ferried over from June to February : during the other months it is fordable.

In the Ganjam district oil is to be paid for as required, and batta of one anna to each person after the first day, is 15 annas per diem additional. In the Cuttack district oil is charged when used at 4 annas each stage.

If a traveller leaves Cuttack at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, he will arrive at Bhareepoor, half way to Balasore about 8 or 9 o'clock the next morning, where there is a bungalow for the accommodation of travellers. He can remain at Bhareepoor during the heat of the day, start again in the evening and reach Balasore to breakfast. Proceed again in the cool of the evening, and arrive at Dantoon, half way to Midnapoor, early next morning ; where there is a comfortable house for the accommodation of travellers. In like manner if he goes on again in the evening to Midnapoor, another night will take him to Tumlook, where he gets into a boat and proceeds up the Hoogly to Calcutta.

A traveller with one set consisting of 8 bearers, 2 bungy burdars, and 2 mausals, pays 8 annas per mile, agreeably to regulation, and pays 2 annas per man per diem for detaining the bearers on the road. Or he may pay 3 annas per man for each stage from Tanghee to Khutnaghur, and agreeably to this the following is calculated :

During the moonsoon it is recommended to travellers to run from Midnapore to Tumlook, which is 51 miles, viz. Debrah and Purtabpoor, and embark there on Roopnaraen river, a branch of the Hoogly. The passage is about 15 hours to Calcutta. The expence from Jellesore to Tumlook, 2 stages, is 26½ Rs. for bearers, and 1½ Rs. for oil, being for 12 bearers, 2 bungy burdars, and 1 mausaljee.

The distance by sea from Bombay to Panwell, about 20 miles, and from Tumlook to Calcutta, about 90 miles, should be added to make the whole distance from Bombay to Calcutta. The distance by land, however, from Tumlook to Calcutta, is only 50 miles.

Good hammals will go four miles an hour, sometimes more, but the time occupied in the journey depends principally on the traveller himself. From 20 to 22 days is a reasonable allowance for the journey to a stout man.

These stages are furnished to me by the several Postmasters on route, as well as by several travellers. In the Nizam's territory, however, no two routes in my possession correspond.

The following extract from the Police Office Regulations at Madras, regarding palankeen bearers will enable a person to calculate the expence of dak travelling through the Madras territory.

Palankeen bearers of all descriptions, 9 in a set, to be paid at the rate of 3 fanams per day, or 2 pagodas each per month.

Bearers hired to go beyond the precincts of Madras, to be paid according to the distance; calculating the rate of hire at 3 fanams each for every 10 English miles.

A set of bearers required to go beyond the precincts of Madras, or to St. Thomas's Mount, Poonamallee, or Ennore, shall consist of 10, but if required for a greater distance, of 12.

Bearers hired at Madras, if they go into the country beyond the distance of 10 miles, and are detained for some days, are to receive 1 fanam a day batta in addition to their daily hire of 3 fanams each.

Bearers are entitled to the daily hire of 3 fanams; although their services may only be required for a portion of the day; it will however be optional with the bearers to engage themselves per trip or for half hire.

A set of bearers when travelling shall receive 3 single Madras fanams each for every 10 English miles.

If a person in the course of a journey remains at a place, he must for the first three days pay each bearer 1 single Madras fanam batta; if he remains more than three days, he must pay each bearer 3 single Madras fanams per day.

If the bearers are to travel through cross-roads, they are to be paid at the rate of 3 single Madras fanams each per 10 English miles.

A set of bearers on field service to receive each 2 pagodas a month, and the head bearer $2\frac{1}{2}$ pagodas.

Bearers on field force are not to receive batta.

Posted Bearers.

If the posts or stations are divided into distances of 30 miles; the rate of charge for a set of 12 bearers shall be 12 single Madras fanams for the first station, 18 single Madras fanams for the second, increasing 6 fanams every station or post; and if the stations are subdivided into half distances of 15 miles each, then the increase upon each post shall be 3 fanams; and if into distances of 10 miles each, the increase shall be 2 fanams, and so in proportion according to the division of the posts.

If the bearers are detained on the road, they are to receive 1 fanam a day for the first 4 days, and 3 fanams a day for every day afterwards.

If after having been posted they are recalled, they are to receive for the time they have been absent, at the rate of $1\frac{3}{4}$ pagoda per month, and the head bearer at the rate of 2 pagodas.

If bearers are sent from Madras to any distance, to bring back a gentleman from thence, half the hire is to be paid for going, and full hire for bringing back.

In case a set of bearers who are posted for any gentleman be left at any particular post, having received their full hire to that post, any other gentleman arriving there, or requiring that the set be detained there on his account, shall pay to the set of bearers the rates for waiting already established; and for the distance of journey the usual travelling pay of 3 single Madras fanams for every 10 miles.

FROM BOMBAY TO THE NILGHEERY HILLS.

The voyage from Bombay to Cannanore is accomplished in about 6 days, and thence to Calicut is reckoned 12 hours sail. Paulhauthery, distant 87 miles, is reached by palankeen dâk in 24 hours; thence to Coimbatore the distance is 30 miles, and to the foot of the hills 28 miles further. From the bottom of the hills to Dimpatty above, is a distance of 12 or 13 miles; the most part of the way being a severe ascent, and taking nearly a whole night to go up in a palankeen. The whole distance from Calicut is about 158 miles; and may be posted the whole way.

The country on the hill is described as beautiful, as abounding with game, and the gardens producing roses, geraniums, &c. in profusion, with plenty of vegetables. The average range of the thermometer is about 66° in April, and from comparisons made at the same time it was 94° at Coimbatore.

No. V.

FROM BOMBAY TO MAHABULESHWUR.

Mahabuleshwur is almost equidistant from Mhar and Sattara, and forming a table land of nearly 5,000 feet, it gives rise to the different branches of the Krishna and other rivers, and is therefore the most elevated point of the ghât in these parts. The breadth of this table land, from the point where the road begins at the ghât leading from the valley of Sattara, until it descends on the opposite side into the Konkan, is about eight miles. The distance from Mhar to the hills is little more than thirty miles, or three easy stages; and to those who propose to take a trip here from Bombay, I would recommend that they should take a boat as far as Mhar, via Bankoot, and then procure palankeen bearers from Dapoolee for the remainder of the way.

Those who have enjoyed the usual cold weather of the Deccan, during December and January, will be able to form a much better general idea of the Mahabuleshwur climate from March to June, than could be possibly conveyed to them by any more minute or laboured description. The minimum of Fahrenheit's thermometer is, sometimes, at night 64° ; a range of temperature which is only four degrees less than the maximum heat in May on the Nilgherry hills. Though the average heat at Mahabuleshwur, a little after noon, is then 80° in a house, or 20° greater than the extreme heat of the Nilgherry hills. The temperature of the former, when there are clouds, does not exceed 70° . The average variation during the day is about 12° of Fahrenheit.

To those who are suffering more particularly from weakened stomach, general debility, and exhaustion, than any from any specific visceral enlargement, a residence here during the hot season presents incalculable advantages. When the secretion of the liver has been languid, it at first produces an irregular but augmented circulation in that organ, by increasing the tone and energy of the stomach; and to those who might not have access to a physician, it will be satisfactory to know, that a few grain doses of calomel, the daily application of warm bathing, and the flesh brush, with the habitual use of flannel and warm clothing, are the proper correctives for this state, until, by a longer residence here, the body shall have retrieved what it had previously lost in a too moist and heated atmosphere. Exercise, both on foot and horseback, can be freely indulged in; to which the invalid will be naturally prompted by the bracing influence of the air, and the encouragement of a good road for a morning ride, through romantic and picturesque scenery.

To the sportsman these hills offer, I fear, but little amusement; a few hares, jungle and spur fowl, being the only game. But those to whom the voice of the blackbird and thrush can bring pleasing recollections, and who love to associate the pleasures of a happier climate with the appearance of ferns, willows, and the moss in blossom, will find here no mean resemblance, for India, of that climate, for which, as Englishmen, we long even when the common evils of our exile are not aggravated by sickness.

A temporary chupper over a tent would effectually secure the traveller from any inconvenience during the day when the thermometer exceeds 80° , which is the maximum here, in tents, for May. As the nights are cold, blankets and warm clothing are indispensable requisites.

List of Ghats in the Syhadree Range of Mountains, from the Rhowra Ghat leading into the Attaveesee, to the Ram Ghat leading to Goa.

RHOWRA GHAT.—The ghats, or passes, descending from Gungthury into the Kokan, are, all of them, short and easy of descent, and differ materially from those of the Judyadree range near Kassarbaree, or those in this range more southerly and near Poona.

In height they do not appear generally to exceed 500 feet, and the descent is rather steeper than the Kassarbary, but the great difference is, that the country throughout to the right and left of each road, which itself winds along a ridge or branch (as it may be called) of the highest hills, is completely intersected by similar ridges, extremely steep, mostly too much so, in any cross direction, for even foresters to descend; and the whole face of the country is covered with trees, bamboos, underwood, and long grass. This makes it impassable for cavalry except by the roads, or rather paths, all of which might easily be destroyed by cutting ditches across them, where, as is generally the case, they are of earth, or by felling trees across at favourable places.

From the tops of the passes, the country westward is seen to be covered by jungly hills, for at least 15 miles in every direction, and water is scarce, generally early in the dry season. The low country called Kokun, or Daung, is inhabited by Bheels and Coolies scattered over the face of the country in open villages in no way protected, nor even surrounded by hedges.

The ghats north of Rhowra, as Morkurra, Hudgur, &c. all lead to Soornagana, (vide VII) and those south of it, as Bunwur, Pullasur, Aumbana, Oossessara, and Gaundoola, lead to Bowra. WUNASSY, WAGDEO, MUHAJEE, SOWL or SAWAL, AMBEGUND and BULSAY, lead to Peint, Kurukwal, Futihpoor, Belaulgurh, Oomergaon, &c. PEEPREE, GAUNDWASSY FOOT PATH, JAM, DEOL, GORKY, OORANU, JAUMLA, AGSAR and WAGAYRA GHATS, all of which lead to Hursool, and are rather steeper than the former, and pass through a country equally hilly. Of all these ghats, the Sowl, Ambegund, and Wagayra, are the easiest. The Madras Pioneers were employed in 1818, in repairing the Sowl Ghat.

The low country affords timber in abundance and some teak, which is brought up by coolies through these passes for sale at the adjacent towns of Nassick, Trimbuck, Dindory, &c. BOORUJ, and AMBOOLY GHATS, are both of easy descent, and may be made fit for guns; they lead to the town of Jowaur, belonging to the Jowaur Rajah.

The country through which all the roads lead below the ghats is so completely covered by hills and forests as to be impassable in every direction, but by the roads, which are generally very bad.

SEER GHAT, South of Trimbuck, leads from Deogaon above to Khundala below; it is on the principal road from Basseen to Trimbuck, and is used by country carts proceeding to the annual jatra at the reputed source of the Godavery. The Bunjaras, who proceed by the Peepree ghat, as the most direct road, prefer this road on their return with their cattle laden.

THE TULL GHAT, (vide LIV.) is easy and practicable for carts, and is the most eligible for troops moving in the direction of Nassik from Bombay. The Pioneers are now at work (1826) making the road from hence to Bhowndy. Sixty-four miles of the roads between Bhowndy and Tras. now finished.

PEEPREE GHAT, OR PEEPREE BHOR GHAT, leads from Wassula, 10 miles from the bottom, on the road to Bhowndy, to Peepree, 3 miles from the top, on the road to Nassik. The approach below is a very hard stony road, through a hilly and rather jungly country. The ghat is of easy ascent, and might be made a very good one. This is one of the usual roads from Nassik to Basseen, Kallian, &c. From Peepree to Nassik is about 32 miles : Bhowndy is 46m. 7f. from the top of the ghat.

THE GOONDA AND OWUTTA FOOT GHATS, lead up to Koolung from the Kokun.

MAINDA, OR MENDHA GHAT, leads from Dholkhum by Hinglood at the bottom, to Ghatgurh, a little beyond the top of the pass, and thence to Rajoor. The lower part of the road is good, but the upper is precipitous stony and dangerous for cattle ; it is, however, a good deal frequented by Bunjaras. There is a little bad water procurable about half way up, and a tank at the top. From Dholkhum to Hinglood, which is a little off the road, is 3 miles : thence to the top of the ghat is 3½ miles.

CHOONDA OR CHOONDA-MENDHA GHAT, 3 miles east of Dholkhum, leads from the deserted village of Choonda at the bottom of the ghat to Ghatgurh above. The ascent is about 3 miles, and is only passable for men or unladen cattle. It was formerly frequented, but is now so bad as to be entirely discontinued as a bullock road. The fort of Rutunpoor is about 6 miles from the top.

MALSEJ GHAT, north, below Joodhun, (vide IV).

† NANA GHAT, south, below Joodhun, is about 12 miles from Jooneer. † do name the pass the road is from = naves.
From Ghatgurh, which is the petta of Joodhun, to Wysakra, a small village below the ghat, is about 5 miles. The road is frequented by Bunjaras in the dry season, but in the rains a part of the road, on which the rock has been cut into steps, is dangerous for the passage of cattle. A considerable distance is saved by this route from Kallian to Ahmednuggur, but a native, having baggage and followers, would in any season prefer the circuitous route of the Khandala Bhor ghat, to any of these passes. Dusye is 4 miles from the bottom.

BORUNDA FOOT GHAT, leads up to Byramgurh.

THE OWAPPAH AND KONTEE, both foot ghats below Gomehgurh : the first has been stopped up. Dusye is 5 or 6 miles from the foot of it.

GHAR, OOMRAH, AND GOOMAR GHATS, leading up to Seedgurh hill fort, are only accessible to foot passengers. From the fort to the flourishing village of Narrolee below is about 2 miles. The distance from Narrolee to Morebaur, (vide XCVII.) is 10 miles measured.

RUNSHIL, OR BHEEMA SHUNKUR GHAT, by this route mussaula of all kinds, oil and jaggy, are transported to Panwell ; and the cattle in return † here is the B. river an amount to KOULACHADUR AND NAKINDADUR GHATS, for unladen cattle, and AUDURADUR, for men only, lead up to Khotelgurh, or meet there. From the fort to Amboolee below is 2½ miles ; from the latter to Sheloo, (vide X.) via Pahtrudge, is 12½ miles.

SAOLA GHAT, foot-path. It is by this ghat that the principal part of the timber from the Konkan is brought up to be forwarded to Poona. The supposed amount of it annually is 50,000 rupees.

KOLUMBA GHAT, frequented by laden cattle with batty and salt from Kalian, is 2 miles south of Khotelgurh : close to this ghat is another (name unknown) difficult and precipitous foot path, by which a light detachment of the 4th Regiment ascended to Enguld and surprized a party of Coolies in February 1818.

KUSSOOR GHAT, (vide X.) The road is passable for bullocks laden, winds a good deal, and is about $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles long.

THE RAJ MAUCHEE GHAT, (vide XCIX.) leads from the fort of the same name to the small village of Khurroundee below, situated on the Oolassa river. The ghat is said to be 4 miles long by a winding road, and only accessible to cattle lightly laden, and foot passengers.

BHOR OR BORE GHAT, (vide I.) from Poona to Panwell is a little steep near the top and bottom ; but it is a good made road the whole way.

Between the Peepree Bore ghat and Khandala Bore ghat there are, besides those above enumerated, the following pathways, or rather durras, which are accessible, with some difficulty to foot passengers ; the Konoo, Hindoola, Manjer, Strombo, Ambolee, Pootychee and Missnya.

† KHUROWNDA GHAT, passable for unladen cattle.

○ SAYU, GAROOLWT OR SEWASHNEE, AND WAGJAE OR TELBELYA, GHATS, (vide XXXIV.) the three ghats branch off at Awulus above, and lead to the Waree of Jamboolpara below. The two first are accessible to laden cattle, but the second is long, tedious and difficult ; the last is a mere foot path.

LENDYA OR LINGA, TAMUNU, DEO, TEEBTEEBA, AND NISNEE OR KOORDOO, GHATS, (vide XXXII.)

KOOMBA GHAT, (vide XXXII.) is the best pass leading from the Deccan in this quarter.

KUWLA GHAT, is a bad road for cattle, but is sometimes traversed by Bunjaras.

SEWUTTEE AND MUREH GHATS. (vide XXX.) The first is very difficult for cattle or led horses, the second is accessible to cattle, but is a very bad and tedious road.

AMBANUL GHAT.

BOPEE OR BORPA GHAT. The first ascent is tolerably good, the latter part steep, rocky and difficult. Several gentlemen lately have gone through this ghat, and report favourably of it. Dywaree is $3\frac{1}{2}$ coss from Sewtur near the bottom ; and Yeloo, (vide XXIV.) via Koorjee and Sewapoor, is 22 miles from top, over a good road, in which however there are two small khinds.

WURRUNDA GHAT, is N. 80° E. 13 miles from Mhar, and leads into Heerdos Mawul, belonging to the Punt Suchew, and then along the Neera river to Bore and Seerwul. From Majree at the bottom, to Oomurda-chetulla, where there are but a few huts, is 2m. 5f. the ascent is only 6 furlongs. It is steep near the top, and difficult for cattle. This is the lowest part in the Indyardree range. After ascending the ghat, there remains 6 miles of road (worse than the ghat) to Heerdosee on the Neera river. Mhar to Wurrunda is 11 miles, and Wurrunda to Heerdosee $10\frac{1}{4}$ miles.

THE SEWTA GHAT, leading from Mhar to Poona, is about 8 miles N. W. of the Wurrunda ghat. It is passable to cattle, and might be made so to carts; but the road from the top is extremely bad for 4 miles.

KAMTEE and DOWLEE GHATS, foot paths for men only.

THE PAR GHAT, (vide LXXXVIII.) on a usual route from Sattara by Wace to Bankoot and Mhar. At a distance of about 20 miles, on the road is the small village of Kooroolshee, situated at the bottom of a small but difficult ghat, which bears its name. Having ascended this ghat, the road leads along table land for 6 or 7 miles to the Burtoondee ghat, at the foot of which you cross the Koeena river to Par, which is considered the pettah of Partubgurh, a fort one mile on the left. The top of the ghat is about 3 miles from Par. The descent to Kinnaseer is about 4 miles, and Phol-d-poor, on the right bank of the Sawutree, is about 8 miles from the latter place. This route is frequented by Bunjaras bringing grain and salt to Sattara from the Konkan.

HUTLOT GHAT, seven miles south of Par ghat; it leads from the fort of Mukrungurh to Kher in the Kokan, but is little frequented. After descending, the road follows the course of the Jugbooree river about 9 miles, to Amboolee at the bottom of the ghat of that name; neither the ghat nor the approach to it are practicable for carriages.

AMBOOLEE GHAT. (vide LXXV.) This ghat is N. W. from Sattara; the road is not a good one, and near the top it is extremely precipitous NORTH TEURA GHAT, the ghat is about 23½ miles from Sattara, and leads direct down to Chiploon, which is about 43 miles, road distance, from Sattara. It is hardly practicable for loaded cattle, although used by Bunjaras and others. The road between Teura at the bottom of the ghat, and Chiploon, about 14 miles: it is very bad; and when the ghat has been passed, and the Quina river crossed, the Ossarla ghat is to be ascended. The road then leads along table land 4 or 5 miles, to the Neetru ghat, which you descend to Neetru a village about 11 miles from Sattara.

KOOMBHURLEE GHAT, (vide LXIX.) is about 13½ miles S. of Teura ghat, and is the best in this part of the range. The ghat is winding and long, but the ascent in consequence is easy; it has lately been repaired, and is the high road from the coast to Kurarh, Sattara, Sholapoor and other places.

Note.—It is of little consequence that the passes into a country are easy, if the further advance therein is worse than the pass itself. The country between the Syhadree range and the sea, comprehended between Goa and Surat, including the Warree country and the Attaveese, is remarkable for the badness of its roads.

From Vengorla to Aptah there are neither carts nor cart roads, except in the immediate vicinity of Malwan, Rutnageery, and other principal places, but as far as the Sawutree there are cattle tracts, or pathways, which usually pursue the most direct line over arid rocky uplands, and across cultivated valleys, in which the roads are usually ploughed up during the season of cultivation. From the Sawutree, to Aptah and on to Panwell, a jungly country, the road often winds between hill or dingle and fen. From Aptah to Surat is a cart road, but only the small cart drawn by one pair of bullocks is used. From Tannah two roads lead to Surat, one along the beach, which is perhaps the best of the two in the rains, and the other running a short distance inland: they join at Sucheem, 10 miles from Surat. But roads along the Konkan are comparatively but little used by either troops or traders; the first consists of an occasional relief battalion once a season, and sea carriage is usually preferred by the latter.

The difference between this route and that by the Teura ghat is about 30 miles; yet the Koombhurlee is to be preferred for the passage of troops, while the Teura, when despatch is essential, may be chosen by the traveller with little baggage.

MULLA GHAT, (vide LXXXVIII.) is about 9 miles S. of Koombhurlee ghat, and leads from Kurarh to Makhjoon in the Konkan. Mulha Pet, about 2 miles from the top of the ghat, is about 30 miles due W. from Kurarh. From Mulha, descending winds the ghat, which is about 3 miles in extent, to Puchamba, is nearly 9 miles: thence the road along the banks of the Gurhnee river about 14 miles, to Makhjoon, (vide XXXI and LXXXV.) which is 16 miles due E. of Veejyegurh and Jyegurh, both on the Shas-tree river. The fort of Pritchitgurh is 4 miles S. of the Mulha ghat, and Buerogurh is 4 miles N.

SOUTH TEURA GHAT, about 6 miles south of Mulha ghat, and 13 miles from Sungumeshwur, at the junction of the Sonvee and Shastra (or Jyegurh) rivers. The fort of Pritchitgurh is on the left going towards the bottom of the ghat from the village of Teura. The ascent is exceedingly steep for 2 miles; the road being up the rocky bed of a torrent. From Teura at the bottom, to Seedeshwur (6½ m. from the top,) is 11 m. 6f. The road from the top is tolerably level until within 1½ miles of Seedeshwur, then leads down a difficult little ghat. Seedeshwur is about 66 miles from Meritch, and the road all the way is along the course of the Warna river to its junction with the Kistna near Meritch.

KONDHEE GHAT, is 5½ miles south of Teura ghat and about 8½ miles S. 70° E. from Dewurook, (vide LXXXV.) The village of Kondhee at the bottom of the ghat is only about 4½ miles from Chandil at the top; but the ghat is a bad one. From Chandil to Loand, on the Warna river, is 5 miles more, and here the road is joined by that from Seedeshwur. The fort of Mymuntgurh is 2½ miles south of the Kondhee ghat.

AMBA GHAT, is about 11 miles south of Kondhee ghât, and leads from Dewurook by Sakurpa Pet to Mulkapoor, and thence to Meritch or to Kolapoor (vide LXXXIX.) The hill fort of Veeshalgurh is about 14 miles S. E. from Dewurook. It is separated from the main range of the ghats by a deep chasm, excepting at the gateway, where it is connected by a small neck of land. On the north side is the Dewurra ghat, and on the south the Prubhaolee; the first is impracticable for cattle, and the latter is seldom used but by travellers going to the fort, which is the residence of the Prethee Needhee of the Kolapoor Raja.

THE ANNUSKOORA OR ANKOOSRA GHAT, (vide XXVIII.) is 9 miles S. of Veeshalgurh, and is on the direct road from Kurarh to Malwan. This is also the usual road to Rajapoor, Khurêputan, &c. from Meritch. It winds a good deal through the hills, is a good road, about 3 miles in length, and paved with large rough stone in a few places where it is rather steep.

About the centre of the ghat is a chokey for collections on the traffick of this road. A little labour might make this ghat practicable for guns, but the approach to it in the Kokun is very bad. From Ankoosra at the top there is a good cart road, via Mulkapoor to Kurarh. Karawaully near the bottom affords a few of the usual supplies.

KAJURDA GHAT, is on the direct road from Kolapoor to Rajapoor in the Kokun: the road was formerly passable to laden cattle, but is now stopped up, in order that the customs, it is said, may be collected at other ghats.

BAWURA GHAT, a road for foot passengers, also frequented by laden cattle going from Kolapoor to Rajapoor.

SEWGURH GHAT, (vide XC.) leads from Kolapoor to Asheeamuth and Malwan. Guns have, in former times, it is said, been brought up this way, but it is now out of repair.

THE PONDA OR PHONDA GHAT, (vide XXIX.) Some years ago a detachment with artillery descended this ghat to Warree; the road was then made practicable for ordnance, but it does not appear to be much frequented at present. With little labour it may be put in good repair. The approach from the east is by a steep ascent of about 200 yards, and passing a short way along a ridge of the mountain the ascent is gradual for about two miles into the Konkan. There is much jungle and forests of large timber on the hills. This ghat is in the direct line from Sholapoor to Malwan.

GHOTGAY GHAT, (vide XC.) leads from Kolapoor or Meeruj to Malwan. The road is bad near the top, but laden cattle frequent it. From Ghotgay near the bottom is 4 miles to Injaleea near the top.

RANGNA OR PRITCHITGURH GHAT, (vide XC.) is frequented by laden cattle from Kolapoor to Malwan. The fort, which protects the passage, gives name to the ghat.

HUNOOMUNT OR TULKUT GHAT, (vide XC.)

AMBOOLY OR PARPOOLY GHAT, by which Colonel Dowse's force descended to invest Raree. At that time the pioneers of the force in three days made it very passable for small guns. The whole descent is stony, and in no part very steep; but in consequence of several zigzags in the road great difficulty would be experienced in getting down, or dragging up heavy ordnance. At the top of the ghat is a large well, near which is a small piece of ground to encamp. At the bottom is a stream of fine clear water, and a small open space to encamp near the chowry. The top is 20 miles from Ajerah on the road to Belgaon and to Kolapoor. From the deserted village of Parpooly near the bottom, to the Ambooly pagoda and custom house near the top is $5\frac{1}{4}$ miles. The Hurneassy river. is crossed at $3\frac{3}{4}$ miles near its source, on the road to Kusbu Ajera. Merchants from Goa to the Deccan seem to prefer this road.

RAM GHAT, (vide LXXXII and LXXXIII.) is the great pass to the upper country from Goa to the S. W. and from Warree, Vingorla and Malwan to the W. Chandgurh is one march from it on the great road to Ajera, Kolapoor and Poona, whilst Patna (vide LXXXII.) is similarly situated on the eastern road to Belgam. The approach to the ghaut both above and below is a made road, the ascent easy, and passable for every description of wheel carriages. The general breadth of the new road finished in March 1821 is 30 feet. The tract of country below the ghat is wild, hilly, and covered with large trees, clumps of bamboos, and thick underwood, with partial cultivation in the valleys.

GHATS IN THE INDYADREE RANGE, FROM ADJUNTA WESTWARD.*

THE ADJUNTA GHAT, (vide LXV.) is the only one passable to carts in this part of the range. The old road by the gateway is much broken up, and another nearly as bad for carts is more frequented. East of the principal road, and within a few miles, are pathways, called the Bore, Tondapoor and Mues ghats, passable to men only; and the Buel ghat passable to laden cattle. These pathways all lead through Wankry to Bokerdun.

GOWTULA GHAT, (vide LV.) leads from Kusba Chaleesgaon to Kunnur.

RANJUN GHAT, for foot passengers.

AMBA GHAT, passable to all sorts of cattle, is on the road from the town of Chaleesgaon in Khandes to Kunnur, (vide LV.) Sewapoor, a new village, is at the bottom in Khandes, and Oopula, a village of the Nizam's, is at the top.

GUNESH GHAT, is capable of being made a good road for cattle, but it has not been frequented of late years.

HUNMUNT GHAT, is described as a good cattle road, but is not frequented. Goreegaon, a new village, lies at the bottom. It leads from Jattegaon to Kunnaura fort.

SOOL GHAT, a foot path leading from Dairy to Kusba Jattegaon. The distance between these places is 6 miles.

PEEPULGAON GHAT, has been shut up for 20 years, and if opened would only admit of foot passengers.

KUTEELNAT OF PEEPREE, PURDUREE OR TAKIA, and PEEPREE GHATS, from the village of Dekoo, above, roads lead to these three passes. The west road, which leads to Peepree in Khandes, 8 miles from Jattegaon, is practicable for horses and loaded bullocks; the next leads to Purduree below the ghat; the third presents the longest road, and like the others, is practicable for cattle. All these ghats begin to descend from narrow openings, and wherever they lead between precipices on the one hand, and rocky heights on the other, offer great facility for defence.

KASAREE GHAT, OR KASARBAREE. (vide XXXVIII.) Three miles west of the Purduree ghat the upper range of hills suddenly disappear, the country becomes more open, and the ascent into Khandes much easier, or less steep. This is the principal pass from the Deccan into Khandes. There are three roads four miles asunder, leading from the villages of Waukla, Bhaudly, and Tunwarra. The two first are best for guns, and altogether are very easy, but in fact the whole country, extending nearly five miles, affords plenty of paths and roads.

SOMTANA GHAT, is a gun road of very easy descent from Maindapoor by Somtana to Taunkly. Between the two first places a cart road joins on the Kusba of Rajapoor, whence there is a path for men and cattle by Bowry village, also to Taunkly in Khandes.

RAJAPoor GHAT, a gun road from Rajapoor to Saegaon and thence to Wudaly. A cart road leads also by Parnella to Saegaon. The whole face of the country from Baudly to Maindapoor, about 12 miles, although it has no marked roads, is easy of descent.

* I have no account of the ghats between the Adjunta and Gowtulla, but I conclude there are some. For a description of the range west of Adjunta, see Hamilton's Hindoostan, vol. II, p. 107.

LURRINGEE GHAT, a cattle road. Here the hills have a much more perpendicular descent, and continue steep to the UNKY-TUNKY Pass, which is a good and open gun road. Between this pass and the Lursingee there are the following, Mohaigaon, Tekooe, and Hauree, all of which are steep, and only practicable for foot passengers, or unloaded cattle, and even to them with difficulty. These passes lead from Maligaon to the villages from which they take their names; and the fourth, leading from Chandgaon to Banjeroowary is better than the others.

At the foot of Kowtree fort, the hills leave an opening of about four miles, the whole of which is nearly flat; and the country has only a gentle declivity till it joins Khandes. Between Kowtree and Chandore the principal separations in the hills are, first at Boargaon, leading from Khandgaon to Chandore; the second, which is a gun road, leads from Koondulgaon to Chandore; the third from Kandgaon to Neembaytee by Dhureylee.

CHANDORE GHAT. The following passes are united in the road which leads by Chandore, having only that opening to the Deccan; first the Raura ghat, a gun road from Chandore to Chinchwa; second the Marerbarry, from Nandoo Taik to Darjrour; third, Moordar pass, from that village, and from Naundoor Taik to Waukarry; fourth, Chinch Baree, from the small bheel village of Cheezbarry to Waukarry, Kusba below. The three last are only fit for cattle.

GEERNAR BAREE and JARRY BAREE, a cart road. From this to the westward the character of the passes is changed; and the beaten tracks are practicable; the mountains between them being impassable even to men.

BOWRA BAREE barely passable for cattle, leading from Kheldury above, to Bowra below, is narrow and confined by steep hills.

WUDALA BAREE, KATCHIN BAREE, and MARKINDA BAREE, are of the same kind as the BOWRA. There is also a foot path between Markinda and Chuttersingee leading from Bhautora to Bhowany pagoda on Chuttersingee, and to two small villages named Peepree, and from thence through a long dreary and wild country to Wurkaira.

EEWOTTA BAREE, leads direct from Won (vide LVIII.) to Abhowna, and is the best of those from Chandore, and consequently is most used. Carts pass it, though with difficulty, although it is good for cattle and camels. Between this and the Rhowra ghat, which descends into the Kokun, are the following small passes, practicable for foot passengers and unladen bullocks; first Korally foot path, from Korally to Dheelwary; second the Lodai pass, a narrow and circuitous route to Abhowna, barely passable to cattle; third Boorood; and fourth Bheel ghat, leading direct to Hudgur, thence down to the Kokun by the Morkura pass. Under the former government all the passes in this part of the country were occupied by armed Bheels. These Bheels escorted people and cattle through the ghats, exacting money for this service, and also defended the country from intruders or other thieves. They can at a short notice collect together 150 or 200 men, who are more civilized than their brethren generally are, living in villages and cultivating lands in and near the passes which they guard, and as such, these Bheels appear worthy of support.

SAUTPOORA RANGE :

(The following is given from native accounts. The relative situation and distance of each pass from the other not known.)

NUMTEA CHU GHAT, for foot passengers, is distant 4 coss from Raunee-poorā (vide CXI.)

KUTEEBOREE GHAT, is a good road, and if cleared of jungle, would be passable to every description of laden cattle. It leads from the Kusba of Borud or Bordu to Kuteebor, a deserted village at the top, passing Allapoor below.

AKRAUNEE GHAT, leads from Sooltanpoor (vide CXI.) to Dhergaon. It has two paths, the one passable to foot passengers, has Akraunee, a town in ruins, near the top, and the deserted village of Choonakhan below the ghat. The other path, which is passable to horses, has Kulhar (deserted) at the top, and the deserted village of Dhurmpoor at the bottom.

CHABULA GHAT, is only a foot path, but would be passable to laden cattle were it cleared of jungle. Perputee is at the top, and Chabula below; both deserted villages.

DODEYA BAWA'S GHAT, is passable to cattle lightly laden, and led horses: below, to the south, is Alwun; from thence the ascent and descent to Beejee, on the north side of the range, is 3 coss. This is the ghat called Bowaka in CXI.

CHHADSULEE GHAT, being choked up with jungle, is impassable to laden cattle. The ascent is $1\frac{1}{2}$ coss. The village of Katur is below, and above is Chhadsulee, (vide CXI, there spelled Choursaylee.)

BURWANU or SOOKULDEWEE GHAT, is practicable, but a bad road for cattle. It leads from Sooltanpoor to the town of Burwanu; the road distance between these places is $50\frac{1}{2}$ measured miles, over a succession of hills; but it appears to be a usual route from Indore to Surat.

SINDWA GHAT, (vide LII.) this ghat leads in three tracts from Kooroond to Sindwa. The tracts called Vindyawasnee, and Nandewur, are cart roads; both strike off from the deserted village of Pullusnair; and the latter, which has no ascent, passes the deserted village of Shapooree. The third tract, which is the one usually pursued, is called Bore ghat, but it is not passable to carts.

CHACHRAPUTEE GHAT, between Kooroond to the south, and Kurgoond north, is passable to laden cattle.

DHOLEE BAREE, called also PHUROLEE BAREE, is between Chopra to the south, and Kurgoon to the north; the distance between these places is 29 coss. The ghat is not passable to carts, but is so to every description of laden cattle. By a ghat W. of this, called Dewlee Doogannee, the distance is 2 coss more, but the road is not represented as better; and by another, the Cheermeer ghat, (10 coss from Chopra,) the distance is 3 coss more, (vide LI.)

AFFECTING TRAVELLERS;

Rescinding such part of Regulation VII. as empowered Police Officers to facilitate the progress of Travellers through the Country; and prohibiting Private Servants, or other Natives, from appearing dressed as Sepoys or Lascars, with certain exceptions, &c.

GOVERNMENT GENERAL ORDERS, 15th December 1820.

WHEREAS the authority vested by Regulation VII. 1814, in the collectors and their native officers, and in the magistrates and their police officers, to assist in procuring coolies for the purpose of facilitating the march of detachments of troops, or the progress of individual travellers, has operated to encourage the highly injurious practice which prevails, of forcibly pressing certain classes of the inhabitants of the towns and villages, under the denomination of bigaries or coolies, for the purpose of carrying baggage or other loads from stage to stage, or from village to village; and whereas the Governor in Council has deemed it expedient to adopt measures for the entire suppression of the said highly objectionable practice, the following Rules have been enacted, to have effect throughout the whole of the territories immediately subordinate to the Presidency of Bombay, from the date of their promulgation.

Such part of the provisions of Regulation VII. 1814, as authorized the collectors and their native officers, or the magistrates or their police officers, to give their official aid in procuring coolies for the purpose of facilitating the march of troops, or the progress of civil and military officers, or other individuals travelling through the country, either on the public service or their private affairs, is hereby rescinded.

The practice of pressing or compelling individuals, whether under the denomination of coolies, bigaries, or any other denomination, to carry burthens, either for the public service or for the convenience of private individuals, is hereby positively prohibited; and the several magistrates and joint magistrates are required to adopt all legal means in their power to put an entire stop to the practice in question, by enquiring fully into all complaints which may be brought before them, and by subjecting persons regularly convicted of the offence to such penalties as, on a consideration of the circumstances of the case, may appear to be proper, and consistent with the powers vested in the magistrates by the general regulations.

GOVERNMENT GENERAL ORDERS, 29th January 1821.

THE Governor in Council is pleased to extend to the dominions of those Native Powers in alliance with the British Government, the operations of the General Order under date the 15th of December 1820, prohibiting the practice of pressing or compelling individuals, whether under the denomination of coolies, bigaries, or any other, to carry burthens for the public service, or for the convenience of private individuals, and requiring magistrates to adopt all legal means in their power to put a stop to it.

The attention of the Residents and Political Agents more immediately connected with this Presidency has been particularly requested to the subject; with directions to report to Government all instances that may be brought to their notice in which the present orders may not have been attended to.

BOMBAY CASTLE, 17th March 1826.

No. 96, of 1826. In republishing for general information the 9th section of Regulation VII, of 1814, published for the army, in the Government General Orders of the 2d of June 1815, the Honourable the Governor in Council is pleased to announce, that all Natives of whatever description, not actually in the army, including military pensioners, are prohibited from appearing in a military garb.

Prohibition against private servants appearing dressed like sepoy and lascars, with certain exceptions.

Section IX.—First, All persons, whether European or Native, within the Company's provinces (excepting such privileged persons as the Government may specially exempt from the operation of the rule contained in this section) are positively forbidden to dress any of their servants, either for the purpose of parade or of business, in the uniform of the Company's Sepoys and Lascars, or in a dress so nearly approaching to that uniform as to enable the persons wearing it to impose themselves on the country people for Sepoys and Lascars.

The above rule extended to all natives, with certain exceptions.

Second, All Natives, excepting those actually in the military service of the Company, or belonging to persons specially exempted by Government from the operation of this rule, are forbidden to wear a dress similar to that mentioned in the foregoing clause.

Officers of every description not to clothe their public servants with a military dress.

Third, Officers of every description employed in the service of the Company, who are allowed establishments of peons in their official capacity, or who may have occasion to employ persons of that description in such capacity, are prohibited from clothing them with a military dress.

What officers are employed to deprive of a military dress any person who shall wear it in opposition to these orders. Police officers to apprehend and send to the magistrate persons of the above description.

Fourth, With the view of giving full effect to the orders contained in the preceding clause, the military commanding officers of stations and of detachments in the interior parts of the country, and the several zillah magistrates, are hereby authorized and required, to deprive of a military dress any person who shall wear it contrary to these orders. The local officers of police are also empowered and directed to apprehend all persons of the above description, and to send them to the magistrate, who will deal with them in the manner above prescribed.

Fifth, Military officers, or other persons to whom escorts may be allowed when travelling through the country, are forbidden to send Sepoys or Lascars into the villages for the purpose of procuring any sort of provisions, or of pressing bearers, coolies, or boatmen; every local officer of police, upon proper application, will, under section 8 of this regulation, grant such assistance as he may be able to afford; and all violent measures therefore will be considered equally illegal and unnecessary.

Sixth, No person shall be allowed to distinguish his peons or other servants with badges, except the public officers (civil or military) employed in the service of the Company, who are allowed establishments of peons in their official capacity, or who may have occasion to employ persons of that description in the public service. The several zillah magistrates are empowered and directed to apprehend any persons (not being in the service of a public officer of the Government authorized to entertain such servants) who shall wear a badge in opposition to the prohibition contained in this clause, and to deprive him of the badge. The local officers of police are also authorized and directed to apprehend persons of the above description, and to send them to the magistrate, by whom the offender will be dealt with as above directed. Any European, not being a public officer of the Government, to whom such description of public servants is allowed, employing badged peons, or other description of servants wearing badges contrary to this prohibition, will be liable to the severe displeasure of Government on representation of the circumstances of the case by the magistrate, who is directed to report all such instances for the information and orders of the Governor in Council.

All persons to whom escorts may be allowed are forbidden to send sepoy or lascars into the villages, to procure provisions or to press bearers, coolies or boatmen.

No person excepting the public officers of Government to distinguish his servants with badges. The magistrates to apprehend and deprive persons of their badges contrary to the above prohibition.

The Police officers to apprehend persons of the above description and send them to the magistrates but quoniam it has been traced of it; it is not necessary to have any considerable place. In spring tides the sea overflows the banks of the creek on the westward and it has nearly all round the town in its retreat a reservoir filled with water, which is soon converted into salt. The Customhouse is built close to the creek. At this place, a great number of Laccares live and delicacies are few. The number of inhabitants is about 2000, with the proportion of nearly two females to one male owing to numbers of Laccares employed on board ships. There are several tanks to the southward, one close to the only gateway from which drinking water used to be taken but it dries up in the hot season when it is had to wells.

The magistrates to report to Government every instance of any European, not a public officer, employing servants with badges.

Note.—I have only inserted the latitude and longitudes of places when they differed from Horsburgh's Directions. In the preparation of this table I am principally indebted to Lieutenant J. S. Roe of H. M. S. Tamar, also to the late Lieutenant Robinson, and Lieutenant Houghton, Honourable Company's marine, and others.

The period of a flux and reflux of the tide being 12 hours and 24 minutes, occasions consequently high water to fall every day 48 minutes later, the time of high water therefore, at any of the above places, may easily be found if the age of the moon is known. This is facilitated by the following table.

It may not always occur to the traveller between Bombay and Poona that he should leave Bombay at low water and Panwell at high water. At Panwell, and I believe at most of the Bunders high up rivers in the Konkan, the tide turns very soon; the exact time therefore of high water it is important to know; and especially where the navigation is long or intricate, as from Goregaon, vide XXXII, or Chiploon, vide XXXI, and LXXXV.

Note.—THE RISING AND SETTING OF THE MOON, varies with the Moon's Latitude, but it may be almost correctly found from Table A. The Moon comes to the meridian nearly as much later than the Sun as is marked in Table A opposite to the Moon's Age—Subtracting six Hours would therefore give the time of rising, and adding six Hours, would give the time of setting, nearly.

In finding the time of High Water at any particular place it is not necessary to have the exact hour of the day on which the Moon changes; it is sufficient to enter Table A with the nearest day of the Moon's Age and add the time in the Table to the time of High Water on the day of New Moon at the place required.

In the above Table M. signifies morning, and A. afternoon.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

OCCURRING IN THIS WORK.

Pers. Persian.—Mar. Maratta.—Hind. Hindoostani.—Suns. Sunskrit.—Guz. Guzuratee.—Kan. Kanarese.

BALA GHAT, (bala, above), signifies above the ghât, or the country extending in the form of a ghât.—It is applied particularly to the country of the Nizam within his western hills.

BAREE, a narrow pass through mountains ; used in Khandes.

BET OR BATE, (Mar.) signifies an island ; but is generally applied as a distinguishing name to the island of Shunkodwar in the gulph of Kutch, and to the Lunka, a sacred isle of the Hindoos, famous for the wars of Ram and Rawun : in all probability the island of Ceylon.

BOODROOG, or BOODROOK, a corruption of Buzoorg (Pers. great), it is affixed to the name of a village to distinguish it from a smaller of the same name in the neighbourhood, and which in this case has Khoord, or lesser, affixed to it, as magna and parva in English villages.

BULOOTU, or BULLOTEE, is a term applied to the rights, privileges, and allowances paid by the riyuts in kind, or to the rent free land by which the village servants or officers are remunerated. These servants are hereditary, and are as follows: the Joshee or astrologer, Gooroo or priest, Sootar or carpenter, Pureet or washerman, Chambhar or tanner, shoemaker, &c. Koombhar or potter, Lohar or ironsmith, Sonar or goldsmith, Coolee or doer of all work, Ramooshee in some villages, and the Mahar, and Bheel in others, is the watchman, Nahwee barber and link-boy, Moolana or butcher, who is a Mussulman.

BUNDUR, (Pers. a harbour), a quay or wharf, a place on the sea-side, or on a river where ships or boats load or discharge their cargoes. A turtee bundur is one where there is water at all times to float a vessel.

CHIK, CHIKA, HEER OR DOD, (Kan.)—Dhakta, Dhakla or lahan (Mar.)—Nunnee, (Guz.) affixed to names of villages, signify the lesser.

CHOUGULA, or CHOGLA, is the Patel's assistant. He generally performs the office of purveyor for travellers. This officer, in Salsette, has a control over the fishermen, and is the medium of communication between Government and them.

CHOWRY, (Chawudi, Mar.) the village town hall, or Patel's durbar. It is sometimes pointed out as a place for travellers in villages where there is no dhurmsala.

CUTCHERY, (Kuchyuree, Mar.) a court of justice ; also the public office in the kusba where the mamulutdar transacts business.

DES OR DESH, (Sans. a country or province) the Maharashtra, and by contraction Maratta desh, includes the Kokun, but the term is more generally applied to the whole Maratta country east of the Syhadree range. In accordance with this the Bramins above the ghâts are called Deshust, and those of the Konkun Kokunust, each claiming precedence of caste over the other. I am however inclined to concede superiority to the Deshust, as Purresram created the Kokunust by resuscitating the body of a Deshust, which he found floating upon the waters when they receded at his command, from the bottom of the Syhadree Range to their present limits, to enable him to form the country now called Konkun. Des is sometimes applied to a single pergunnah.

DESHMOOKH in the Deckan, or DESAEE in Guzurat and Carnatic, (Mar. chief of the country) a revenue officer under the late government, generally a hereditary landholder in the district in which he officiated. The celebrated Sevajee was the first Sirdeshmookh, created, I believe, by the emperor Aurungzebe. This office, which was vested in Sevajee and his successors, entitled the holder to 10 per cent upon the whole clear revenue of the state. Grants or pensions, however, used to be made upon the Sirdeshmookhee to servants or favourites, as on all other branches of government revenue, so that much was alienated before it reached the Raja's treasury.

DESHPANDYA, (Mar. writer of the country), accountant or registrar of the district. He acted under the orders of the Deshmookh, and his office also was hereditary. "The Deshmookh or his people assisted in the executive duties of general management whilst the Deshpandy furnished any records that might be called for, and kept an account of the collections, his Karkoon writing all requisitions to the villagers, dated and signed in due form by the Durrakdars, and confirmed by the Moamuludar."—Chaplin's Report.

DEWAN, the chief financier or manager in a district; the minister when applied to an officer near the person of a prince. A Karkoon who has the management of a gentleman's accounts, and supposed to have influence with his master is styled Dewan and Dewanjee by those about him.

DEWUSTHAN, (Deo a God, Sthan a place.) To those villages the revenue of which is known to be assigned towards the support of some religious establishment, I have annexed dew to mark them.

DHURMSALA, (DhurM charity, Sala a house.) a place in or near a village for the reception of travellers. They are generally either square or oblong rooms open only on one side, where the roof, which is sometimes terraced, is generally supported by pillars of wood or stone. In the walls are excavations for lamps, but there are generally no windows. They are usually very dirty from the smoke and ashes from the fires which the native travellers light round the open square for the purposes of cooking. In the rainy season they are a great accommodation to all ranks, European and native, and by a little more attention in the patels might be rendered tolerably comfortable. The turn of the richer class of natives for building such places might be encouraged by conferring honorary privileges on those who do so.—This article is suggested from Heyne's Tracts.

DURGA, also Musheed, Rouzeea, and Roza, is a place where the tomb of some mussulman saint or peer, is preserved.

GHAS-DANA, (Ghas grass. Dana grain), the contributions levied by invading armies as a compromise for plundering. A tribute under this name was, and, I believe, still is exacted yearly by some of the powerful princes of Central India from their weaker neighbours.

GOPEE-CHUNDUN, (Gopee, the wife of Krishna, Chundun the sandal- wood, considered a sacred tree) is a very fine white clay which natives use in marking the forehead. It is procurable only at Dwarka (vide CLI.) in a tank which Goopee frequented.

GRASSIA or GIRASHEE. Well informed persons seem so divided about this people that I leave it to others to determine what they are. The time is not distant when we believed them to be robbers associated from all castes, Hindoos, Bramins and Mahomedans, who, in former times, had wrested lands from the original proprietors, in the peaceable enjoyment of which they are now fixed too strongly to be dispossessed. Others describe them as landed proprietors resembling the Mokasdars, Wutundars, or Huqdars in the Deccan; at the same time as a warlike caste, who, if injured, leave their homes, and committing depredations on the country, obtain thereby the appellation of robbers.

GOSAENS and BYRAGEES, are both Hindoo religionists, but of very different descriptions. The first are worshippers of Mahadeo; are forbidden to marry; are occasionally soldiers, traders or mendicants: in the latter profession they travel in large bodies through the country, and compel the villages on their route to support them: violent contests sometimes take place when the mendicant troop is large, and the village is too poor to bear their exactions; but it always ends in the severe castigation of the villagers. This violence is, I conclude, not authorized where British rule is established, but these sturdy beggars fail nowhere in obtaining a supply equal to their wants by working on the prejudices of the natives, where they cannot exercise violence. It is said Bajee Rao had 7,000 of them as soldiers when the war broke out in 1817, and that some hundreds fell in the battles of Khirkee, Poona and Koraigaon. There are many different sects of Gosaens, who are distinguished by dress or appearance; one of the sects go about in puris naturalibus, and besmeared with ashes. Byragees are worshippers of Ram and Lukshmee, some of them marry, some pursue the profession of cultivators, but live chiefly as mendicants: they are more respectable than the Gosaens in appearance, have a much more pleasing expression of countenance, and I should be inclined (exceptions of course) to give them credit for great kindness of disposition. The devotees of both orders keep up the succession to their property by chelas or disciples, who originally belonged to other castes of Hindoos purchased when children, and they have seldom reason to regret the change to the roof of their adopted father. The best account of these devotees, and an examination of the origin of all the known sects of Hindoo religion, or rather Hindoo systems of philosophy, is to be found in "Ward's View of the Hindoos."

JAGEER, a division of country or a certain number of villages granted by the government to an individual for the raising and maintenance of a quota of troops, but sometimes for his personal expenses only, the first is called fuoj-surinjam in the Deccan, and the latter zat-surinjam.

JATRA or YATRA, (Mar.) is the periodical assembly of pilgrims at the temple of some god. A holy festival.

JHEEL or JEEL, a tank, lake, perhaps most properly a morass.

KHADEE or KHAREE, a creek: it also means salt or brackish.

KHIND, a small ghât or pass, a break in a range of hills. It generally designates a place where there are hills on each side of the road, though there may be neither ascent nor descent.

KHOREN or KHORA, a dingle or valley open only on one side. The precipitous side of the hills forming the Khora, or rather the angle where the hills join, which is always a watercourse during rain, is called a durra. A durra is sometimes passable to woodcutters, or other sojourners in the forest, but the name is not applied to a pass; though the durra between Malligaon and Dhoolia (vide XIII.) is passable to carts.

Koss or Coss. The Koss from the Nerbudda nearly as far as the Kistna above the ghats, may be computed at somewhat less than two miles. At Kurarh it may be estimated at $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles, increasing progressively thence till it attains the length of 3 miles at Belgam. In the Southern Konkan about Bankoot, the koss exceeds two miles, and at Malwan it is fully three; and the koss-bhur four miles. In Gujerat it is $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile, and from Loonawarra and Palanpoor it increases from 2 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles towards Rajpootana. In Kateawar it increases from 2 miles to $2\frac{1}{2}$ as it approaches Kutch.

KURNUM or KOOLKURNEE, (Kool, a cultivator, Mar.) The village accountant for government register of ploughs and cultivators, and all inhabitants paying government taxes.

A KUSBU, is the largest mouza of each turuf, and the market town of the division.

A MOUZA, is a village having its own municipal officers, who are all hereditary. These are, for government, the patel or mayor; koolkurnee or kurnum, the town clerk; and the chougoula; and for the village the 12 bullotee, which see above.

A MUZRA or WAREE, PARA or PADA, is a hamlet dependent upon a mouza.

MUTH or MUREF, is the residence of Jungums, Gosaens, Byranees, &c. The Moosulman terms that correspond, are Tukea, Khankea, Soumia.

MUWUL or MAWUL, (the setting sun), means generally the country between the level of the Deccan and the ghats, or between Poona and Sattara and the setting sun. Vide Desh, as above.

MUNDUL, (a circle), a division of country, and the Mundloee is the chief officer thereof. Oka-mundel, Gurrah-mundel, &c NAKA, (Mar.) a place where streets or roads cross. Generally the place fixed upon as a custom station.

PAGODA, a corruption by the Portuguese of Bootkuda, (Boot, an idol, and Kuda, corruption of Khana, a house, Pers.) temple of an idol.

PATEL, the hereditary local manager of a village. His duty is to see that the government dues are realized, and he is the medium of communication between the villagers and government. The descendants of Patels tenaciously retain the title of Patel, from an idea that it gives them consequence. But a traveller should know, that the Mooqudum Patel only enjoys the rights and privileges of the office, and as such is the properly responsible person.

PALL, a yearly payment made by many villages in Katteawar, in former times, to the Meyannas, for exemption from visits of their marauding parties.

A PARA or WAREE, a hamlet; used in the Konkan and Gujerat; same as Muzra, which is used in the Carnatic and Deccan.

A PUTHAR, a tableland.

A PENTH or PETTA, the town or suburb adjoining a fort. A street of shops is also called a Penth.

A PRANT, SOOBHA, or DES, is made up of from five to eight turufs; but though these three words are severally used to signify a province, the first only has properly this meaning; the second, Soobha, is properly the rule over the Prant.

RUN, (Pers. Ran, a desert), this name is particularly applied to two extensive morasses, the one separating Guzerat from Kattceawar, and the other Kutch from Mooltan and the N. W. boundary of Gujerat.

SERAI, a place built for the accommodation of travellers by Moosulmans; they are generally better than dhurmsalas.

SHETEE or SHETEEA, the regulator of the bazar, and the medium of communication between the traders and artizans, and government. This person sometimes acts as purveyor for travellers.

THAKOOR, is a title given in Gujerat and Malwa to minor Rajpoot and Bheel chiefs. A caste of Bhaats in Hindoostan have also this name.

TALOOK, (a pergunnah), formerly comprised all the lands and villages protected by a fort, and the quludar (governor) generally collected the revenue.

A TURUF, is made up of from 40 to 100 mouzas.

AN UNNUSUTUR or UNNUCHUTUR, is a house for the accommodation of Bramin or Hindoo travellers, where food is provided for them at the expence of the state, or some wealthy individual. One of the Peshwas erected many houses of this kind. They are built at every stage on the road from Poona to Goagurh in South Konkan, but they are now fast going to decay. Vide XXX, and XXXI.

Caste is a corruption of Kayastha the Sanscrit word to distinguish the Scribe tribe, from whose pronunciation of it the European has made a new word. Natives pronounce the word Kayet. The Secretariate and accountants General and Financial officers in native states are usually of Kayet or Kayasth tribe.

I N D E X.

P. signifies Province.—R. the chief town of a Raj under British protection; signifying also the chief town of a great Jageerdar.—K. Kusba.—Places having D. affixed, give name to a District or large Division of country, but less than a Province.

ABSTRACT

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS AT BOMBAY.

SECTION I.

General Rules.

1st.—Persons addressing the Postmaster General, or his Deputies at Out-stations, respecting any delay in the delivery of their letters, are requested to transmit at the same time the envelopes of such letters bearing Post Office Stamps, which specify the dates on which they were issued for delivery.

2nd.—No person except those attached to the Department can be admitted into the interior of a Post Office, or allowed of themselves to examine the records; all complaints, or applications for information, must be made to the head of the office in writing.

3rd.—No money, jewels, watches, trinkets, or valuables of any description are allowed to be transmitted either by Dak or Bangy, consequently the Post Office Department is not answerable for the loss of property so transmitted.

4th.—Letters or Packets, whether official or private, for transmission through the Post Office, when they exceed 25 tolas weight, will be sent by the Bangy if to the Deckan, unless where the immediate despatch of the Packet is of importance, in which case the officer transmitting it is required to superscribe the word "Despatch" on the envelope, which will occasion it to be forwarded by the letter mail.

5th.—When the number of letters received for transmission at one time may be such as would render the bulk or weight of the mail inconvenient, the Postmaster General, or his Deputies, at Out-stations, are authorized to detain a proportion of them for one day only; but those on which the word "Despatch" is superscribed are not to be detained.

6th.—Newspapers must be folded up within the dimensions of 5 inches by 3, with short envelopes, and unaccompanied by any letter or writing beyond the usual address.

7th.—No Post Office Packet shall be opened between one Station and another, unless a competent authority be present, or under circumstances of an urgent public nature, in which case the officer who opens it must see it carefully closed again, and afterward address a letter to the Postmaster General, explaining the circumstances which occasioned the measure.

8th.—No Letter or Packet delivered into any Post Office shall be returned without an official application in writing from the writer of the letter, giving satisfactory reasons for requiring its return; it is however to be understood that the Postage will in no case be returned.

SECTION II.

Rules respecting Inland Postage.

1st.—All Letters bearing Postage addressed to persons at stations where there is a Post Office shall be paid for at the time of despatch, or on receipt, at the option of the person transmitting them.

2nd.—The charges of Inland Postage are to be levied agreeably to the following progressive scale for single letters :

For every distance not exceeding 30 miles 2 annas ; for every further distance not exceeding 20 miles 1 anna additional ; above 50 miles and not exceeding 80 miles 4 annas ; above 80 and not exceeding 120 miles 5 annas ; above 120 and not exceeding 170 miles 6 annas ; above 170 and not exceeding 230 miles 7 annas ; above 230 and not exceeding 300 miles 8 annas, after which the Postage encreases at the rate of one anna for every hundred miles.

A Single Letter not to exceed in weight 1 tola : a Double 2 tolas : a Treble 3 tolas : a Quadruple 4 tolas, and so on : the rate of postage on a Single Letter being added for every additional tola to the extent of 25 tolas, to which weight Inland Letters and Packets are limited.

3rd.—The rate of Postage of a Single Letter shall be levied on all Registers, Vouchers, Parcels of Law Papers, Newspapers or Pamphlets (subscribed as such) transmitted inland, not exceeding four tolas in weight ; and the same charge shall be superadded on every additional four tolas as far as 25 tolas.

4th.—All Letters or Parcels, covering Company's paper, ought to be registered at the Post Office, and sealed in presence of the Postmaster General, or his Head Assistant.

5th.—The Postage marked on Letters must always in the first instance be paid, and persons thinking themselves overcharged will afterward obtain redress by a representation, officially, to the Postmaster General.

6th.—All Letters refused by the party to whom they are addressed, or where the party to whom they are addressed cannot be found, and all Ship Letters on which the Inland Postage has not been paid, should be returned to the office from whence they were despatched ; and the writer or the person who brought them to the office should be required to pay postage both to and from the place of address.

7th.—Should the writer of a Returned Letter refuse to pay the Postage due on it, the Postmaster is authorized to detain all future Letters to such person's address until the demand in question shall be liquidated ; the same rule is applicable on all other occasions of refusal to pay postage.

Note.—The indistinct manner in which persons sometimes address Letters lead to their being sent occasionally in a wrong direction. It cannot be expected that a Post Office Clerk can be acquainted with every place in India, and much less in Europe, it is therefore recommended on all occasions to add the name of the province or country in which a place is situated.—Compiler.

SECTION III.

Rules respecting Ship Letters.

1st.—The Superintendent of the Marine shall cause the earliest intimation to be given at the Post Office of the arrival of all Vessels from Europe, and he is particularly required to cause every attention to be paid to the early landing of their Packets, and delivery at the Post Office.

2nd.—The same Officer will also give early intimation of the departure of all Vessels to Europe, the Mauritius, Cape of Good Hope, St. Helena, South America, and all other parts of the world with which there is no inland communication.

3rd.—The same Officer will also transmit weekly a list of all ships in harbour whose destinations are known, specifying the probable time of their departure.

4th.—The boxes of letters for Europe, the Cape of Good Hope, Mauritius, and St. Helena, shall be forwarded to the office of the Superintendent of Marine, who will send them on board the departing vessel or vessels, obtain receipts for them, and transmit such receipts to the General Post Office.

5th.—Packets will be made up for transmission by every ship sailing from Bombay to Europe, the Mauritius, the Cape of Good Hope, St. Helena, and to any of our British Eastern possessions or elsewhere, with which there is no inland communication. When a Packet is opened for the receipt of Ship Letters the public will be informed thereof by an advertisement in the newspapers, and by a notice exposed to view at the General Post Office.

6th.—Letters for New South Wales will be forwarded by way of Calcutta, Madras, the Isle of France, or the Cape of Good Hope, agreeably to the superscription, when no opportunity offers of transmission direct from Bombay.

7th.—The Postmaster General shall, as soon as convenient after the arrival of a Vessel from Europe, publish a list of all parcels containing books, newspapers, &c. remaining at the Post Office, but will not forward the same by post unless expressly instructed to do so by the parties to whom they are addressed.

SECTION IV.

Rules respecting Bangy Postage.

The Regulations and Rates of Postage for the Bangy between Bombay and Poona are as follow :

1st.—All parcels containing newspapers, pamphlets, or printed papers of any kind, and certified as not containing any writings, with the person's name who forwards them superscribed on the envelope, will be received for transmission at the rate of 4 annas for every 10 tolas weight.

2nd.—A parcel under four pounds weight, not exceeding the cube of one foot, and not containing any of the papers, writing, &c. specified above, will be charged one rupee postage.

3rd.—For each pound exceeding four pounds weight an additional sum of two annas will be levied.

4th.—The Postmaster General shall as soon after the arrival of a ship from Europe as may be convenient publish a list of all parcels, &c. received by her remaining in the office, but will not forward the same without special instructions to that effect, from the parties to whom they are addressed. Parcels addressed to persons in the Deccan will be forwarded at the above rates of Bangy postage. The rate of postage to other parts of the Presidency will be levied agreeably to article 3rd, of section II.

5th.—The Bangy is despatched three times a week, respectively, from Bombay and Poona, viz. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

6th.—The Department is not responsible for packages which may be lost or damaged, but should such accident occur every exertion will be made to recover the missing packet. During the rainy season parcels should be packed, and well secured, in wax cloth.

7th.—Any attempt made to pass contraband articles, or articles bearing duty, by Bangy, will subject the sender to the penalties enacted against such offences; and Postmasters are authorized to call on the party receiving parcels to open and exhibit the contents to them, when they have occasion to suspect fraudulent intentions.

Rules at the Public Buildings established for the Accommodation of Travellers between Panwell and Ahmednuggur.

1st.—A tax of two rupees for each family, or one rupee from each individual, per diem, is to be paid for the use of each Bungalow: this levy is to defray expence of sweepers, &c.

2nd.—In each Bungalow there are six chairs, two couches, and one table, travellers will be held responsible for any damage done to these articles during their stay.

3rd.—No person is to remain in any Bungalow more than three days, unless compelled to do so by sickness; and then he is not to exceed ten days, unless he cannot be moved without danger.

4th.—The first comer is entitled to the choice of rooms, but no individual is permitted to appropriate to himself more than one room, when the others are in demand.

5th.—Horses or cattle are not permitted within the Bungalow.

6th.—The person in charge at each Bungalow is instructed to assist travellers servants in procuring supplies, &c. for ready money.

7th.—A book is at each Bungalow, in which each traveller is requested to write his name, with remarks, if necessary, on the conduct of the person in charge, and the state of cleanliness in which it may be found.

8th.—The person in charge is ordered, on pain of dismissal, to report for eventual representation to Government, deviations from these rules, either on the part of travellers or their domestics and followers, the master being held responsible for any infringement of them.

- All letters from or to non-commissioned officers or privates in His Majesty's army and navy, from or to European non-commissioned officers and privates in the Honorable Company's marine and military services, or from or to non-commissioned officers or privates of the Native Infantry, and Golundauze Corps, shall pass free of Postage; but in order to prevent any abuse of this indulgence, no letters from the above description of persons shall be exempted from Postage, unless they bear on the envelope, the official signature of their respective Commanding Officers.—Public Lascars and Dooly Bearers to be considered as entitled to the same privilege. The letters of Patients in the European General Hospital to be franked by the Surgeon in charge.

The Officers with an asterisk (*) prefixed to their designation in this List, have the privilege of corresponding in a private form, on affairs unquestionably of a public nature.

It is expected that no officer will abuse the indulgence thus afforded to them of obtaining information on their official affairs in a private form, which is sometimes more convenient to them than the prescribed forms of office. And the Honorable the Governor in Council relies upon the Heads of Offices to whom this privilege is granted, repressing any attempt at evasion of Postage on private communications in such a manner as shall discourage repetition of the liberty taken with them.

These Letters should be superscribed "Private Service."

5th.—All Officers acting under a superior, to superscribe with their signature the words "By Order." This applies to Secretaries to Boards, &c. and Majors of Brigade.

6th.—Postmasters and Post Office Writers will exact Postage on all Letters franked by Officers not included in this List, or in which the prescribed form of address has not been attended to.

7th.—Any Officer, whether civil or military, not having the privilege of franking, who may have occasion to address letters, the Postage on which is chargeable to Government, may be indemnified on a representation of the case to the Postmaster General or Deputy Postmasters of Stations, or at his option he may charge the amount of postage in his pay abstract, forwarding as a voucher, a list of the letters, specifying the address and dates of despatch for which reimbursement is claimed.

8th.—In the case of a person not privileged to frank letters, having occasion to address a public officer on subjects connected with his Majesty's or the Honorable Company's Services, not having in view his own individual benefit, and there being no officer at hand to frank his letter, it shall pass free of postage on his making a declaration in writing on the envelope to the following effect, attested by his signature:

"I declare that the contents under this cover are on the Public Service solely."

9th.—When a public officer under Government shall have occasion to correspond with individuals on the subject of transmitting bills of exchange, promissory notes, receipts, or any other description of government securities, &c. the public officer forwarding the letters shall, in such cases, superscribe on the envelope with his official signature, the words "bearing Postage." And when, vice versa, such letters are addressed by an individual to a public officer, the Postage shall be received from the person delivering the letter at the Post Office.

10th.—All letters from subordinate officers to their respective Boards are to be addressed to the Board, and not to the Secretary, who is however to frank all letters from the Board in the form before directed, and all letters to the other public officers are to be addressed to the head of the office, and not to any subordinate officer in it.

11th.—There being reason to believe that officers privileged sometimes frank packets containing native letters, among which are Sahooars letters, without the Officer so franking being aware of it, it is particularly recommended to Officers in such cases to ascertain whether the contents of packets brought to them to frank, are, bona fide, of the description on which Government remits the Postage. The Deputy Postmasters, and Post Office Writers, are instructed to demand that the sender, or receiver of packets, open and shew the contents when they have information, or have reason to believe, that the indulgence of Government has been abused.

Note.—This List has been prepared by a Committee, but should any officers discover that the mention of them has been inadvertently omitted, they are requested to send the authority under which they claim the privilege of franking, to the Postmaster General, who, upon being satisfied that it has been granted to them, will cause the necessary corrections to be made in the reprints of this List in the Code of Post Office Regulations.

RATES OF HIRE, &c.

A Bullock should carry 160lbs. of any article, and every three bullocks should have one driver.

Two Tattoos should be accompanied by one driver.

A Cooly should carry 18 quart bottles of liquor, or 50lbs. of any other article.

By the Poona Bazar Regulations, if the journey occupies a greater number of days than is marked in the column of days (A.) the fare is entitled for each day over as follows. A Hamal 5 annas per diem: each Tattoo 6 annas: each Bullock $2\frac{1}{2}$ annas: and a Cooly 4 annas.

Carts are seldom procurable to go long journies in the Deccan, so that it is difficult to determine the usual, or average rate of hire. Twelve rupees between Poona and Panwell includes cooly hire up or down the ghât.

Camels are occasionally to be hired, but the rate depends upon the wants of the traveller and camel driver. For short journies I have been in the habit of paying a rupee a day in the dry, and about $1\frac{1}{2}$ rupees in the rainy season.

In every military bazar there are Mokudums, separately over each class of persons, whose duty it is, on being applied to, to afford assistance from his class. These Mokudums are remunerated by the person to whom he is serviceable, by an established fee for each Hamal, Cooly, Cart, Camel, Tattoo, or Bullock he provides.

The Rates in this Table are for the dry season: a proportionate advance, seemingly, about 15 per cent, is demanded during the wet season.

It should however be understood; that as people cannot be compelled to engage at these rates, so travellers may engage carriages, cattle or people, as much under them as they can.

The wholesale price of one market day seems to be the standard by which goods are sold until the next

Artificers, in general, work by the month or day, there are however many instances in which they do not.

Basket or Matmakers work oftener by the number of baskets or cubits square of mat; and the price allowed on these articles admits of them earning a fair compensation.

At Poona (B) the Mokudum who is employed to procure hamals, or the Choudry who brings artisans or workmen (there being a Choudry over each class) is entitled to an established fee for each person he provides.

Bricklayers and Chupperbunds often contract for their labour, the first by the measure of length called a brass, the latter by the cent square cubits in the superficies.

There are few good Oil Painters to be met with, but they usually work by the day.

Tiles are purchased in most places by the thousand; and the price is as remarkably different as the quality of the materials. At Poona $3\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 rupees is the price per 1000; while at Panwell very far superior tiles are purchased for $1\frac{1}{2}$ to $1\frac{3}{4}$ rupees per 1000.

Sawyers are of all castes, and work in all ways, agreeably to the local usage of their class.

Stonecutters usually work by the cubit, and the roughness or fineness of the work determines the price.

The Weaver, who is only to be found in towns or cities, is paid by a per centage on the value of his goods.

These tables are prepared in rupees and annas, whereof sixteen annas go to the rupee, or four annas to the quarter rupee.—Though this is not the money of account at the Presidency, it is nevertheless the best suited to Tables which apply to stations throughout the territories adjacent to, and connected with it.

POSTED BEARERS :

Posts or stations are divided into distances of 18 miles, or as nearly so as possible, and for each stage 12 Hamals are required ; that is for moderate sized travellers, and each Hamal is entitled to 5 annas for every day he may be absent, whether he carries or not.

Hamals once posted and recalled to receive at the rate of 5 annas for every day they may be absent.

One gentleman taking up another's Dak, is to pay for two days, namely, the day he is carried, and another to return ; but if he delays the people longer of course they must be paid at the rate of five annas for every day so detained.

Gentlemen travelling with a couple of light baskets of cloth, a Bangyman to each set will be required, whose pay is the same as that of a Hamal.

Hamals cannot be compelled to carry bundles or boxes and work with the Palanqueen also, nor are they to be compelled to carry lanthorns or other lights.

TO THE READER.

Section I.—Copies of the different papers from which this account of Chiefs, or families of rank, in Western India, has chiefly been compiled, were transmitted to the Bombay Government upwards of a year ago in order to obtain its sanction for their publication; together with such additional matter as might be collected from the very partial notices, which are to be found on points of this nature, in the public records. However, as any additions, or emendations, which might be derived from that quarter, do not appear to me likely to prove of much importance, I have thought it unnecessary to wait for any such aid, and have therefore printed the work in its present form. What is now published may be depended upon as authentic, except where the reader is warned that it might possibly be otherwise.* Nearly the whole of this section is formed of original materials, the result of my own enquiries, but enriched by the contributions of friends. I am, however, principally indebted to original, or native sources, whether by gleanings from old chronicles and tales, or, oral information collected in conversations with well-informed natives. Difficulties having been experienced by officers of official rank and influence, in discovering the genealogy, or history of native chiefs, (who always afford any account of themselves with great reluctance,) it may easily be supposed that impediments to this end must have been severely felt in my own case; and the liberal critic will readily find an excuse for any error he may discover. Those only, who have been engaged in inquiries of a similar kind, can be aware of the difficulty of determining what is truth, and of avoiding error, in researches of so intricate a character: but I shall be amply repaid for my labour, if the work is considered useful. A knowledge of the people among whom we live, cannot be considered otherwise than beneficial to the officer, who is desirous of filling his office respectably; and this knowledge is best acquired, next to having personal intercourse with them, by a study of their history,—whatever facilitates this, be it ever so unpretending, is at least not labour in vain.

I have generally avoided going into fabulous origins of families, which would have swelled this work, to the great danger of exhausting the patience of some of my readers; who probably will neither feel interest in, or afford credit to, the tale,

* The lineage of the Soobehdar of the Deccan, and the list of his Nobles and Officers, is extracted from an account written by my own Moonshee, a Native of Hydrabad, but which place he left eighteen years ago, and it has been compared with an official account written in 1816. This is mentioned, because, though corrected up to the latest date, it may turn out that new actors have come upon the stage, and some of those noticed may have disappeared, without such occurring to the recollection of the gentlemen who were good enough to examine the manuscript list at my request. I have also, in page 33, noticed the army of the State in a manner calculated to mislead. Besides the military force of the Durbar, the permanent Subsidiary furnished to His Highness by the Honorable Company, consists of eight Battalions of Infantry of 1,000 men each, and two Regiments of Cavalry, with the usual proportion of ordnance, &c.: the payment of the whole being provided for by territorial cessions in perpetuity.

TO THE READER.

that the Sirowi family are the spurious offspring of a goddess, and hence derive their name of Deora. It is equally immaterial that the Deoras were, some few centuries ago, Rulers in Meywar, till driven from their throne and kingdom by Oodè Sing, the founder of the city of Oodeepoor: or that the latter is descended of the Rawuls of Chittoor, who trace their genealogy to the great Ramchundra, the son of the Sun. This unconcernedness to legend, the marvellous tale, or the amusing anecdote, may evince a want of submission to prevailing taste, but when I began, my intention was, to convey useful FACT, upon a broad page, with a narrow margin, and a readable type.

With respect to the spelling of names, I have deferred to the common modern practice, but though often wrong in doing so, I trust that my anxiety to render the subjects clearer, by using the familiar mode,* will plead my excuse with the oriental scholar: in forming words which have never been expressed, by aid of the English press, I have followed the Asiatic Orthography.

Sect. II.—The Routes, now published, are selected from a number in my possession, and are those most in request. I should have been happy to have given some account of the voyage and journey to the healthful and interesting region on the Neela Purbut (Neelgeeries,) in addition to what I have formerly published, but improvement is making such rapid strides in India, that any thing, I may be able to communicate might become obsolete in practice before many months. I hope to see ere long, steam packets established upon this coast, between Tankaria and Calicut; a scheme which, when effected, will, in facilitating travelling and communication, do much, probably, for India. The Post from Madras to Calicut occupies $4\frac{1}{2}$ days,—let the mercantile community, who are most interested, and those who are better judges of steam Navigation than myself, determine, whether it would not be more advantageous to communicate with Calcutta by this apparently circuitous route, than by the present direct line through Nagpoor. It would be invidious to notice the snail-like speed,† at which the dāk proceeds along the Konkan from Surat to Malwan, were the causes of such a nature as could be removed,—these are, numerous creeks to be crossed affected by the tide, and a jungly country in many places, which the runners are afraid to travel through at night. The expense of the establishment of Runners might be well applied to the encouragement of Steam Navigation.

The routes are arranged in the most concise form, and equally wellcalculated for the use of troops, as for individual travellers. The measurement is usually from village to village, and a good Quarter-Master I think, usually sets up the Head-Quarters flag-staff beyond the village when he can find ground there. The ground of encampment however, depends so much upon the season, the state of cultivation, the direction of the march, the intervention of a river, the facility of obtaining water and forage, &c. that I do not suggest it, even, where perhaps I could do so with some degree of accuracy: a village servant, is always ready to point out the usual encamping ground for troops, and place of accommodation for travellers. Towns and Kusbas are distinguished by being printed in capital letters, but when the latter are small, they have a K. annexed. The population of a village is best shewn by the number of houses it is supposed to contain;

* I might be accused of affectation, or perhaps of not knowing better, were I to omit the article before Gaekwar, or to designate the Soobehdar of the Deccan by any other name than "the Nizam."

† Tables See at page 186 of Itinerary.

TO THE READER.

and when within the limits of the Company's territory, and not the Company's property, the name of the chief it belongs to is generally expressed in Italics.

Sect. III.—The late improvements in Palankeen Dâk travelling are shewn in the third section, but it is to be hoped, that, for the mutual benefit of travellers, and of the hamals themselves, these will be further extended.

Sect. IV.—The Account of Weights and Measures is prepared from a careful collation of Reports, from all the Revenue Collectors under this Presidency, which were called for by this Government in 1821, and furnished during that, and the following year. Among these is a voluminous and valuable Report elucidatory of this intricate, and extensive, subject, by Captain Thomas Jervis, of the Bombay Engineers, highly creditable, I take the liberty of observing, to his talents and research. I have made but few extracts from it, because the Report itself is too valuable not to be published, sooner or later.

Reader! in the humble hope that my labours may not be deemed useless, I bid thee farewell.

INTRODUCTION.

When the Mahomedan Dynasties, which reigned over the Kingdoms, into which the Deccan was divided in the 16th and 17th centuries, had at length been subverted, after a series of wars with Aurungzeeb and Sivajee, there arose, upon the ruins, a Hindoo and a Mahomedan Sovereignty: the former separated, in the time of the grandsons of Sivajee, into the Mahratta States of Satara and Kolapoor, where their descendants still reign; while the Viceroy of the Emperor established for himself the present Mahomedan Kingdom, and dynasty, of Hydrabad. The descent of the principal families in the Deccan, from the adherents of the founders of these Sovereignties, and their immediate successors, is traced in the following pages, as far as I have been able to do so; the origin of some few of the families, however, belongs to a more remote, and obscure, period.

JAGHEERDARS, AND PRINCIPAL FAMILIES, UNDER THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IN THE DECCAN.

THE EX-PESHWA, BAJEE RAO.—Every information, regarding the progress of this family of the Peshwas to sovereignty, is to be met with in Grant Duff's "History of the Mahrattas." Here it may suffice to say, that Balajee Wiswanath,* the first of the family, who attained eminence, officiated as a Karkoon with the army under Dhunajee Jadhoo, the distinguished ancestor of the present Rutun Singh Jadhoo Rao; and from which office, with his son, he was elevated to the rank of Peshwa in 1717. He died in 1720, leaving the office to his son Balajee, Bajee Rao, who died in 1740, and was succeeded by his son, Nana Sahib: in his time Sahoo Raja died, without heirs, in 1749; and the Peshwas were acknowledged supreme in the state, which they virtually had been during the reign of Sahoo. Nana Sahib died in 1761, and his eldest son having fallen the year before at Paniput, his second, and third sons, and also the posthumous son of the latter, reigned in succession. The part, which Ragoba Dada, the brother of Nana Sahib, took in the administration during the three last reigns, is not suited to a brief notice of this kind; but his son, Bajee Rao, succeeded as Peshwa, and, notwithstanding the exceptional character of his father, with the strongest good will of the nation. After a reign spent in intrigues against the power, which restored him to his government, and sustained him in it afterwards, he abdicated on the 3d June 1818, and retired to Bit, hoor, or Brimbawurth, a place of pilgrimage in Hindoostan, where he enjoys an annual Pension of 8 Lacks of rupees. His brother, Chimanajee Appa, receives 2 Lacks; and Venaik Rao, the son of Amroot Rao, the adopted son of the Ex-Peshwa's father, receives 7 Lacks: Amroot Rao retired to Benares in 1803.

* The family of Balajee Wiswanath appear to have been Deshmookhs of Dhunda-Rajpoor, and Balajee had farmed the Customs of the Port; but it proving an unprofitable speculation, he was unable to make up the deficiency, and fled. The Peshwa's deshmookhy claims upon Danda-Rajpoor, amounting to 10 or 12,000 Rupees, are, I believe, still paid.

The Ghorpuray family of Kapsee.—The legend of this family derives it from a Rajpoot origin, in Hindoostan. Be this as it may, Mhaloojee, as well as his father, Buerjee, appears to have served under the Kings of Beejapoor, and to have received the title of Hindoo Rao. Mhaloojee had three sons; the title of Hindoo Rao has remained with the line of the eldest, named Buerjee, from whom the Gunjundurgurh family is descended. The second was the famous Suintajee, the Suenaputee of Sivajee, and from whom the present family of Kapsee* is derived: from the third son originated the family, styled Ameerool-Oomra.

(2) † GHORPURAY.—Bhoojung Rao, styled Hindoo Rao, holds the Fort, and estate, of Gunjundurgurh, which appears to be a very ancient possession of the family: this estate was conferred upon it by the Raja of Kolapoor, and is rated at 17,651 rupees. Seedojee Rao, the son of Buerjee, was the first Suenaputee of the Kolapoor State; and his sons, Morar Rao of Gooty (the Morari Row of Orme) and Dowlut Rao, were distinguished for their courage and enterprise, against the Mysore, and Hydrabad States, during the Coromandel war. The fort and valley of Sondoor, now in dispute, was acquired by Seedojee about 1713, and devolved upon Morar Rao; who, having no children of his own, adopted either Soobarao his brother's son, or Khundeerao, who was killed in the action, at Ashta, in February 1818. The son of the latter, Shewrao, at present possesses the estate.

(2) GHORPURAY, styled Ameer-Ool-Oomra.—Jeswunt Rao, a great grandson of the first of this title, is distinguished as the only man of family, who openly espoused the British cause in 1817-18. He was Vakeel, on the part of Sindhia, with Sir Arthur Wellesley in 1803, and was afterwards Sindhia's Resident agent at Poona. He died, shortly after the establishment of order in the Deccan, in 1819. Shew Rao, the son of the elder brother of Jeswunt Rao, has an unsettled claim upon Sondoor. The district of Dhutwar, rated at 25,000 rupees, which was granted to the family by the Kolapoor Raja, belongs, half to Shew Rao, and the other half, equally, to Maloojee and Nursing Rao, the legitimate sons of Jeswunt Rao: the latter have a pension each, of 5,500 rupees per annum, and have had the districts of Supt Sagur, and Berug, granted by the British government between them. The illegitimate children of Jeswunt Rao, have distinguished themselves, under British officers; and one of them, Dajee Sahib, is a Risaldar in the Poona Auxiliary horse: Dajee has the village of Sewapoor, rated at 1,200 rupees, 18 miles S. of Poona, in enam; and has a pension, besides, from the British Government.

(1) GHORPURAY OF MOODHOL. Venkut Rao Raja.—Bajee Ghorpuray, an ancestor of this family, was a zealous partisan under the king of Beejapoor, and a determined opponent to the cause of his countrymen, in their first efforts at emancipation; and Sivajee is said to have taken a signal vengeance, by cutting him off, together with his whole family, and followers, to the number, it is said, of about 3,000 persons in Moodhol, which he burnt. The present Raja is the seventh, in descent, from Bajee. The Raja, Narraen Rao, had two wives, the last married was mother of the eldest son, at present Raja. Govind Rao, the second born, but of the first wife, fell, with Gokla, at Ashta in 1818, but a person now assumes his name at Poona. The Raja still holds the ancient possessions of the family, in the Pergunnas of Moodhol, Lokapoor, Dowlleshwur, Jenujee, and Maknoor; the revenue is rated at 2½ Lacks, but the estate realizes 1,07,540 rupees only.

* For the Kapseeur Ghorpuray, see among the Kolapoor Jagheerdars.

† The number, which precedes the name of each chief, shews the class to which he belongs. I have not been successful in meeting with a list of chiefs, divided into classes, which would have enabled me to complete the information on this point—desirable, because each class have their distinct privileges: the head of the family, or his widow, and the eldest son hold equal rank; but brothers, and younger sons of the first class only, are entitled to the privileges of the second, or next, class. Cadets, in the second class, rank in the third class.

GHORPURAY. Inchel-Kurinjeekur, a bramin family. Venkut Rao, now about 20 years of age, is married to the daughter of Chintamun Rao, Putwurdhun, of Sanglee. Narraen Rao Joshee, the first of his family, distinguished himself while in the service of the Kapseekur Ghorpuray, and had the villages of Inchel-Kurinjee, &c. conferred upon him: he then took the name of Ghorpuray. A descendant married into the family of the Peshwa, and had the Deshmookhy of Meeruj conferred upon him, in lieu of which, he subsequently received other estates; and what are now held by the family may be rated at 75,000 rupees.

(I) THE PUTWURDHUN FAMILY.—The founder of this family was Hur Bhut, a Konkane Bramin, originally in the service of the first Bajee Rao, Peshwa: of his six sons, Govind Hurry, Trimbuk Hurry, and Ramchunder Hurry rose to distinction, as military chieftains; and Gopal Rao, and Purusram Bhaio, his grandsons, were among the greatest chiefs of the empire, under the Peshwa: the family estates lie in the vicinity of the Kolapoor Raja's dominions. The following are the present chiefs of this family, with the estimated revenues of the Mahals, assigned to each, for personal expenses, as well as for the support of a party of troops, which they are liable to be called on to serve with; except Chintamun Rao, of Sanglee, whose Jagheer is for personal expenses: Chintamun Rao, however, maintains a greater number of military followers, since the settlement of the country, than any other of the southern Jagheerdars, Appa Dessaye Neepankur excepted.

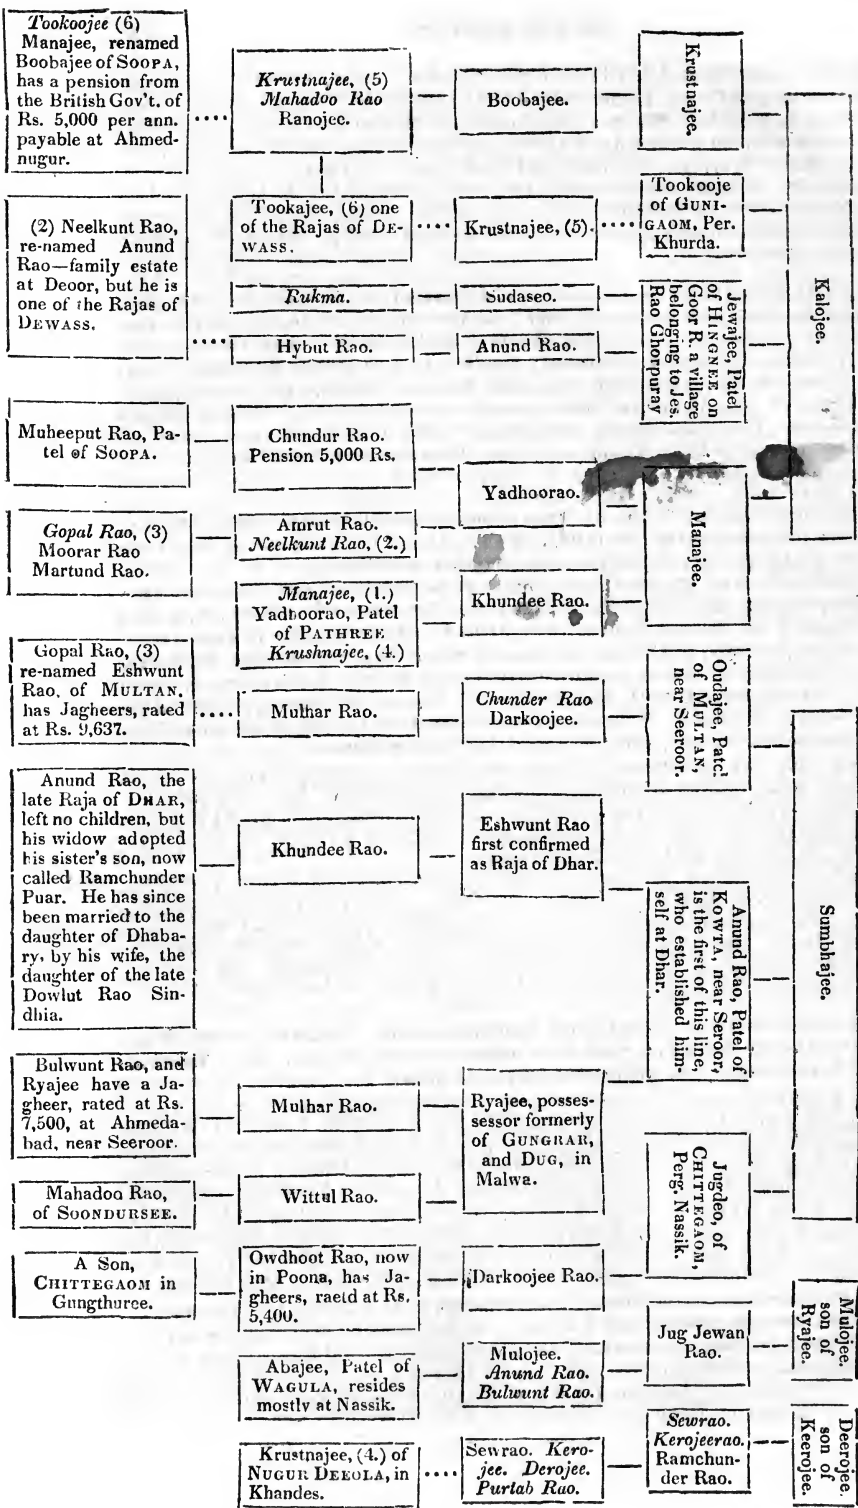

CHINTAMUN RAO PANDOURUNG, styled Appa Sahib, of Sanglee.—Personal Jagheer rated at 3,75,000 rupees. GUNPUT RAO, styled Tattia Sahib, is now in charge of the Fort of Meeruj, as heir to the eldest branch of the family, has a Jagheer rated at 1,85,336 rupees. MADHOO RAO, styled Baba Sahib, the second chieftain of Meeruj, resides outside the Fort, and has a Jagheer, rated at 1,18,413 rupees. GOPAL RAOJEE, the 3d chieftain of Meeruj, resides in the Fort—Jagheer rated at Rs. 1,01,348. WAMON RAO, the 4th chieftain of Meeruj, resides at Sahonee, and is hence styled Sahoneekur—Jagheer Rs. 92,274. These chiefs are descendants of GOVIND HURRY; the first being the son of his third son, and the other four being the descendants of his fourth son.

The descendants of TRIMBUK HURRY are, KRUSHN RAO of KOORUNDWAR, whose Jagheer is rated at 1,53,358 rupees; and GUNPUT RAO of SHEDBAUL, whose Jagheer is rated at 1,22,925 rupees.

The grand children of PURUSRAM PUNT BHAIO are, GOPAL RAO of JUMKUNDEE, whose Jagheer is rated at 2,64,144 rupees: GOVIND RAO NANA of CHINCHNEE, whose Jagheer is rated at 2,26,125 rupees: and PURUSRAM PUNT BHAIO, the adopted son of Gunput Rao, Jagheer rated 2,56,888 rupees; the two former have no family, or prospect of an heir, and are very anxious about the future disposal of their estates.

PUAR OR POWAR. Perhaps the most respectable Mahratta family of this name is that of Multan, a village 30 miles N. E. of Poona: some members of it were conspicuous, during the period in which the Mahratta supremacy was established over Hindoostan; and some principal families in Malwa derive their origin from that of the, comparatively, obscure family at Multan. It is immaterial, what feats Sabajee Puar, or his son Krustnaje, performed, to benefit their country, or themselves; so I have made no enquiry on the subject: the latter, however, had three sons, Boobajee, Ryajee, and Keroojee; Boobajee had two sons, Kaloojee, and Sumbhajee, who were the ancestors of the Rajas of Dhar, and Dewass, (of whom see the accounts in Sir John Malcolm's "Central India.") The present Patel of Multan has Jagheers, principally, I believe, in Khandes, rated at 9,637 rupees; and he has about 25 horse, which accompany him on occasions of ceremony. The members of this family being numerous, I have given the genealogical tree of it; and it may be necessary to explain, that, where the line is extinct, I have given the name in italics; but, where adopted into another line, or family, I have affixed a number, to facilitate reference; for instance, Manajee, the son of Khundeerao, has been adopted by Ranoojee, the son of Boobajee; adoption is distinguished by dotted lines.

Genealogy of the Family of Puar.

(1) THE CHIEF OF RAMDROOG, Narraen Rao, (lately deceased) and the CHIEF OF NURGOOND, Dadajee Rao Venkatesh, hold territories, rated at Rs. 76,062, each. These formed one estate, till divided in 1809. The common ancestor of these chiefs was Ram Rao Dadajee, who appears to have been appointed to the office of Suchew to the Kolapoor State, in 1713, on Naroo Shunkur receiving the investiture of this office from the State of Satara. On the death of Ram Rao Dadajee, the Jagheer was conferred upon his son, and nephew, together. The Jagheer fell subsequently under Hyder Ali, whose tyrannous conduct, towards the chiefs, induced them to look for foreign protection; which was afforded by the Peshwa, and led to a war in 1785. The Peshwa, in the following year, became possessed of the Jagheer, and retained it, until the year 1791; when it was conferred upon the descendants of the former proprietor, Ram Rao, and Venkut Rao; on the death of the former, the estate was divided; his son, Narraen Rao, receiving Ramdroog, and Venkut Rao having Nurgoond assigned to him—each stipulating, to furnish a contingent of Troops, when called upon: on the accession of the British Government, the Jagheer was made personal, and the contingent was remitted. The Ramdroogkur left no children; the Nurgoondkur left three sons, the eldest named Baba Sahib.

(1) SEEDOOJEE RAO NAIK NIMBHALKUR,* commonly called Appa Dessaye Nepankur, Surlushkur of the late Peshwa's army. He is the son of the Dessaye of Nepanee, which village, with another, together rated at Rs. 2,000, was conferred on his ancestor by the Raja of Kolapoor, in whose service Appa Dessaye also was. He afterwards entered the Peshwa's service, and accompanied the British army, in the year 1803-4; and was employed some years after by the Peshwa, to wrest Chikoree, and Menowlee, from the Raja of Kolapoor. Part of these districts, together with the district of Nepanee, he now holds. On the settlement of the country; he lost, in common with other Jagheerdars, all his lands, within the Nizam's boundary; but he got estates in lieu; and those, he now holds, are rated at 3,30,585 rupees.

(2) RAJA BAHADUR, OF MALLIGAOM.—Gopal Rao Trimbuk holds surinjams, valued at Rs. 21,195, in the Pergunna of Nimbayet, in Khandes; and also Rs. 7,000 upon the customs of Malligaom. His brother Mahdoo Rao Trimbuk, also styled Raja Bahadur, holds Jagheers in the turuf Belapoor, district Ahmednugur, rated at Rs. 34,772. These are the grandsons of Naroo Shunkur, who distinguished himself, as a military leader, in Gujurat, and particularly at the siege of Ahmedabad, in 1755. He was one of the principal commanders with the Bhao, on his disastrous expedition to Hindoostan, and was left in charge of Delhi, on its capture, before the battle of Paniput. He was afterwards appointed Soobehdar of Jhansi, which office he held fourteen years, when he was recalled to the Deccan: he built the strong fort at Malligaom. This family held Jagheers in Jhansi, amounting to Rs. 2,35,200. Gopal Rao has adopted a son, named Shew Rao, now about six years of age: Mahdoo Rao has also adopted Trimbuk Rao, aged nine years.

(2) THE VINCHOORKUR.—Nursing Rao Wittul, styled Punt-Raj-Adnya, and Oomdut-Ool-Moolk Bahadur, titles conferred upon his grandfather, Wittul Sewdeo, one of the leaders under the Bhao in Hindoostan. The members of this family have always been distinguished as military leaders, and their Jagheers for troops, under the late Peshwa, exceeded thirteen lacks of rupees. Baloba Vinchoorkur, the manager of the family, retired with Bajee Rao to Bit,hoor; and the present chief enjoys personal Jagheers, valued at Rs. 57,566, with enams, valued at 9,809 rupees. He lives at Vinchoor, in Gungthurce.

(2) POORUNDHUREE.† When Balajee Wiswanath was appointed to the office of Peshwa, in 1714, his friend Umbajee, commonly called Abba Poorundhuree, was appointed his Mootaliq, or deputy; and, as such, remained in charge of the duties of Peshwa in the Deccan, when Balajee carried the Mahratta army into Hindoostan, in 1720. Abba was, originally, Koolkurny of Sassor, near Poorundhur; and his descendants still reside there. Neelkunt Rao Mahadeo, commonly called Abba Poorundburec, who commanded the family contingent in the war of 1817-18, died about July 1826; and, when dying, adopted his younger brother, (same parents) as a son, in order that he might succeed to the family estates. The only lineal descendant of the founder is Wittul Rao Mulhar, who has a Jagheer, rated at 10,832 rupees. Ram Rao has Damarry, and other villages, rated at 15,000 rupees, in Jagheer. Krushn Rao Ram has a Jagheer, rated at 4,750 rupees. The family of Abba have pensions, as follows—His two widows 3,000 rupees, his mother 3,000 rupees, his daughter 300 rupees, and his adopted son an enam village, worth 1,000 rupees.

(2) RASTIA, BULWUNT RAO, styled Bala Sahib.—Principal residence Wae, near Sattara, and Talikot, in the Doab. This family trace their origin, as chieftains, to two brothers, who served under the Bejapoor dynasty; their greatness however may be dated from the marriage of Gopeeka Bae, the grand-aunt of the present representative, to Nana Sahib, Peshwa. The Jagheers, held by the family, were rated at this time at ten lacks; but they were resumed by the Peshwa, in 1815, who inherited all his father's hostility to the Rastias. The personal Jagheers, now held in the name of Bala Sahib, for support of the elder branch, are rated at 60,362 rupees; about two thirds of which consist of 17 villages, in the Pergunna of Khurda, in the Ahmednugur collectorate, and the rest near Talikot. Their enam, or freehold estate, is rated at 5,550 rupees. The descendants of the younger brother are, Kasseenath Narraen, who has a Jagheer village, worth 700 rupees; Gopal Rao, who has a pension of 5,000 rupees; and Wiswas Rao, who has a pension of 6,000 rupees, and a village besides, rated at 5,000 rupees.

(1) THE NUWAB OF SAVANOUR OR SHAHNOOR. Abdool Khuer Khan has villages, rated at Rs. 57,119, granted to him by the Peshwa, from possessions formerly held by his ancestors; and he has also a pension, of Rs. 6,000 per annum, from the British Government: this nobleman is the fourth in descent from Abdool Duleel Khan, who held the office of Foujdar, of the Talook of Bankanoor, under the Bejapoor government: he was confirmed in this office by Aurungzeeb, in 1692, with charge of districts, rated at nearly twenty lacks of rupees, and fixed his residence at Savanour, which, from a small village, then became a large town. He was succeeded by his son, Abdool Ghufoor Khan; and after him by his grandson, Abdool Muzced Khan; about which time the family paid 75,000 rupees, yearly, to the Mahrattas. Abdool Hakeem Khan succeeded in the year 1754; and next year the Mahrattas, having invaded the Carnatic, took Bagulkot, Badamy, and other places, from him, and proceeded to besiege Savanour: the Nuwab, reduced to extremities, relinquished territory, rated at 8,23,926 rupees, with the forts of Hoobly, Keroor, and Belgaom, with additional territory for their support, together with eleven lacks of rupees, in cash. The country then left to him, rated at 8,30,068 rupees, was afterwards taken possession of by Tippoo, in 1785, whose sister he had married six years before. But the Nuwab, who had become a Jagheerdar of Tippoo, failed to keep up his contingent of 2,000 Patan horse. In the partition of the districts, ceded by Tippoo some years afterwards, the estates of the Nuwab were included in the share, which fell to the Mahrattas; and Rs. 4,000 a month were granted to him, out of the revenues, for subsistence. Abdool Hakim Khan died in 1798, and was succeeded by the third of his nine sons, Abdool Khuer Khan, to whom villages were assigned, in lieu of his pension, which had always been very irregularly paid by the Mahratta district officer. One of these sons was blown away from a gun, for heading an insurrection against the late Peshwa; and another now enjoys a pension, of 200 rupees a month, at Poona.

(2) THE NUWAB MAHMOOD ALUM KHAN, Jagheerdar of Bela, is son of the late Abdool Hoossain. The ancestor of this chief, Mukbool Alum Khan, was appointed, by Nizam-Ool-Moolk, Soobehdar of the districts, under Joo-neere. He afterwards joined in Nasir Jung's rebellion, together with the Nuwabs, or Killadars, of Trimbuk, and Ahmednugur, which led to their further advancement, on his accession to the musnud. These chiefs were disliked in a corresponding degree by Nizam Ali, who first ordered Kuvée Jung to plunder, or despoil, the Nuwab of Bela, and afterwards punished Kuvée Jung, on pretence of his having kept back from the Nizam one of the female captives. When the country afterwards fell into the hands of the Mahrattas, the family were allowed to retain their personal Jagheer, which is rated at 9,665 rupees.

(2) THE LATE NUWAB KUVÉE JUNG, of Hewra, enjoyed at the time of his death, six months ago, a pension of Rs. 6,000 annually, in lieu of his Jagheer. This family is descended from Toork-tas-Khan, a native of Bokhara, who came with Aurungzeeb to the Deccan, and distinguished himself at the last, and long, siege of Golconda, in 1687; at which his father was killed. He was afterwards appointed Foujdar of Ahmednugur, and had twenty-five villages in the district conferred upon him, in enam. His descendants appear to have continued in possession, until 1759, when Kuvée Jung, the grandfather of the late Nuwab, disgusted with Nizam Ali, transferred his allegiance to the Mahrattas, and gave up the fort for an equivalent, round Hewra. Mahomed Kaem, styled Foujdar, a most respectable man, who now lives in Hewra, is the descendant of an adopted son of Toork-tas-Khan.

THE NUWAB OF RASIN. Khajeh Jaffur Khan, styled Kuvée Jung, has the same ancestor as the Nuwab of Hewra. His original estate, Sendee-Pukoor-dee, &c. on the Seena river, close to Ahmednugur, he exchanged for others, more remote, principally situated in the vicinity of Rasin, rated at 20,000 rupees.

(3) THE PANSAY FAMILY have held the command of the artillery, at Poona, from the time of Sahoo Raja, till a few years after the accession of Bajee Rao; and many members of it have died on the field of battle. The defeat of the English army at Wargaom, in January 1779, towards which Bhao Rao Pansay greatly contributed, procured a personal Jagheer for the family, of Rs. 75,000, and three Pergunnas, yielding Rs. 1,00,000, for the support of 300 horse; but these the Peshwa resumed. The late Gunput Rao Pansay commanded the Peshwa's infantry, and guns, when defeated by Sir Thomas Munro at Sholapoor, in April 1818. The family still hold estates, and pensions, rated at Rs. 15,200. The principal representative at present is Krushna Rao Madhoo, whose share of the estate is rated at Rs. 5,888. His principal abode is at Gungapoor, in Nowlgoond Pergunna.

(2) RUTUN SINGH JADHOW RAO, of Maligaote, near Baramttee, holds enam lands in the Nizam's Pergunna of Goonjootee, rated at Rs. 10,055; and has also a pension of Rs. 10,000. Dhunajee Jadhoo, the great ancestor of this family, was a distinguished leader, under Sivajee, and was rewarded with the office of Suenaputee by Shao. Balajee Wiswanath, the ancestor of the last line of Peshwas, was one of his Karkoons, and continued as such, with his son, until 1713, when the latter, dissatisfied, went over to the Moghuls. Balajee, who became Peshwa the following year, adopted, from respect to the Jadhows, a distinguishing part of the family banner in his aftabgeer, which his successors have continued to use. Umer Singh, the father of Rutun Singh, died 10, or 12 years ago, reputed to be nearly 100 years old.

FURKIA, HURRY PUNT.—The only surviving descendants of this distinguished commander, are, Pandoorung Mahdoo Rao, his grandson, who has an enam village, rated at Rs. 700, now deserted, near Poona, and receives a pension of 3,600 rupees, annually, from the British Government; Trimbuk Moreshwur, a grand nephew, who receives 5,000 rupees, annually; and Hurry Punt's youngest son, now living at Benares. Hurry Punt Furkia was the intimate friend of Nana Furnavees, and confidential secretary to the great Mahdoo Rao. After the death of Mahdoo Rao, and murder of his brother, he commanded the Mahratta army, against the usurper Ragoba Dada, in 1774; he held a principal command, when the English army were defeated at Tuligaom, in January 1779; as also when the Mahratta troops marched, as allies, to join Lord Cornwallis. He died in the year 1793, and his eldest son died in 1815. The daughter of the latter was espoused by the Peshwa, in February 1797, two months after his accession to the Musnud.

KOONJUR.—Pandojee, and Narraen Rao are sons of the late Balajee Koonjur, who, from a very low rank in life, attained to great influence in the Durbar at Poona, where he acted, for a short time, as minister. It was during his administration, that Wittoojee Holkar was put to death, by being tied to the feet of an elephant, and dragged through the city. Dread of Jeswunt Rao Holkar occasioned him, afterwards, to take refuge in Sindhia's camp, where he remained, as the Peshwa's agent, for many years. He died at Punderpoor in 1816; and his sons have each a pension of 4,400 rupees per annum, besides the Surpattelgy of the Poona Punch-Mahals, between them. His brother, Suda-seo Koonjur, has a pension, of 1,200 rupees.

LUKSHUMUN RAO SUDASHEO, has the village of Temboornee in enam, valued at Rs. 6,053, which was granted by the Nizam; and a personal Jagheer at Baramuttee, rated at Rs. 28,773. He is the son, (adopted by his widow) of Sudasheo Bhao Mankeshwur, who, from the humble office of news-writer at Hyderabad, for the Mahratta envoy there, in 1797, rose to be head of the Peshwa's administration in 1803. He died in 1817, just as the war broke out, leaving behind him the reputation of an able minister, though he could not stem the current of his master's evil fortune. He left considerable wealth, which has devolved to Lukshumun Rao. Mulhar Rao Bajee, nephew to Sudasheo Bhao, has a Jagheer village, rated at 1,000 rupees.

RAMCHUNDER CHOWDRY is the adopted son of Roopram Chowdry, who had charge of part of the Peshwa's artillery, and a battalion of infantry: he had also charge of the districts of Raneec-Bednore, Hungul, &c. in the Carnatic, and of Singhur, and the district under it. He died shortly before the war, but his manager, Dajeeba Sewray, defended Singurh in 1818. The Jagheers were resumed, and a pension, of 12,300 rupees per annum, with the village of Chas, in the Jooneere district, rated at 3,400 rupees, were conferred on the family.

(2) BULWUNT RAO KRISHN MENDLEE, has Jagheer villages, rated at 10,587 rupees; and Gunput Rao Anund Mendlee has others, rated at 6,600 rupees: these are descendants of Bulwunt Rao Mendlee, who held charge of the Mahratta conquests, in the Carnatic, during the Coromandel war, about 1756, and was killed at Paniput, in 1760: the first is the adopted son of a grandchild, the second a grandchild.

(2) RAMCHUNDER VENKATESH of Nowlgoond, manager to the Gokla family, but now under the Peshwa at Bit,hoor, has enams, rated at 10,367 rupees, and a pension of rupees.

(3) GOPAL SHASTREE, is son of Ram Shastrec, the judge, or Nyadesh, of Poona, whose name is cherished throughout the Deccan, as the most learned among Shastrees, and the most incorruptible among Judges. He never received fees, or gifts of any kind, and the only allowances he had were 2,000 rupees Salary; 1000 rupees Palankeen allowance; 1000 rupees he received at the Dukshuna; and 200 rupees for clothes. His son, who is scarcely known, has had 3,200 rupees of the above continued to him.

(3) TRIMBUK RAO PETTHY. The great grandfather of this person was Trimbuk Rao Mama, a chief, who is celebrated among his countrymen, as a soldier, a statesman, and a painter. He held charge of the Satara districts, and Raja's establishment, for several years, was distinguished in the war against Tippoo, and fell in action, fighting for the ministerial party, in 1774. His estates were continued to his family, until 1802, when the present Trimbuk Rao, having undertaken the mission to Satara, to bring the clothes of investiture, for the instalment of the son of Amrut Rao, as Peshwa, forfeited the favour of the restored party, and his Jagheers were resumed. He has now a pension of Rs. 2,000 a year, and some enam villages in the Ahmednugur district.

GOVIND DIKSIT PATUNKUR, of Kaigaom, on the Godavery, has Jagheers in Sendoornee Pergunna, in Khandes, rated at 15,000 rupees; also Kaegaom, and another village near it, valued at 8,050 rupees; some rights in Hursool, &c. altogether, 24,550 rupees per annum.

(3) VENKUT RAM. DABHOLEEKUR, and APPAJEE RAO, are descendants of Appa Khundee Rao, formerly Furnavees, and General accountant, under Sindhia's Government. They hold Enams in the Ahmednugur Collectorship principally around Aukoolnair, rated at 15,909 rupees.

(3) KESHOO RAO, son of Ram Rao Appajee, Pulseekur, and grandson Appajee Ram, formerly an Officer under Holkar's government, has Jagheer and Enam villages, &c. in the Ahmednugur Collectorship, in the Newassa Pergunna, rated at 11,480 rupees; and in Parneir Perg. rated at Rs. 6,140.

KUDDUM BANDY.* The ancestors of this family were officers under the Beejapoor Kings; but, when Sivajee became the assertor of Hindoo independence, they joined their countrymen, and became distinguished leaders. Kantajee Kuddum Bandy† was the principal officer under the Suenaputee, and led one of the Mahratta hordes, which co-operated in annual inroads, made from Khandes, into Gujerat, about 1720. The chouth of the whole of that province, north of the Muhee, was conferred upon Kantajee, in 1724, for the aid afforded to Hamed Khan, the deputy of Nizam-Ool Moolk, in battles fought near Ahmedabad, and at Bussoo, in which the armies of the emperor were annihilated. It was in Kantajee's service, that Mulhar Rao Holkar first acquired distinction, and, from a tender of sheep, became, at length, the founder of one of the greatest States in India. The estates, belonging to the family, are the enam villages of Runnala, Toorkeira, Kopreil, and Tanna, all situated upon, or near, the Taptee River, in Khandes. These villages are rated at 3,606 rupees, on the records; but they are now worth 10,000 rupees, by the good management of the family.

BHOETAY.* A family distinguished in an early period of Mahratta power. Their Jagheers in Khandes were resumed, in 1813, by Trimbukjee Dainglia, on an order by the Peshwa, and the family were left nearly destitute. They now have a pension of 4,300 rupees, granted by the British Government, in addition to the revenues of four villages, in the Perg. of Edilabad, granted by Sindhia.

TOKHAY,* ABHONYKUR, Chutr Sing. This family, which is Rajpoot, holds 19 enam villages, yielding about 8,000 rupees, annually, in the Pergunna of Kunassy, and Korally, in Gungthuree, granted in the time of Aurungzeeb.

(1) GUNPUT RAO RAMCHUNDER KANADAY, has Satawunee, Brimha-Wakry, and two other villages in the Nizam's Pergunna of Purtoor, rated at Rs. 6,820: this person is the great grandson of Ramchunder Gunesh, one of the principal Officers, who accompanied the army to Malwa, in 1769, under Veesajee Kishen, Beenewala. He was killed in Dec. 1780, while in command of the Mahratta army, in an assault upon Colonel Hartley's camp, at Doogaur, in N. Konkan, leaving behind him the well earned reputation of a skillful, and brave commander. His party, consisting of 300 horse, with Jagheers, amounting to 2 or 3 lacks for their support, were confirmed to his son, Mahdoo Rao Ramchunder, a respectable civilian, who was left by the Peshwa, as his deputy, at Poona, when he proceeded upon the campaign against the Nizam, in 1795. He died shortly after, and his son, Ramchunder Mahdoo Rao, enjoyed his Jagheers, till they were resumed by Bajee Rao, and a pension of Rs. 2,000 conferred upon him. He was killed by a fall from the top of his house, 5 years ago.

* Colonel Briggs', and Mahratta MSS. † The late Capt. Macmurdo.

(2) SEEDESHWUR MUHEEPUT RAO, styled Beenewala, or Quarter Master General, now enjoys a pension, of Rs. 2,000 a year. This person is the grandson of Visajee Kishen, Beenewala, but who commanded the Mahratta army, in the campaign to Malwa, in 1769. He had under his command Tookajee Holkar, and Mahadjee Sindhia. After a successful campaign, Visajee Kishen fully restored the Mahratta influence in Hindoostan, and seated Shah Alum on the throne of Delhi, in December 1771. A well fought battle, in which Visajee Kishen led against the Emperor, in the following year, raised the Peshwa to the rank of Bukshee, and Commander in Chief, of the Moghul army. He, and his followers, are said to have brought great wealth into the Deccan, principally obtained at the capture of Putturghur. He died at Poona, about 1790, and his Jagheers, principally about Belgaom, were confirmed to his son, Muheeput Rao; but were afterwards resumed by the Peshwa, Bajerao. He is of the Khuradee sect of Bramins, and resides at Poona.

(3) TANAJEE RAO RAJA SIRKAY, holds Jagheer villages in the Konkan, and Mawuls, rated at Rs. 4,500, and enams rated at 1,500. His brothers, and cousins, also hold personal Jagheers: viz. Gunput Rao Sirkay, Rs. 887: Anund Rao Sirkay, Rs. 436: Amur Sing Sirkay, Rs. 974. These persons, now dwindled to the rank of respectable Silladars, are the descendants of a Raja, who held possession of all the Konkan Ghat-Mahta, from Poona to the Warna River: a mountainous tract, in which were preserved those seeds of Hindoo independence, which, at no very distant period, sprung up into a goodly tree, extending its boughs to the remotest corners of India. Sivajee's principal Ministers, and one of his two wives, belonged to this family.

(3) HUNMUNT RAO DURRYKUR, has the village of Ambla, in the Poona districts, worth 800, or 900 rupees: I notice him, that I may mention an anecdote of his father. The Peshwa, Mahdoo Rao, sitting in full Durbar, in camp near Seedatek, had sent for some elephants to look at. One of them, on the way, became furious, and running direct to the Durbar chandnee, or awning, threw it up, and had reached the spot where Mahdoo Rao sat, and kept his seat, while the whole of a numerous assembly fled, except Khundee Rao Durrykur, a Silladar, and Appajee Rao Patunkur, both of whom stepped in front of the Peshwa: the elephant turned off at this instant; but the intrepidity, or devotion, of these persons, occasioned the first to be made Surlushkur, and the other was always, afterwards, supposed to have the greatest influence at court, during the lifetime of Mahdoo Rao.

(2) BALAJEE PUNT NARAEN NATHOO, rendered valuable and essential service to the British interests, in 1817-18. To use the words of Capt. Grant Duff, (vol. III. p. 412.) "His vigilance, judgment, fidelity and firmness, at that trying period, entitled him to the munificent reward, which was conferred upon him;" this was a pension of 6,000 rupees per annum. He has also freehold estates, rated at Rs. 12,000. He is the most respectable Bramin, in appearance, whom I have seen; and is as diffident, and respectful, as in former days. He has written a history of his own times.

DEODHUR, Pandoorung Rao Anna, surnamed DHUMDHURI, was a great favourite of the Ex-Peshwa, who married his niece, since dead. The Jagheers, which had been held by Ambekur, a meritorious officer, and remarkable person, in Nana Furnavees' time, were, mostly, conferred upon Deodhur, and his relations. Pandoorung Rao now holds Jagheers, rated at 20,090 rupees, being principally at Kurinjgaom, in Gungthuree, Mehoonbara and Joorga, in Khandes, and he resides at Apty, on the Bheenia. His son, Ramchundur Punt Abba, has about 15 Jagheer villages in the Patoda Pergunna, in Gungthuree, rated at 12,000 rupees, and he now resides with the Peshwa. Moro Rugonath Dhumdheri has a pension of 5,000 rupees, and resides at Poona.

(3) PURUSURAM BULWUNT, PURSHOTUM BULWUNT, and BALKRISHN BULWUNT, are grandsons of Nagoo Ram, formerly a distinguished commander in the Paga, and sons to Bulwunt Rao Nagonath, one of two officers, to whose custody, in the fort of Shewnair, Nana Furnavees entrusted Bajee Rao; and his brother, Bulwunt Rao, was thrown into a hill-fort, for permitting a correspondence between Bajee Rao, and his cousin, Mahdoo Rao, the young Peshwa. They hold Wamboory, near Ahmednugur, in Jagheer, rated at 15,009 rupees.

(2) LUXIMUN RAO JADHOW, of Waghoolee, near Poona, and LAROJER JADHOW RAO, of Waree, near the Dewee Ghat, are descendants of Peelajee Jadhov. The first holds Jagheers, rated at 25,811 rupees, part of which, including Chicultana, near Aurungabad, is within the Nizam's frontier; and the other has a pension of 5,000 rupees.

(2) NARRAEN RAO NEELKUNT, Moozumdar, has Walki, near Ahmednugur, in Jagheer, with other villages in the vicinity, rated, together, at 14,201 rupees. He also holds the Enam village of Bhopkel, W. of Poona, rated at 700 rupees. This officer was the auditor of accounts under the late Peshwa, and is a descendant of the person, who held this office under Shao.*

(2) GUNPUT RAO NARRAEN, of Ranzee, about 18 miles S. of Poona, son of Naroo Gunesh, formerly Dewan to Holkar, holds Jagheer villages, principally in the Shewgaom Pergunna, in Gungthuree, rated at 23,627 rupees.

(2) GUNGADHUR MADHOO RAO, is the great grandson of Gungadhur Yeswunt, who was dewan to Mulhar Rao Holkar, when first advanced to command, and continued to hold the office, but with less credit to himself, in the time of his high minded daughter, Aylah Bae. He was afterwards the supporter, in rebellion, of Rugonath Rao, against the great Mahdoo Rao. He holds Newassa, and some villages in the vicinity, in Jagheer, estimated, together, at 26,084 rupees, but rated, on the government records,† at 66,789 rupees. His cousin, Khundee Rao Krishn, has an enam, rated at 5,000 rupees.

(2) VENAİK RAO CHINTAMUN, Deshmookh of Someshwur, near Rutna-gheery, once a principal Officer in the Dufter, (record Office,) is now at Bit, hoor with the Ex-Peshwa. The Jagheer villages, held by him in varic us places, are rated at 9,200 rupees.

(2) KUNG DIKSIT MARATAY, son of Moro Diksit, the Minister, who fell in the battle of Khirkee, resides at Waee, on a pension of 3,000 rupees, from the British Government. Moro Diksit's brother has also a pension, of 1,200 rupees.

(2) GOKLA. Bhaskur Ram, and Deenkur Ram, brothers to the late Visajee Punt Gokla, have, together with an adopted son, and the widow, of the late Visajee Punt, pensions of 2,000 rupees each, and reside at Meeruj.

(2) MAHOMED HUNEEF, Moonshee, an old servant at the British Residency, at Poona, has Jagheer lands, rated at 7,000 rupees, in the vicinity of Katruj, where he resides. His son also has a Jagheer, worth 2,000 rupees.

(3) GUNPUT RAO DAINGLIA, son of the notorious Trimbukjee, has 1,200 rupees allowed him, by the British Government. He is a sineboy, about twelve years of age, and lives at Nimbgaom, in the Ahmednugur Collectorship.

* Shao is the familiar appellation of the Raja Sahoo, the son of Raja Ram, among the Mah-rattas; and even intelligent Bramins give him this name.

† Jagheer villages are, sometimes, rated at much more, than they produce, and, occasionally, at much less. This arises principally from the manner, in which the grant is made, or the way, in which it is understood by the district officer. A village, of 1000 rupees Kumal, may greatly exceed its real revenue. The Kumal is the greatest revenue, realized in any one of a series of years. The Tunkha is the average of a series of years, and, under the Mahomedan Governments, was the standard assessment; although still entered in the accounts, it is obsolete in practice. The Akar, is a general term, applied to the rent of a village; and the Hal-Akar, I conceive, to designate present realizations.

Naik Jhondulay, a Naik of Hirkaras, who acquired some importance, by being entrusted with the conveyance of official, and sometimes difficult, communications, between the Poona Durbar and British Residency, during many years.

(3) PURUSRAM KHUNDEE RAO, RATAKUR, was Soobehdar of the district of Basseen, in the Konkan, and Joonere, in the Deccan, at the time of the war breaking out, in 1817. He has now a pension of 5,000 rupees per annum.

PRINCIPAL OFFICERS, AND FAMILIES, UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF SATARA.

RAJA OF SATARA, Purtab Sew, Bhosla.—His titles are, Sreemunt, Maha-Raja, and Chuterputec. This prince is the fifth in descent from the great Sivajee, who, in his contest with the Mahomedan kingdoms of the Deccar, established Hindoo independence, and mainly contributed to the subversion of these dynasties, by Aurungzeeb, afterwards. Sivajee was born in 1627, and died in 1680. A legend of the family gives it a Rajpoot origin*. It seems, however, that his grandfather, Maloojee Raja, Patel of Deoolgaom, near Patus, and of other places, was an active partisan under the king of Ahmednugur, and had a Jagheer conferred upon him, which descended to his son, Shahjee, afterwards a principal Mahratta leader, under the Beejapoor dynasty. He acquired, in Jagheer, nearly the whole of what now forms the Collectorship of Poona, together with part of the Mawuls under Satara; and it was in these valleys, that his son, Sivajee, matured his plan of Hindoo independent sovereignty. Under his successors, his elder grandson, Sahoo, and the Peshwas, the Mahratta possessions continued to increase, till, by a want of vigour, in controlling servants, and dependents, it was dismembered, and divided into five, distinct, states; † the rulers of which, however, rendered at first a real, but afterwards a nominal, obedience to the original state. On the death of Sahoo, in 1749, a minority ensued; and from that day, the Peshwas, nominally ser-

* The Bhonslay, (Bhosla) and Ghorpuray families pretend to derive their origin from a common ancestor. It does not appear, however, by the legend, which has been read to me, that the latter family correctly assume the name of Bhonslay. The probability of a common origin is sufficiently borne out, by the circumstance of their not intermarrying; for Hindoos never marry into their own family, though the degree of relationship may be hidden in the obscurity of ages.

By the legend it appears, that Bapoo Raoul reigned at Chitoor, in Rajpootana, in the year 131 of the Christian era. The twenty-third king of his race had two sons, Bharatsee, and Bheemsee. The latter attached himself to the brother-in-law of the Prithveeraj Chohan, of Delhi, and obtained permission to possess himself of Nepaul. He promoted the worship of Ghoornkath Mahadeo, the tutelary deity of the country, and with him originated the name of Ghoorka. The Rajpoot tribe, called Bheemsee, still exists in Nepaul. A chief of this family is said to have returned to Rajpootana, in 1442, and assuming the title of Raja, with him originated the states of Doongurpoor, and Banswara. The thirteenth Ruler of this race, at Doongurpoor, named Abheesee, and styled the Maha Rana, left the Government to his sister's son, in prejudice of his own children. One of the latter, named Sujunsee, came to the Deccan, and entered the service of the King of Beejapoor, who conferred upon him the district of Modhul, comprising 84 villages, with the title of Raja. Sujunsee had four sons. Bajee Raja, in whose line descended the Modhulkur estate; the second died without family; and from Wolubsye is the Kapseeker Ghorpuray; Sugajee, the youngest, had a son, named Bho-sajee, from whom is derived all the Bhonslays: he had ten sons; the eldest settled at Deoolgaom, near Patus, and originated the line of the great Sivajee: Second, at Hingnee, probably Hingungaom; Third, at Bherdee; Fourth, at Sawuntwaree, where his descendants have continued to rule: Fifth, at Wawee, out of which family the father of the present Raja of Satara was adopted: Sixth, at Moongy, better known as Moongy-Pytan; Seventh, at Shumboo Mahadeo; Eighth, at Boregaom; Ninth, at Jentee (Hydrabad Road;) and the tenth at Khunwutta, out of which family the present Raja of Kolapoor's father was adopted. The reader will recognise the descendants of most of these families, at the present day hovering about the place, where their progenitor settled.

vants, became the real masters, holding the Rajas prisoners, and pageants, till the result of the battle of Ashta, in February 1818, liberated the family; and the present Raja was raised to the throne of a territory, supposed to yield 15 lacks of rupees, exclusive of Jagheers. The Raja's younger brother is named Shahjee, and styled Appa Sahib.

(1) BUJABA NIMBHALKUR, styled Naik,* and Phultun Rao.—The districts, called Phultun des, situated on the south bank of the Neera River, have been held by this family, in Jagheer, for probably some centuries. The Jagheer realizes 2 lacks of rupees of revenue, and the chief furnishes 75 horse, for the service of the Raja. The Naiks of Phultun were enterprising leaders, under the kings of Bejapoor, and among the most active opponents, that Sivajee had to contend with. Nor did this family join the cause of their religion, till many years after Sivajee's death, though connected with him by marriage. The late chief, Jan Rao, died in 1825, at an old age, without heirs, but leaving two widows. He left a paper of adoption, in favour of Bujaba Naik, the present chief, which was confirmed by H. H. the Raja, with the concurrence of the British Government.

DUFFLAY, Ram Rao Chohan, the Jagheerdar of Jhutt.—An ancestor of this chief was an active partisan, in the service of the kings of Beejapoor, in the time of Sivajee. It does not appear, at what time he joined his countrymen. The present chief has, besides his hereditary freehold estates, which are rated at Rs. 19,162, Jagheers, rated at Rs. 1,48,101; including however alienations, on account of religious establishments, amounting to Rs. 9,115, and money payments to relations, amounting to Rs. 11,250. He furnishes fifty horse, for the service of the Raja of Satara.

THE NIMBHALKURS, OF WATAR, (a village between Phultun and the Mahdeo hills) are a branch of the Phultun family. The family, which is very numerous, and extremely wealthy, has enriched itself by mercantile undertakings. Watar is worth about Rs. 2,500; Koonty, a village given to them by Sindhia, is worth Rs. 2,500; and Body, in the Seerwul district, given by Punt Suchew, is worth Rs. 1,000 more. A lady of this family was married to the present Raja of Kolapoor, but is deceased.

(1) RAJA OF AKULKOT.—Mallojee Rao Bhonslay, the present Raja, succeeded his father, Futteh Sing, who died in April 1823. His Jagheer, personal and for troops, together, amounts to Rs. 2,17,075, and he is obliged to furnish 100 horse, for the service of the Raja of Satara. The first Raja was the orphan son of the Patell of Parud, in Gungthuree, who having fallen in the assault of a town, led to his son's being adopted by Sahoo, about the year 1707, and to his bearing the Satara family name, of Bhonslay. The Jagheers, held by the first Raja, amounted to thirty-five lacks, annually.

The Purdhans, or Ministers, at Satara.†

(1) THE PUNT, PRITHEE-NEEDHEE, Purushram Sree Newas.—This title was intended, to exalt the holder above all the Purdhans, being Alter Ego in fact. It was created by Raja Ram, to reward Prillhad Nerajee for very distinguished services. Purushram Trimbuk, who, from the humble office of a Koolkurny, had raised himself into notice, succeeded him, and the present chief is the fourth from him, in lineal descent. His ancestors possessed very extensive Jagheers; but what remain to him are valued at Rs. 1,55,000. He rebelled against the Peshwa, in 1806, but was subdued, the following year, by Bapoo Gokla, who brought him to Poona, where he was kept in confinement by the Peshwa, for many years. Gokla took possession of the Jagheer, but never accounted for its revenues to Government. The Punt now resides at Ounde, near Satara.

(1) THE PUNT SUCHEW, Chinnajee Shunkur, died in October 1827, and is succeeded by his adopted son. He was a lineal descendant of Shunkrajee Narraen Gaudékur, the Suchew of Sivajee, who, after his death, joined the Kolapoor party, and died a suicide. Sahoo Raja, nevertheless, invested his son, Naroo Shunker, then two years old, with the office of Suchew to the state of Satara. An hereditary assignment, of 6 per cent upon the revenue of certain districts, and villages, in the Deccan, and Khandes, called the Sahotra, was conferred upon him at the same time, with an extensive Jagheer in the Mawuls. His chief town is Bhoze, situated in Heerdus Mawul, a district S. W. of Poona, which entirely belongs to him. His revenue may be now rated at, from 3,75,000 to 4 lacks of rupees. His duty was that of State Secretary, and Record Keeper.

(J) THE PUNT AMAT. Surwuttum Baboo Rao, is a lineal descendant of Neeloo Punt Sondeo, the first Moozimdar, or Amat, under Sivajee. He was the Minister of finance, and auditor of accounts. Ramchunder Punt, the son of Neeloo Punt, having joined the party, in support of a Regency in the person of the widow of Raja Ram, with which originated the Kolapoor state, his descendants, by his elder son, adhered to the house of Kolapoor, under which they hold the Fort, and district, of Bowra. Surwuttum Baboo Rao is the grandson of Ramchunder's younger son, who was appointed Amat at Satara, after his father's death, when Shao forgave the defection of the parent. He now holds the enam villages of Chamoordee, and Gampooree, worth 5,000 rupees, and Jagheer villages, worth 10,000 rupees; also a pension, from the British Government, of 5000 rupees per annum.

(2) THE MUNTREE, Juewunt Rao, is grandson to the adopted son of Naroo Ram; the first of this family, who held the office. He was appointed, by Sahoo, in 1717. This office was called first under Sivajee Waukanees, and his duty was, to inspect the private accounts, &c. His personal Jagheer, at Bagnee, south of Kurar, is rated at 8,100 rupees; and he resides at Islampoor, in the vicinity.

THE SUENAPUTEE,* Bulwunt Rao Raja Bhosla, commonly called Bala Sahib, is the son of Chutr Sing Bhosla, and cousin-german to the Raja. He was installed as Suenaputee, by H. H. on the Dussera of 1826, commands H. H. troops, and officiates as one of the Purdhans.

THE PUNT SOMUNT, called formerly, under Sivajee, Dubeer, or Minister for foreign affairs. The present Punt, Bulwunt Rao Kishen, was invested by the Raja, on the Dussera of 1826, with the concurrence of the British Government. He is a lineal descendant of Balajee Aoujee, Sivajee's private Secretary.

THE PUNDIT RAO, Rugonath Rao Ramchunder. He was formerly called the Nyashastree, and his duty is, to expound the law, and the shasters.

The incumbent has an enam village, worth Rs. 3,500, and a pension of Rs. 2,000. He lives at Bagnee. This family is related to the Muntree family.

BULWUNT RAO JOSHEE, is the adopted son of the late Tattia Joshee, the grandson of Krushnajee Naik, of Baramutee, who was appointed treasurer, by Sahoo. He still holds the office, and perquisites attached, as a sinecure; besides a pension of Rs. 4,000. He holds an office under the Prithee-Needhee.

KUNDEE RAO SIRKAY, is the brother of H. H mother, and is commonly called Mama Sahib: he has a stipend from the Treasury.

PATUNKUR Appajee Rao. The district of Patunkhora, comprising 40 villages, situated between the Warna and Koheena rivers, west of Kurarh Pritheenedhee's possessions, were conferred upon an ancestor of this chief, by Raja Ram, in 1692. This family is distinguished in Mahratta history, and Bulwunt Rao Patunkur, who is married to a daughter of the late Dowlut Rao Sindhia, and now holding a chief command in the Gwalior service, belongs to it. Several of the Patunkurs receive pensions from the British Government, in lieu of Jagheer lands.

(2) KHAN MAHOMED, son of the late Sheikh Meeran, of Wace, (who died a few months ago,) has been confirmed in his late father's estates; consisting of the enam village of Pusurny, rated at 3,025 rupces, and a Jagheer, rated at 21,392 rupces, for the support of 25 horsemen, though he only serves the Raja with ten.—Sheikh Meeran, the great grandfather of the present chief, rendered essential service to the Raja Sahoo on his return to the Deccan, after his liberation by Aurungzeeb, to claim his inheritance, "the sovereignty of the Mahrattas," then held by his aunt, Tara Bae, which led to his own advancement.

NAGOJEE RAO GHATGAY, styled Jhoonjhar Rao, Deshmookh of Mulaoree, a town situated west of Punderpoor, is descended of one of the Mahratta chiefs, who served under the Beejapoor dynasty, till it was subverted by Aurungzeeb. Their estates are rated at 25,000 rupces per annum.

SOUTHERN KONKAN.

ANGRIA, the chief of Kolaba, styled Vizarut Mal, and Surkhel. The present chief, Rughoojee Angria, succeeded to the government, on the death of his father, Manajee, about December 1817; and, being a subject of the Peshwa, his allegiance was transferred to the British Government, on the abdication of that prince. His territory yields a revenue, of between two and three lacks of rupces, including large alienations, on account of religious establishments. This chief is a lineal descendant of the once powerful Kanoojee Angria, admiral of the Mahratta fleet, during the early part of the last century. It is said, that he was appointed to the rule over the Konkan, from Sawunt-Waree to Kalian, with a commission to make conquests against the Scedec, the Moghul, and the Portuguese. The family is well known to

The Dewanjee's Venkut Rao Puroshram had certain village lands granted to him by Rughoojee Angria for past services and granted to him by the Honble. Company in the Treaty of July 1822 at 10392 rupces besides 4618 rupces in Cash to be enjoyed by him.

Styled, Seedee Suboot Khan

THE SEEDEE OF JINJEERA. Seedee, or Hubshee,* Mahomed Khan, the present chief, is the eldest son of the late Ibrahim Khan; who, after a reign of about 24 years, died towards the end of 1826. The country, over which his authority extends, lies along the sea coast, between the Rewdunda and Bankoot Rivers, and produces a revenue, of about 1,75,000 rupées, annually. The legend sets forth, that, about the year 1489, a party of Abyssinians, in the service of one of the Nizam-Shahee kings of Ahmednugur, disguised as merchants, obtained permission, from the chiefs of the island, to land 300 boxes, each of which contained a soldier; by which means they possessed themselves of Dhunda-Rajpoor. It afterwards formed part of the dominions of the King of Beejapoor, under whom, in the time of Sivajee, the government of the Southern Konkan was held by the admiral of the Beejapoor fleet, who was an Abyssinian, and whose officers and crews were his own countrymen. Being hard pressed by the Mahrattas, the Captains of the fleet appear to have formed themselves into a republic,† and to have offered their services to Aurungzeeb, then at war, equally, with Beejapoor and the Mahrattas. Since that time, till within 15 or 20 years ago, they have been engaged in constant wars, by sea and land: but the principality, though circumscribed in its limits, maintains its independence to this day. The Seedees were terrible, as pirates, and more dreaded, than all others, on the pirate coast. The town and district of Jafferabad, on the south coast of Katteawar, is a colony belonging to this petty state, and to which it sends a Governor, periodically. The Seedee's personal appearance and manners are much in his favour, and his complexion is very fair for an Asiatic. His subjects talk of the mildness of his government, and his country is a refuge for all in distress. During a late famine, Ibrahim Khan, directed that all strangers should be hospitably received by his subjects wherever they entered the country.

PRINCIPAL OFFICERS, AND FAMILIES UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF KOLAPOOR.

RAJA OF KOLAPOOR.—Shahjee, the present Raja, succeeded his half brother, Sumbhajee, styled Aba Sahib, who was murdered, under circumstances of great suspicion, in 1822, by a chief of the house of Mohitay. These were sons of Sivajee, a member of the Khunwutta‡ family, adopted about the year 1762, by the widow of Sumbhajee, the last of the lineal descendants of the great Sivajee. The State of Kolapoor may be said to have been founded by Tara Bace, the widow of Raja Ram, about 1707, when Sahoo Raja, being liberated by Aurungzeeb, a few months before his death, returned to claim his inheritance, as head of the Mahratta nation, from his aunt, Tara Bace, and her stepson, Sumbhajee. After a series of wars, Sumbhajee was acknowledged, as head of the Kolapoor State, by his cousin Sahoo, in 1731; and, boundaries being fixed, it became, thenceforth, a distinct, and independent, sovereignty.§ The present Raja has married six wives, of whom five are still living; but he has no family. His brother left a son a year old, but he is since dead.

* Hubshee, or Seedee, is a name given in India to Abyssinians, or their descendants. It is assumed, as a title, by the head of the Jinjeera (corruption of Jhuzeera, an island) Principality.

§ The Revenues of the Kolapoor State are rated at 12, or 13 lacks of rupées, including Jagheers. Many of the Jagheerdars, under the Peshwa's Government, held Jagheers under the Kolapoor Government: a system, which could not be otherwise than inconvenient, when these rival states warred with each other.

The Military Establishment of the Kolapoor state was limited by the last treaty, (1827,) with the British Government, to 400 horse, and 800 infantry, exclusive of weak garrisons to the forts: the forts of Kolapoor, and Panala, are, however, garrisoned by British Troops.

The Purdhans, or Principal State Officers.

THE PRITHEE-NEEDHEE,* Mahdoo Rao Bhugwunt, holds the fort of Vishalgurh, and Jagheers under it, rated at 1,00,000 rupees. He is an adopted son of Bhugwunt Rao Abajee, the fifth in lineal descent from Purushram Trimbuk, the first person who held this office under the Kolapoor state; and to whom the fort and district of Vishalgurh was granted in Jagheer, which they still hold. It appears to have been subsequently confirmed to Bhugwunt Rao, the grandson of Purushram, jointly by Sahoo Raja of Satara, and Sumbhajee Raja of Kolapoor, on their reconciliation, about 1732, when they were settling their respective boundaries.

THE AMAT,* Babajee Moreshwar, is about 25 years of age. He holds the fort of Bowra, and districts under it, in Jagheer, rated at about 80,000 rupees. He is the seventh in descent, by lineage or adoption, from Neeloo Punt Sondoeshmookh of Kalian, who is said to have assisted the great Sivajee in the capture of Poorundhur, and was rewarded with the office of Amat. His son Ramchunder Neelkunt, who had also eminently distinguished himself under Sivajee, and his son, Raja Ram, espoused the cause of Sumbhajee, the younger grandson of Sivajee, and had the fort of Bowra, which he had taken by assault, conferred upon him, and which has descended in his family.

THE SUENAPUTEE,* †Suntajee Ghorpuray, holds the town and district of Kapsee,† an ancient possession of his family, in Jagheer, rated at 25,000 rupees. This chief is a lineal descendant, the fifth remove, from Suntajee Ghorpuray, a distinguished leader during the period in which Hindoo emancipation was effected. Seedoojee Ghorpuray, his nephew, the first of this family, who held the office of Suenaputee, under the state of Kolapoor, was appointed to it in 1712. Ranoojee Rao, Moorar Rao, and Sumbhajee Rao, the sons of Narraen Rao, who was granduncle to the present chief, hold the villages of Kurkawaree, Nagnoor, and Pandooranga, in enam, rated at 24,000 rupees, being 8,000 rupees to each, and Bala Sahib, the uncle of the chief, holds Husoor, rated at 15,000 rupees, in Jagheer, for the support of the members of that branch.

THE RAJ-ADNYA.—Narraen Rao Rutnakur, officiates as minister. He is the son of Rutnakur Punt Appa, who, from the humble office of Karkoon, under the Potnees, rose to be at the head of the military department, and conducted the wars with the Putwurdhuns to a successful termination. The father was out of favour at the time of his death; but the Raja became reconciled to the son, and conferred upon him the situation of minister, with the Kusba of Hookeeree, rated at 6,000 rupees, in Jagheer, which he now holds. His son is twenty years of age.

*BHOW MAHARAJ, † is, nominally, Gooroo, or spiritual Director, to the Raja. He is the second son of the late Seedeshwur Bawa, otherwise Bhutjee Maharaj, who formerly held this office. His estates, which are freehold, lay in the Pergunnas of Chickoorec, Menowlee, and Hookeeree, and are rated at 40,000 rupees. They were conferred upon him by the Raja, to whom he was, in fact, minister. He conducted the negotiations which recovered the districts of Chickooree, Menowlee, and Hookeree, from Appa Dessaye to the Raja; and transferred the district of Malwan to the Company. He lives, usually, at Poona, and has no influence in the Durbar at Kolapoor, being at variance with the Raja. He, however, takes his place next the Raja, on particular occasions of ceremony. He has two sons, Tatia and Dada.

BAWA MAHARAJ,† is the elder brother of Bhow Maharaj. He has succeeded his father, as Gooroo, and holds Jagheers, in the vicinity of Kolapoor, rated at 25 000 rupees. He has three sons, Bapoo, Aba, and Unna, severally styled Maharaj. He lives at Kola-Nursingpoor, near Kurarh, a place of pilgrimage, which has been enriched by his father.

THE DEP. MINISTER, Sudaseo Jotee, is cousin-german to the Raj-Adnya. He has three villages in the Chickooree Pergunna, which were conferred upon him, as a Jagheer, in 1785, rated at 5,000 rupees. He lives at Kolapoor.

THE SURNOBUT. This office is held by two brothers, Bawa and Tatia, in succession to their father, Ryajee Jadhov. They have the districts of Seerala and Goomty in Jagheer, for personal expenses, and the support of the Paga, together.

THE SURLUSHKUR, Hunmunt Rao Nimbhalkur, styled Rao Sahib Khurdakur, is of the Phultun family. He has an old Jagheer, rated at 15,000 rupees, and a new one rated at 10,000 rupees. His mother is a sister of the Raja.

HYBUT RAO GAEKWAR, and DEENKUR RAO GAEKWAR, have the villages of Kuradagee, Kokee, and Moree, in the district under Panala, rated at 25,000 rupees, in Jagheer. They hold the office of Khowaus Khana: their duty is to hold the morchul behind the Raja, on occasions of state, and sit behind him on his elephant: the office is highly respectable at all native courts.

The descendants of the other original Purdhans, are: Rowjee, Wankanees, who has a Jagheer, rated at 5,000 rupees; and who is in great favour with the Raja.—Suddaseo Rao, Muntree, who has a Jagheer rated at 2,000 rupees, and lives at Kolapoor.—Unna, Dubheer, who has a Jagheer of 5,000 rupees, and lives also at Kolapoor.—the Pundit Rao, has three villages in Jagheer, worth 5,000 rupees: he lives in Kolapoor, and has two sons, Gopal Acharry, and Bucha Acharry.—Govind Rao, Suchew, and his brother, have, for the support of both their families, a Jagheer of 5,000 rupees, and Anund Rao, Moozumdar, has a Jagheer, rated at 5,000 rupees. Bulwunt Rao Chitnees, otherwise Buer Rao, is of the Khuradee sect, has an enam village, in the district of Hookeree, rated at 3,500 rupees.

NARRAEN RAO BHONSLAY, commonly called Khunwuttakur.*—This person is the brother of the Raja's father, who was adopted by the widow of Sumbhajee, the last of the lineal descendants of the great Sivajee: his Jagheer is 12,000 rupees.

DHONDOO RAO, son of Appajee Rao, Nimbhalkur, of the Watar family, had a Jagheer granted to him six years ago, rated at 12,000 rupees. He resides at Kolapoor. His sister (since dead) was married to the present Raja of Kolapoor.

GHATGAY OF KAGUL,‡ Jue Singh Rao,† styled Hindoo Rao, as well as his brother, are in Sindhia's camp. Their mother, who is half sister to the Raja, resides at Kagul, the ancient hereditary possession of the family.

NEELKUNT RAO SINDHIA, of Menowlee, styled Sena-Sahib-Sooba, holds Jagheers, rated at 12,000 rupees.

NARRAEN RAO KHANWELKUR, is nephew to Jeejajee Rao Khanwelkur, who had lately charge of the fort of Kolapoor, with large Jagheers assigned to him for its support, but which have been lately resumed. An enam village, rated at 7,000 rupees, is all that remains for the support of the family. Door-ga Bacc, the late pugnacious Ranee of Sawunt Waree, belonged to this family, and another member of it is a well known officer under Dowlut Rao Sindhia.

THE DESSAYE OF WUTMOOREE, has an estate rated at 8,000 rupees; and resides, principally, at Kolapoor.

THE DESSAYE OF JULALPOOR, is of a very ancient family, and has an estate rated at 4,000 rupees.

The foregoing account of the Kolapoor Purdhans and Jagheerdars, is not derived from a very authentic source, and is inserted in this publication, because no better account is procurable.

To have rendered the work more complete, I should have here inserted an account of the Dessayes of the Southern Mahratta country, the principal of whom are those of Dumul, Havanoor, Jambootee, Noulgoond, Jalihal, Talikot, Hoongoond, Bagulkot, Hutanee, &c. Their names, and the registered estimated value of their estates, which are freehold, is the only authentic information concerning them, which I have been fortunate enough to meet with.

SAWUNT WAREE.

THE DESHMOOK OF SAWUNT WAREE, is an independent prince, ruling over a small territory, yielding about two lacks of rupees, situated between Goa and Malwan. The Collector, at Rutnageery, is the British Agent with this state. Khem Sawunt, from whom this family traces its origin, was an officer under the Beejapoor Kings, and held charge of Khoodal Prant,* during the declining period of that monarchy. He formed an alliance with Sivajee Bhonslay, who at this time was rising to sovereignty; and having seized upon the rights of all the Dessayes, assumed, and was confirmed by Sivajee in, the titles of Dessaye, and Sur-Dessaye, of Sawunt Waree. He agreed to pay half the revenue to Sivajee, after deducting the usual percentage as Deshmook; and to maintain a contingent of Infantry, for the other half. He reigned twelve years, and was succeeded by his son, Poond Sawunt, who joined the cause of Tara Bacc, of Kolapoor, in 1707, and died, after a reign of seven years. His brother, Lukum Sawunt, succeeded, and appears to have been the most distinguished personage of the family. The Kolapoor forces, under Ramchunder Punt, Bowrakur, the Amat, invaded Sawunt Waree, and it was only saved from entire subjugation, by the intervention of Ghorpuray Enchul-Kurinjeekur, who accompanied the invading army, and who bore in mind favours, which had been conferred upon him by Poond Sawunt. Luckum Sawunt, at this time, says the legend, assumed the name of Bhonslay; and, having taken possession of Baccewaree, the only place remaining to the Moghuls, in the Konkan, assumed the insignia of an independent prince. He died, after a reign of twenty four years, without children, and was succeeded by his nephew, Khem Sawunt, the son of his brother, Poond Sawunt, who reigned thirty two years. He was succeeded by his nephew Poond Sawunt the son of his brother, Nar Sawunt, in whose time Salsee was taken possession of by Angria. Poond Sawunt had eleven sons, the eldest, Nar Sawunt, was killed in an affray, arising in an attempt to seize him, by his father's orders; who, grieved at the occurrence, resigned the Gaddee in favour of his grandson Ramchunder, son of the deceased, and then only four years of age,—giving him his uncle, Jueram Sawunt, as manager: he reigned seventeen years, and was succeeded by his son, Khem Sawunt, a minor. During his minority, Jeoram Subnees managed affairs for twelve years. Khem Sawunt had four wives: the 1st, Lukshmee Bae, was the sister of the distinguished Junkoojee Sindhia; 2d, Doorga Bae, of the house of Khanwelkur, of Kolapoor; 3d, Nurmada Bae; and 4th, Sawectree Bae, the daughter of Ghatgay, of Kagul. He had, however, no male issue, but several daughters. On Khem Sawunt marrying into Sindhia's family, he received some privileges of nobility, and took the style, and title, of Raja, Khem Sawunt, Buhadur, Surdessaye. From this time, (about forty years ago,) the Sawunt Waree and Kolapoor states were frequently at war. Their disputes were at length referred to the Peshwa, who induced them to make mutual restoration of rights and territories which each had usurped from the other. Khem Sawunt afterwards went to war with the Portugueze, invaded the Goa territory, and took from them the district of Chowkul. After his death, Lukshmee Bae became regent; and, having no children, Son Sawunt, styled Aba Sahib, and Shreeram Sawunt, styled Rao Sahib, grand uncles of the late Raja, began intriguing to have their sons adopted by Lukshmee Bae. The dispute ran high, and the former took possession of Rairee and Eshwuntgurb, in which last place, being besieged by Shreeram, he set fire to the house, in which he resided, and perished with all his family except his son, Poond Sawunt, who continued shut up in Rairee, while Shreeram Sawunt ravaged the open country. He attempted to wrest the government from Lukshmee Bae; and she was obliged to promise, that his son, Bhow Sahib, should be adopted by her. At this time, the Kolapoor army invaded the Waree country, but Appa Dessaye Neepaunkur, having come to their assistance, the Kolapoor troops returned within their own boundary, and Neepaunkur remained. Poond Sawunt then visited the Raja of Kolapoor, at his Capital, and soon after his return to Waree, Bhow Sahib was found strangled. An insurrection afterwards took place, headed by an impostor, who assumed his name, and who is said to be now living in the town of Mhar near Bankoot. At this time Soobarao Ghatgay, who was in the service of Neepaunkur, brought his grandson, Bapoo Sahib, the son of Poond Sawunt, then five years of age, from Torghul to Waree, and endeavoured to persuade Lukshmee Bae to adopt him; but, failing, Bapoo Sahib was taken back to Torghul, and the Neepaunkur's troops returned to their country. Lukshmee Bae, after a turbulent reign of seven years, died. Doorga Bae succeeded, and committed the charge of affairs to Poond Sawunt; during whose time the company found themselves obliged to interfere, and a treaty was made; by which Vingorla changed owners. Doorga Bae died about eight years ago. During her dotage, and Bapoo Sahib's minority, affairs were managed, but very badly, by Chundrapa, the Killadar of Hunmuntgurb, and Sumhajee Sawunt, a dependent of the family. Bapoo Sahib now reigns.

THE FAMILY OF HEERA-CHUNDAGURH. Myna Bae, the widow of the late chief, now holds this estate, which is rated, on the records, at 14,373 rupees. The fort of Gundhargurb, where the family reside, is six miles from the town. The district is a jungly and hilly tract, situated about thirty five miles W. 6 N. of Belgaom, and about twenty miles from that part of the Syhadree range, which bounds the Waree country. In the confusion, which prevailed during the minority of the last Khem Sawunt of Waree, his uncle, Nagh Sawunt, established himself in this district, and the present possessor is his son's widow.

CHIEFS IN THE NORTHERN KONKAN.

THE RAJA OF JOWAR, Puttung Shah, is of the Koollee tribe. He was invested with the chiefship, in December, 1822, by the British Government; but, being a minor, the conduct of affairs was entrusted to his mother, Sugoona Bacc, Rancee. The territory is a mountainous tract, situated below the Syhadree range, N. E. of Tanna, containing many fertile valleys; but cultivation is greatly neglected: the population is composed of predatory Koollee, and other jungle, tribes, who are mostly armed with bows and arrows, spears, or matchlocks. Joyah Mookney, the founder of this petty state, established himself in the strong country about Jowar, nearly 500 years ago, and subsisted by freebooting. He was succeeded by his son, Nem-Shah, on whom the emperor of Delhi, by imperial Firman, conferred the title of Raja. In A. D. 1758, the Raja possessed the whole of the country, which lies immediately below the Syhadree range, from the latitude of Basscen to the Damungunga: he then had ten forts, and held also the Foujdaree of Bhowndy. His land revenue was rated at 1,00,000 rupees; but the exactions from travellers, and merchants, amounted to about 2,50,000 more, making his total revenue 3,50,000 rupees. Previous to 1760, quarrels had arisen with the Poona State; which, subsequently to this date, assumed a right of interference in the family feuds. In 1766, Puttung Shah, the grandfather of the present raja, had been adopted by the widow of his predecessor, and established upon the Gaddee by the help of the Peshwa, by whose encroachments the estate was reduced, about this time, to its present limits, yielding a revenue of 15, or 20,000 rupees, but burdened with a fixed tribute of 1000 rupees per annum, and a Nuzur on the investiture of every new Raja. The Jowar, and Gunjad, districts, produce a good deal of timber. The Raja is within the jurisdiction of the Collector of Tanna.

RAJA OF PENTH AND HURSOOL, Lukshudeer, styled Dulput Rao, is descended of a very ancient Rajpoot family, the chief of which, at some unknown period, was converted to Mahomedanism. It does not appear, that the Poona Government had ever interfered with this estate, until 1790, when Chimnaje, the father of Lukshudeer, incurred a debt of 25,000 rupees, to the Peshwa's Mamulutdar of Nassik, who, in consequence, attached it. Chimnaje then appealed to the Peshwa, and agreed to pay a Nuzur of 1,25,000, (which, with the original debt, and interest, amounted eventually to 1,75,000 rupees) in nine yearly instalments. In 1801, the estate was sequestrated; and in 1805, we find Lukshudeer, who is a Mahomedan, receiving a subsistence of 2,500 rupees yearly; and Neelkunt Rao Dulvee, also styled Dulput Rao, of the Hindoo branch of the family, receiving 1,500 rupees per annum. In 1813, the former was reduced to 1,800 rupees, and the latter to 750 rupees. The revenue realized in the territory, in 1813, by the accounts, was 18,000 rupees; though it is calculated to realize about 35,000. The estate has since been restored to the Raja, but a tribute of 3,500 rupees, is paid, annually, to Government. The territory, comprizing ninety-nine villages, situated in the midst of thick forests, is in length, from the Wag River, north, about fifty miles, and about twenty miles in breadth. The country is extremely poor, and the inhabitants, are principally, Koollees. Both Rajas could not command 100 horse and foot, exclusive of Bowmen. They are under the agency of the Collector of Ahmednugur.

BHEEL NAIKS IN THE ADJUNTA RANGE, WESTWARD.

that portion of the Adjunta range, adjoining the fort of Untoor; and with his Bheels, whose numbers were constantly fluctuating, he ravaged the country, and carried off the cattle both above and below the Ghats. He has been lately settled at Bhurgaom, a town about forty miles south east of Dhoolia, where he enjoys a pension from the British Government, of 400 rupees annually, and Enam lands in the neighbourhood. His followers are also now living in their villages in the plain, and cultivating the soil for their subsistence.

SAIBA WULUD MADH, NAIK, GAEKWAR NAIK OF THE SATMALLA HILLS. This chief had his huttee close to the Adjunta pass. He was one of the wildest, and most savage, of the Bheel Naiks in this range; but is now quietly settled, with about thirty of his followers, at Gunéshpoor, a village in Khandes, about sixty miles south of Dhoolia. The rest of his followers, who were as wild and savage as their chief, have also taken to the plough. Saiba Naik receives a pension, of 660 rupees annually, from the British Government.

RORA WULUD SECOO, NAIK MORA AR NUDDEE. The Ar Nuddee is a small mountain rivulet, which takes its rise in the Adjunta hills, about fifteen miles westward of the Amba Ghat, and on the bank of which this chief formerly had his huttee. He, like the other Naiks of the Adjunta hills, has now taken to the plough, and is settled, with his followers, at Peepree, a small village, about twenty five miles east of Maligaom. He receives a pension from the British Government, of 1,500 rupees per annum.

SEEOORAM WULUD NUND, NAIK OF GOOJURDUREE, is a descendant of Chundee Naik, a man of great influence, about fifteen years ago, in the Patoda, and other districts, North of the Godaveree. He died a prisoner in the fort of Unkaee, and Seeoram Naik is now settled at a small hamlet, close to Jateegaom, with about forty followers, who cultivate for their subsistence. This chief has a small pension from the British Government, and considerable claims on that of the Nizam.

DAOO WULUD ABJEE, NAIK, Huttee Sukapooree. A nephew of Kal Naik, another chief of notoriety in the stormy times, about thirty years since. This young man is now settled at the plough, with about thirty followers, at Roela Boojrook, a village about fifteen miles south west of Kunnur. He receives a small pension from the British Government, and has also some claims on the Nizam.

SUTWA, NAIK. The Huttee, or encampment, of this Naik was at Satkoond, a place about fifteen miles west from the town of Kunnur. It was here, also, that his uncle Panjee Naik, a man of great influence amongst the Bheels, resided, about twenty-five years ago, at the head of a large body of followers, and preserved the tranquility of the country. It is said, that, during REMARKS ON THE BHEELS.—The Bheels are considered to be in common with the Koolies of Gujerat, and the Gonds of the eastern part of the peninsula, or Gondwana, the remains of the aborigines of India. Their numbers are greatly kept up by constant accessions from the plains; and wretches of desperate fortune, such as have, by crime or misfortune, been ejected from their caste, or profession, flock to their standard. There is nothing in their ideas, either of morality or religion.

When pursued, they evince uncommon dexterity; and a Bheel, with a child on each shoulder, will spring from rock to rock, and from bush to bush, with as much dexterity as a wild goat; and, when pushed, will coil himself up in a bush, so snugly, that his pursuer will, in all probability, pass without observing him. Although they are generally armed with bows and arrows, they take a few matchlocks with them when they expect much opposition. They never poison their arrows, and generally fire from ambush. They frequently shift their quarters, and a Huttee, or Bheel village, is soon formed.

The Bheels are by no means deficient in intelligence; are lively, patient of fatigue, and vigilant. They are attached to their offspring; and, when pursued, make a desperate resistance at some particular point, until their wives and children have had time to escape, in an opposite direction, when they take to their heels.—Extract from Asiatic Journal, 1821.

Panjee Naik's life time, the Bheels remained quiet, but that disturbances broke out almost immediately after his death. Sutwa Naik is now settled at Boltek, a small hamlet close to Champaner, with about fifty followers, who have all taken to the plough. This Naik receives a small pension from the British Government, and has also considerable claims on the Nizam.

KISHNEEA WULUD ANKHOOS, NAIK. The father of Kishneea Naik had his huttee at Hunmunt Soonda, near the Gaotala Ghat. This was formerly one of the principal passes from Aurungabad into Khandes, through the Adjunta hills. But it is now scarcely practicable for laden cattle. Kishneea Naik has a small pension from the British Government, and resides in a hamlet close to Kunnur, where, with about thirty followers, he has taken to the plough. He likewise has claims on the Nizam's Government.

BAPOO WULUD RUTTUN, NAIK, Huttee Nangeerghur—a small fort, now in ruins, a short distance from Kunnur. Bapoo Naik is now settled at Pulasgaom Khoord, a village about five miles south of Kunnur, with fifteen or twenty followers, who have all taken to the plough. Bapoo Naik receives a trifling pension from the British Government, and he has also, like the other four Naiks, above named, claims on the Nizam.

There are several other Naiks living in the districts, below this part of the range, of Adjunta hills; but they are too inconsiderable, to deserve notice here.

I regret that I am unable to give an account, in this place, of the Bheel Naiks in the Sautpoora range, who furnished employment for so large a portion of our disciplined troops in Khandes, in 1818-19: or of the Ramoosy Naiks, and their followers, in the hills within the Poona Collectorate, and in the adjacent territory of the Punt Suchew, and the Konkan, who have, in like manner, during the present year, (1827-28,) given employment to large detachments from the troops in their vicinity.

JAGHEERDARS, &c.

THE NOBLES, AND OFFICERS, UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF HYDRABAD.

Lineage of the Soobehdar of the Deccan, commonly, called the Nizam.

NIZAM-OOO-MOOLK, otherwise ASIF JAH, the founder of the present dynasty of Hyderabad, was deputed from Delhi, to the Deccan, as viceroy, in 1713; assumed sovereignty over all the Moghul possessions, south of the Nerbudda, in 1723; and died at Boorhanpoor in March, 1748, in the 78th year of his age. He left six sons, and six daughters, by various mothers. The eldest, legitimate, daughter was married to Khajeh Baba Khan, the Soobehdar of Lahore, and the younger to the Nuwab Mootuwussil Khan, afterwards the father of Moozuffir Jung.

The eldest, legitimate, son, Ghazee-ood-deen, was, at the time of his father's death, employed at Delhi, as his representative at court, and was confirmed in the succession to his posts and honours. He assembled an army in 1752, to assert his right to the musnud of Hyderabad, then occupied by Sulabhut Jung; but having, on his arrival at Aurungabad, accepted an invitation from the mother of Nizam Ali, he ate of a poisoned dish, and died, in September of that year.

NASIR JUNG, the second, or youngest, legitimate son, succeeded his father in the Government of the Deccan, but was assassinated at Arcot, by Himmud Bahadur, the Nuwab of Kurnool, in 1750. He was succeeded by his nephew, MOOZUFFIR JUNG,* who reigned a few months, and was also assassinated by the Patan Nuwabs.

SULABHUT JUNG, the third son, but eldest illegitimate, succeeded his nephew, and reigned till 1762, when he was imprisoned at Beder, by his brother, Nizam-ood-Dowla, otherwise Nizam Ali; where he was strangled, it is said, the following year.

NIZAM ALI, the 5th son, succeeded to the throne in 1763; and, having been concerned in many great political changes in India, died in 1803, after a long reign, remarkable for vicissitude, intrigue, and crime. During his reign, the Hyderabad dominions were greatly extended, and a distinct, perhaps permanent, boundary acquired, by treaties with neighbouring states.

The fourth son, Busalut Jung, was appointed governor of Beejapoor, in 1756; but that province being ceded to the Mahrattas in 1760, the districts of Adoni, Rachoor, and Guntoor, were granted to him in Jagheer. With Adoni for his capital, he then endeavoured to establish an independent principality, and his conquests from the Mahrattas, at length, gave him the Krishna for his northern boundary, and Tippoo's dominions for his southern.

The sixth son, Moghul Ali Khan, otherwise Meer Moghul, took part with Rugonath Rao, against his brother, in 1761: but returned the following year, and threw himself on his clemency: He commanded a division of the Nizam's army in 1786, in the war against Tippoo; was some time after committed to prison at Beder; and was enlarged in 1796, by his nephew, Ali Jah, then in rebellion; when he returned to reside at Hyderabad. He left one son.

Of the six sons of Nizam-ool-Moolk, descendants of two of them only, are of any consideration in the Deccan: viz. of Nizam Ali, and Busalut Jung. Gazee-ood-deen, however, left a son, named Meer Shaboodeen, who succeeded to his father's posts, and honors, at Delhi; and, shortly after, became vizier of the empire. He was equally remarkable for talents, ambition, and wickedness: after bearing a conspicuous part, in the troubles and crimes of the period, at Delhi, he is said to have visited the Deccan, and, as if to fill up the measure of his guilt, suggested to the ill-fated Rugonath Rao, his accession to power by the murder of his nephew, Narraen Rao. He afterwards made a pilgrimage to Mecca, and, returning from thence, died at Kalpee, in Hindoostan, in the year A. D. 1800. He left a number of children, but two only of his sons were legitimate, and they receive a pension of 6,000 rupees a year, from the Nizam. Nizam Ali* had eight sons, by his different wives. Ali Jah, the eldest, raised a rebellion, in 1796, against his father, which was suppressed by the French Corps, under Monsieur Raymond; and Ali Jah fell into his hands: this officer was conveying his prisoner to Court, with the respect due to the heir apparent, but, on the route, having received orders from the minister to cover up the Howdah in which the prince rode, after the manner of women, the prince, whether from shame, grief, or despair, took poison. SEKUNDUR JAH, the second son, and present Nizam, commanded the Hyderabad contingent, which joined Lord Cornwallis, in the war against Tippoo, in 1791; and succeeded his father on the musnud, in 1803. The third son, Furreedoon Jah, together with his brother, Jumshaid Jah, who was the fifth son, are both deceased, and their sister is married to the Nuwab, Shums-ool-Oomra. The fourth son, Jehandur Jah, is deceased. The sixth is Akber Jah, brother, by the same mother, to the present Nizam: he is a Munsubdar of 12,000, and has a personal allowance of 72,000 rupees a year. The seventh son is Sooleemun Jah. And Kywan Jah, the eighth, or youngest, son, was born in July 1799.

Busalut Jung died in 1788, leaving three sons: the eldest, Mohubut Jung, styled Dara Jah, gallantly defended Adoni, in 1787, against Hydur Ali, until succoured; Adoni, however, was nearly destroyed, and Mohubut Jung removed his residence to Rachoor, where he died in 1794. His second son is Roostum Jung; and third, Shah Boodee Khan.

Mohubut Jung left, on his death, one son, a minor, Ghoolam Hoossain Khan; in whose name a rebellion, against his feudal superior, the Nizam, was raised in 1795, which was suppressed by the Hyderabad Subsidiary Force: his fort, Rachoor, was reduced in March, 1796, and the whole of the territory, acquired by Busalut Jung, now called the ceded districts, was, in 1800, transferred to the East India Company.

SEKUNDUR JAH, who is at present on the throne, is styled the Nizam by Europeans only; his own subjects call him Bundeegan-i-Aalee, literally, Slaves of the Most High. He has only one son by his marriage, named, Meer Tufuzzool Ali, who was born in 1804, and since married to the niece of Mooner-ool-Moolk:—he has also eight natural sons, the elder of whom, Nasir-ood-Dowla, Sumsam-ood-Dowla, and Moobariz-ood-Dowla, are Munsubdars of 7,000; and have each a personal allowance, of 27,000 rupees a year. The two latter are violent characters, and were confined in Golconda in 1816, for repeated outrages, till released on the intercession of the resident.

The most efficient part of the Nizam's military establishment, are six Regiments of Infantry, of 800 men each, who are officered by gentlemen, many of whom are lent from his Majesty's and the Honourable Company's service. They are clothed, armed, disciplined and paid, in every respect, as the regular troops in the Company's service. There are also four Regiments of Cavalry, of 550 men each, commanded by Europeans, but somewhat differently constituted. Besides the above, there is a Regiment of Cavalry of 550 men, and two of Infantry of 650 men each, officered and constituted in like manner, paid by the Nuwab of Ellichpoor, for a description of which see. The parties of the principal Jagheendars are also noticed under their names.

* Nizam Ali lost all power of motion, it is said, by the Palsy, in 1796.

Civil and Military Officers under the Nizam.

THE LATE AZIM-ool-Oomra, styled also Moosheer-ool-Moolk, the able minister of Nizam Ali, left no male issue; his only son having died before him, leaving two daughters, one of whom is married to Sekundur Jah, the present Nizam, and the other, who is illegitimate, to Shah Yar-ool-Moolk. Azim-ool-Oomra was born at Ellichpoor about 1734, began life on an allowance of 50 rupees a month, and was one of the five persons, associated in the murder of Hydur Jung, the dewan of the French party: during his ministry the Nizam acquired an additional territorial revenue, principally by cessions, or conquests, in Berar, and of Tippoo's territory, of ninety lacks of rupees. In 1775 the minister, Rokun-ood-Dowla, was assassinated by order of the Nizam, and the powers of minister were entrusted to a commission of three persons, viz.: Wukar-ood-Dowla, Sumsam-ool-Moolk, and the Roy Royan. In 1783, Moosheer-ool-Moolk, was admitted to a share in this joint ministry, in succession to Wukar-ood-Dowla, deceased; and gradually made himself independent of his colleagues: henceforward he continued to conduct the administration of affairs at Hyderabad, (excepting in the year, 1795-96, while he was a prisoner at Poona) till his death, which happened in May 1804. During his stay at Poona, he effected a treaty with the Peshwa, by which the territory and tribute, obtained by the Mahrattas, by the treaty of Kurdla was again relinquished to the Nizam. He was the founder, and constant promoter, of the Nizam's alliance with the British Government.

MOONEER-ool-MOOLK, (Chunda Meeah) the ostensible Dewan, or prime minister. His grandfather, Sher Jung, accompanied Nizam-ool-Moolk from Delhi, as Padshah-i-dewan, and was appointed Soobehdar of Aurungabad. Mooneer-ool-Moolk was born about the year 1764, and succeeded to his father, in the office of Padshah-i-dewan, in 1792. He married the daughter of Meer Alum; and, in 1809, was appointed his successor. He holds a Jagheer in the Pergunna of Mortizapoor, valued at 3,86,609 rupees, for the maintenance of a party of 541 horse: his salary, as minister, is fixed at six lacks (6,00,000) of rupees per annum, in lieu of fees.* He is a Munsubdar of 5,000. His sister was married to the son of Moosheer-ool-Moolk, and is mother to the wife of the present Nizam. He had two brothers, older than himself; the eldest was master of the household, and died in 1798; the second was Soobehdar of Aurungabad, and died in 1801.

THE NUWAB, SHUMS-ool-OOMRA, Commander of the Paga, (by which he takes precedence, next below the minister) was born in 1781. His Jagheers, (A. D. 1816,) for the support of 4,369 horse, of which 2,200 are considered to form the Paga, or household troops, and 2,395 foot, are estimated at 29,57,301 rupees; and his personal Jagheer at 82,243 rupees a year. He is the grandson of Ghoolam Imam Khan, who struck the first blow, in the assassination of Hydur Jung, in the tent of Nizam Ali, at Aurungabad, about the year 1758. The Nizam, under pretence of having taken medicine, had retired during the transaction.

RAJA, CHUNDOO LALL, is the Peshkar-i-dewan, or deputy to the minister, but is, in point of fact, the real minister, as, by acting for his principal, he presides over every department of the state. He is nephew to Naneck Ram, one of the officers, who came from Hindoostan with Nizam-ool-Moolk, and during many years held an office in the customs, or excise, in Hyderabad;

Note.—The following words, attached to proper names of Mahomedans, are titles, beginning with the lowest grade: 1st Khan, 2d Bahadur, 3d Jung, 4th Dowla, 5th Moolk, 6th Oomra, 7th Jah. Titles granted to Hindoos, are: 1st Rae, 2d Raja, 3d Wunt.

* These fees, on an average of seven years, between 1807 and 1811, produced 17,13,344 rupees per annum.

which office was also held by Chundoo Lall, in the time of Moosheer-ool-Moolk. He is paid by a commission upon the revenue, which produced to him, on an average, between 1807 and 1814, 2,86,390 rupees a year : if it had been fully realized, it should have given an annual average of 8,72,458 rupees. His party consists of 2,000 Cavalry, and 2,350 Infantry. His son, Bala Purshaud, is Killadar of Mulungoor, and has an assignment of 8,666 rupees, for the support of the fort ; and also a personal Jagheer, rated at 11,957 rupees. His nephew is Killadar of Suggur-Shahpoor.

RAJA, GOVIND BUKSH, the brother of Chundoo Lall, and one of the ablest men in the Nizam's Court, was appointed Soobehdar of Aurungabad, and Ellichpoor, in 1807, and intrusted with the whole Civil, and Military, authority in Berar, which he held till about the year 1820 : he now resides at Hydrabad, and has a personal Jagheer, of 12,457 rupees. His eldest son Ram Purshaud, otherwise Ram Buksh, has one, rated at 10,268 rupees a year.

RAJA, KHOOSHAL CHUND, and CHIMNA RAJA RAM, are the ministers of Finance ; the latter, who is the son of the late Roy Royaup, acting by his deputy, Teermak Pundit. He has a Jagheer in the Thunklee, and Waroorh Pergunnas, rated at 15,000 rupees. The former succeeded his brother, the late Raja Kewul Kishen, and holds also the office of Duftur-i-Mal, and Kanoongo, of the Soobeh of Bedar.

SHAH YAR-OOO-MOOLK, is a Munsubdar of 5,000, and has a party of 594 horse, and 176 foot. The Jagheers, held by him, lay principally in the Pergunnas of Tandore, Cheetapoor, Ulpoor, and Owsa ; and of the fort of the latter name he is the Killadar. The portion for troops is rated at 4,83,717 rupees, and for personal expenses at 1,17,282 rupees. Shah, Yar-ool-Moolk, was nephew to Muzzufir-ool-Moolk, who commanded the division of Poonce Pattans at the important, but almost bloodless, battle of Kurda : this division had been equipped at enormous expense, partly by wealthy individuals, of this sect, in Hydrabad ; but they fled, panic struck, from the field at the onset, leaving their standard, to be picked up by the Mahrattas : Muzzufir-ool-Moolk, in this emergency, took the place of his elephant director, who was killed, and shewed a noble example to the Moghuls, together with his nephews, Shah Yar-ool-Moolk, Munsoor-ood-Dowla, and Ahmed Ali Khan, who, with a few adherents, recovered their standard, though they could not restore the day. Munsoor-ood-Dowla has a personal Jagheer, rated at 10,306 rupees a year.

RUFFUT-OOO-MOOLK, is a Munsubdar of 4,000 : his great grandfather was Meer Baba Khan, Bahadur, a native of Bokhara, who was in the service of Aurungzeeb. Two of Meer Baba's three sons, viz. : Syed Zureef Khan, and Syed Lushkur Khan, styled Rokun-ood-Dowla, who afterwards performed a conspicuous part in the transactions of his time, accompanied Nizam-ool-Moolk to the Deccan ; and from these are descended several of the nobles, and great officers, under the Nizam's Government. The son of Syed Zureef Khan were, Syed Meeruk Khan, and Syed Yoosoof Ali Khan : the former at first served Busalut Jung, who conferred on him the title of Zoorawar Jung ;* that of Ruffut-ool-Moolk being conferred on him by Nizam Ali, who appointed him to the charge of the districts, about Nandeir. He left several sons, besides the present Ruffut-ool-Moolk, who succeeded to his civil charge, and also the command of his party ; but he has since been dispossessed by Raja Chundoo Lall, of the greater part of his Jagheer, which is now rated only at 25,000 rupees.

AMEEN-OOO-MOOLK, † (Tara Meeah,) brother to the minister, holds, together with his son, Doorgahee Koolly Khan, for the payment of troops, and personal allowance, Jagheers in the Pergunnas of Yedlabad, Saugur, &c. estimated at 2,08,084 rupees. He is perhaps the wealthiest noble of the Nizam's Court.

DOORGAHEE KOOLLY KHAN, has the Pergunna of Alfoor, as a Jagheer, for troops, in his own name, rated at 50,368 rupees; also Jagheers in the Pergunnas of Rakeegaom, and Puttuncheroo, rated at 12,500 rupees.

IFTIKHAR-OOL-MOOLK, is a Royal Munsudbar* of 6,000, and Padshah-i-Bukshee at Hyderabad. It was part of his duty to proclaim, and register, the titles conferred by the Emperor of Delhi; but his functions are now nearly nominal, and he possesses no importance, or weight, at court. He has a personal Jagheer of 13,424 rupees. His brother, Iftikhar-ood-Dowla, has one of 4,118 rupees a year: and his son, Meer Dost Ali, has one of 2,133 rupees.

HISSAM-OOL-MOOLK, otherwise Nizam Yar-ood-Dowla, a Munsudbar of 4,000, Killadar of Kulburga, and also of Eedgeer. He has the Pergunna of Zootbalum, in Jagheer, rated at 54,000 rupees: he served against Tippoo in 1799, and commanded the Nizam's contingent, which accompanied the Hyderabad Subsidiary Force, in pursuit of Muheeput Ram, in 1808. He is a nephew of Meer Alum, the late minister, and is married to a niece of Mooneer-ool-Moolk. His party consists of 169 horse.

THE NUWAB, RUSHEED-OOD-DOWLA, succeeded his father, the Nuwab, Ihtissam-ool-Moolk, as Moonshee-Moomalik, or Chief Secretary of Correspondence. He has no command of troops, but possesses a personal Jagheer. His brother, Wuheed-ood-Dowla, is Killadar of Purinda.

ULLEE YAWUR-OOD-DOWLA, a commander in the Risala: he is the son of the late Nuwab, Noor-ool-Oomra, who was in the service of the late Nuwab of Oude, when invited by his relation, Moosheer-ool-Moolk, into the Nizam's service. He came from Lucknow in 1799, when the command of 3,000 horse, and 2,000 foot, was conferred upon him, with Jagheers for their payment; rated at upwards of sixteen lacks of rupees a year. By the loss of Court favour, his party was reduced to 733 horse (1816), and lands, in the direction of Warangol, assigned for their payment. He was of the Mural tribe.† Nadir-ood-Dowla, the illegitimate son of Noor-ool-Oomra, is married to a daughter of Sekundur-ood-Dowla, and has a personal Jagheer, of 3,720 rupees a year.

SEKUNDUR-OOD-DOWLA, Jagheerdar of Phoolmurree, and a Munsudbar of 4,000, is son to the sister of Moosheer-ool-Moolk. His Jagheer is assumed to be 1,51,062 rupees, whereof 1,38,736 rupees are for the support of his party, 263 horse; and 12,326 rupees are personal. His son, Surfuraz Ali Khan, also has a personal Jagheer, of 10,295 rupees a year.

JULAL-OOD-DOWLA, otherwise Alla Saheb, Jagheerdar of Sangwee, and formerly a Risaldar in the reformed horse. The village of Sangwee is estimated at 4,000 rupees per annum, and his pension, as Risaldar, is 400 rupees a month. He is a grandson of Shah Nuwaz Khan, the author of the Muasir-ool-Oomra, and a principal actor in the politics of the Deccan, between 1744 and 1758, when he lost his life, together with one of his sons, in a tumult, which arose upon the assassination of Hydur Jung.

IMTIAZ-OOD-DOWLA, the eldest, illegitimate, son of Moomtauz-ool-Oomra, who was first cousin to the present Nizam, is Killadar of the Forts of Kalliannee, Moodgul, and Mooshee; towards the support of the first named fort, he has lands in the Talook of Kalliaunee, yeilding 50,692 rupees ; and he has Jagheers besides, which seem to be personal, rated at 2,72,356 rupees a year. His wife was a daughter of Busalut Jung, and his eldest son, Mohna Sahib, is married to a daughter of Sekundur Jah. Mohna Sahib has Jagheers near Kalliaunee, managed by his agent, Suntokrae, rated at 92,311 rupees.

RAJA, RUMBHAJEE NIMBHALKUR, styled Rao Rumbha, a Royal Munsudbar of 7,000. He is the descendant of an enterprizing Mahratta chief, bearing the same name, and title, in the service, first of the Emperor, and afterwards of Nizam-ool-Moolk. The latter conferred upon him, in 1727, the fort and district of Kurmulla, in Jagheer, worth five lacks of rupees ; which descended to his family, till a few years ago, when the rebellious conduct of his eldest son, Khundee Rao, led to the resumption of the Jagheer. Rao Rumbha is now, at the great age of seventy-five years, residing at Hydrabad, on a pension of 100 rupees per diem.

BOOCHUR MULL, formerly deputy to Raja Beer Bhan, one of the principal officers in the financial department, has a party of horse, and foot, and Jagheer assignments for their payment, amounting to rupees, in the district of

BE NUZEER JUNG, and SHUOKUT JUNG, sons of Moeen-ool-Moolk, otherwise Hissam-ood-Dowla, and grandsons to Shuokut Jung, commander of the rear guard, who was killed in the sanguinary battle of Rakshusbowan, in 1763, when the Mahrattas encountered the Moghuls, under Nizam Ali. The first is Killadar of Kummummet, a fort, about 130 miles east from Hydrabad, and has 10,597 rupees for its support.* The latter is Killadar of Bhowangeer, a hill fort, thirty miles N. E. from Hydrabad ; and, besides the fort allowance, has a Jagheer for troops, of 3,000 rupees.

THE TWO SONS OF THE LATE BAIHRAM-OOO-MOOLK, the Jagheerदार of Koolpauk, have succeeded to their father's personal Jagheer, which is rated at 38,767 rupees. The father was the Bobadil of the Nizam's Court, and the sons bear exactly the same character.

JEHANGEER YAR JUNG, Killadar of Oodgeer, and a Munsudbar of 4,000, is grandson to Hissam Moolna Khan, who was an officer under Nizam-ool-Moolk, and son to Suzawar-ool-Moolk. He has one sister married to Rusheed-ood-Dowla, another to Meer Moosa Khan ; and he had a third (since dead) married to Hissam-ood-Dowla. He has an assignment upon Oodgeer Pergunna, for the support of the fort, rated at 34,181 rupees ; and a personal Jagheer, rated at 4,390 rupees. He resides always at Oodgeer, and is addicted to an immoderate use of opium.

HAFIZ YAR JUNG, a Munsudbar of 2,000, has a party of fifty-five horse, and a Jagheer, rated at 13,634 ; † of which 5,290 rupees is personal : he is a respectable man.

ALI YAR JUNG, a Munsudbar of 3,000, has a party of fifty horse, and a personal Jagheer, rated at 57,834 rupees a year. He is the son of the late Mahomed Azeem Khan, a person of considerable consequence under the late Nizam, and a commander in the Paga, under Shums-ool-Oomra.

* This may be considered a personal allowance, as garrisons are generally composed of troops, borne on the regular returns of the army.

† Of the Jagheers, nominally for troops, some are nearly gratuitous, and some amount to a small portion only of the pay of the chiefs' party ; who, in such cases, generally hold assignments upon other lands. Indeed, though the annual military charges of the Hydrabad State exceed 230 lacks of rupees, not more than one fourth of this amount is defrayed from lands, formally granted in Jagheer: on the other hand, we may conclude, that the civil officers, who have small Jagheers, have stipends from the treasury besides.

MORTUZZA YAR JUNG, (Meer Illahee Buksh Khan) Jagheerdar of Runjunnee, Killadar of Untoor, and a Munsubdar of 2,000, is a native of the Punjaub. He was formerly a Bargcer in the service of Suddashee Reddey, the powerful Jagheerdar of Maiduck, and associate in Ali Jah's rebellion. He afterwards collected a small party of horse, and visited Moosheer-ool-Moolk at Poona, when he entered into the immediate service of the Nizam. His Jagheers in the Pergunnas of Nagapoor, Peshor, and Dabary, near Jaliferabad, for the support of 515 horse, are rated at 60,000 rupees. This is a respectable chief, and always civil to European officers, who pass Dabary, where he resides; one of his sons, Murdhan Ali Khan, is a Risaldar in the Nizam's regular horse.

SEKUNDUR YAR JUNG, formerly teacher to the Prince, Sekundur Jah, is the son of the late Mojeen Islam Khan, formerly chief Kazee of Hydrabad: he is good scholar, but bears otherwise an exceptionable character. He is the chief in the Suddur Adawlut, and holds Jagheer assignments, to furnish a small body of troops.

MAHOMED SAHIB, the son of the late Nuwab, Mahomed Idroos Khan, has the Pergunna of Musaloon, rated at 92,367 rupees, for the support of troops: his father, who was a good soldier, had charge of the districts on the Kistna, round Paugtoor; and managed them very well: his grandfather, Mahomed Ameen Khan, an Arab, was an officer of distinction, and served under Lord Cornwallis.

MEER MOOSA KHAN. The Minister, Rokun-ood-Dowla, who was assassinated in 1775, had no family, but adopted his nephew, Ushruff-ood-Dowla, who left one son, the present Meer Moosa Khan. He has Jagheers in the Pergunnas of Pengul, Satoli, &c. amounting to 51,000 rupees. Mokhim Jung, the younger brother of Ushruff-ood-Dowla, has a personal Jagheer of 32,607 rupees a year; and his son, Ahmed Yar Khan, has a Jagheer, for the support of a party of forty-nine horse. The surviving females, of the family of Rokun-ood-Dowla, have each small Jagheers for their support.

AMAUN ALI BEG KHAN, holds the Pergunna of Koolkoonha, rated at 1,93,240 rupees, for the support of troops.

THE NUWAB, BAHADUR-OOD-DEEN KHAN, succeeded his father, Shahmut Jung, as keeper of the state jewels, and valuables.

AZEEM JUNG, Jagheerdar of Purlee, holds personal Jagheers, rated at 45,000 rupees. He is son of Yoosoof-Ali-Khan, and nephew of the first Ruf-fut-ool-Moolk. Yoosoof-Ali-Khan had the title of Meer Joomlu conferred upon him, by the Emperor Mahomed Shah; and, through the influence of his uncle, and father-in-law, Siyud Lushkur Khan, was appointed Soobehdar of Aurungabad. In this situation, he was reported a revenue defaulter, in the sum of eighteen lacks of rupees, of which he repaid half; but the minister, Moosheer-ool-Moolk, not being satisfied, the old man took refuge within the Poona territories, and resided occasionally at Poona, and Ahmednugur, till 1816, when he was reconciled to his own government, and recalled. The Jagheerdar of Peepulgaom, near Dharoor, is called Aazim Jung; his Jagheer is rated at 10,000 rupees.

RAHUT JUNG, otherwise Seedee Assud Oola, a commander in the Infantry, and a Munsubdar of 2,000. He is the son of Dilawar-ool-Moolk, a native of Abyssinia, who commanded the Infantry under Zuffur-ood-Dowla, the powerful Jagheerdar of Neermul, and was killed in an action near Beder, in 1796, fought against Ali Jah. The corps of Rahut Jung, consisted (in 1816) of 1,325 men, in two battalions, which are principally officered by descendants of his own countrymen; and, for their payment, he holds the Pergunna of Hutnoor, estimated at 1,57,404 rupees. He has a personal Jagheer, rated at 10,000 rupees. The principal officer under him, Seedee Miskul Khan, has a personal Jagheer, in the name of his son, Seedee Mahomed, rated at 1,900 rupees.

THE NUWAB OF ELLICHPOOR, Mahomed Namdar Khan, is son of the late Sulabht Khan, and grandson to Ismael Khan. Soobehdar of Ellichpoor, who was killed in an engagement against the Nizam's troops, led by Zuifur-ood-Dowla. He is a Munsubdar of 7,000; but in point of real power, and importance in the state, he stands, perhaps, next to Shums-ool-Oomra. His troops are well appointed, and his cavalry, one regiment, is probably the best in the Nizam's army. His infantry, (1,300 men) is formed into two battalions, well paid, disciplined, and appointed, and under British officers. He also maintains about 1,000 Rohillas, and other irregulars, for the local duties of the districts, which compose his Jagheer, in which Ellichpoor, and Balapoor, are the principal towns. His Jagheer is rated at 15,83,440 rupees, of which 1,36,560 rupees is personal, and 14,46,880 rupees for troops: the Pergunna of Balapoor, alone, is rated at 8,70,000 rupees. Namdar Khan is much attached to the English, and occasionally wears the English dress. His brother-in-law, and Dewan, Futteh Jung Khan, has a personal Jagheer, of 20,000 rupees; and his son has one, of 22,000 rupees a year. The family is of the Ghymehdee sect.

DOOLA KHAN, styled Kurar Nuwaz Khan, a Munsubdar of 700, Killadar of Dharoor, with charge of the surrounding districts, began life as a private horseman. He has a party of 291 horse, and 278 foot, the latter being disciplined, and armed, after the European mode. His personal Jagheer, in the Pergunna of Nuldroog, (in which place he resides,) amounts to 18,600 rupees. He was with the Nizam's army at Seringapatam, and with the contingent, under Hissam-ool-Moolk, in 1808. He has served often with our troops, and is fond of English society; and is a brave, zealous, and active soldier. He occasionally pays a visit to the British cantonment at Sholapoor, and is well known to most of the officers there.

KOOTUB ALI KHAN, a Munsubdar of 3,000, is Jagheerdar of Karinjah, and son to the Nuwab, Soobhan Khan, the associate of Muheeput Ram, in the Government of Berar, between 1804 and 1808. His party, then, consisted of 1,105 horse, and 300 foot; and his Jagheer was rated at 10,11,320 rupees: His party, however, and Jagheer, have both been very much reduced.

RAE SEETUL DOSS, is a first cousin of Chundoo Lall. He commanded the troops, acting against Kona Row, the rebellious Zumeendar of Elgundel, in 1816. His party at present consists of , and they are paid by assignments upon the districts of

THE LATE NEAZ BAHADUR KHAN, an active, enterprizing officer, was killed in an affray in the streets of Hyderabad, between the Punnee, or Ghymehdee, Patans, a faithless, and violent sect, and the other Mussulman inhabitants of the city, on the 3d day of the Mohurrum, in A. D. 1823: it was a religious quarrel, and the Ghymehdee sect were expelled from the Nizam's dominions in consequence, as they had been, before, from the dominions of Tippoo. Raja, Chundoo Lall, selected him to command the body of 4,000 horse, which was to have joined Sir Thomas Hislop's army, in 1815; but he, subsequently, was directed to act, with Soobhan Khan, against the Pindarries.

MAHOMED DAWOOD KHAN, is son to the elder brother of the father of Mu-nuwur Khan, the present Nuwab of Kurnool. He receives 17,000 rupees a year from the Treasury, as a compensation for his family Jagheer, which was resumed, besides a pension from the Nuwab of Kurnool. He is a respectable man, and of some consideration. He has a younger brother, named Khizr Khan, who has a command in Chundoo Lall's party.

LODEE KHAN, a Munsubdar of 4,000, has a party of 105 horse; his Jagheer is rated at 86,836 rupees, of which 63,976 rupees are for the support of his party, and 22,860 rupees are personal. He has two sons, Muhboob Khan, and Poordil Khan.

NADEE ALI BEG KHAN, a Munsubdar of 400. He holds Jagheer assignments upon the Pergunna of Koheer, amounting to 18,783 rupees, for the support of a corps of infantry, which does duty at the Nizam's palace. His son, Hussun Ali Beg, has a Jagheer of 1,600 rupees a year.

MEER ABBAS ALI KHAN, Urzbegee, or receiver of petitions, a master of the ceremonies. This officer has a personal grant, of 1,800 rupees a year, upon Pergunna Bowangeer; and an assignment for troops, upon Pergunna Hutnoor, amounting to 46,000 rupees. He is brother of Rusheed-ood-Dowla.

NOOR MAHOMED KHAN, styled Ali Yar-ood-Dowla, has the Pergunna of Alood, estimated at 1,39,000 rupees, made over to him, for the payment of troops. This officer was formerly a dealer in timber for building.

DILAWUR KHAN, Urzbegee to Chundoo Lall, has assignments upon the Pergunna of Anbural, amounting to 33,000 rupees, for the support of troops.

HUSSIN ALI KHAN, and BAKIR ALI KHAN, are two of the five sons of the late Talib-ood-Dowla, appointed Kotwal of Hydrabad, in 1796; which office he held under three administrations. As he boasted of having no principle, his own character, and the state of the police of Hydrabad, may be judged of. Hussin Ali Khan has assignments for troops, upon Pergunna Neiloor, rated at 62,000 rupees; he is also Killadar of Goolbal, and receives 5,733 rupees for its support. Bakir Ali Khan has Jagheers, rated at 5,000 rupees.

MAHOMED SAHIB, Talookdar of Kunukgeeree, born about 1789, is son of Sultan Meeah, who came, as a merchant, from Hindoostan to Hydrabad; in which capacity he acquired great wealth: He is also Peerzada, or spiritual director, to the Punnee Puttans. His party, consisting of 542 horse, is paid from the revenue of the Pergunna of Kunukgeeree, which is rated at 1,56,000 rupees, and some villages, amounting to 14,000 rupees more. Meer Kuleel Oola, his brother-in-law, has a Jagheer, (Kusba Cheete,) rated at 20,200 rupees.

JAN MAHOMED, (1816 A. D.) commands a corps of 1,428 Infantry, originally formed out of the remains of the French Corps of Mons. Raymond, in which he was a Soobehdar: his men are distributed, some at the Nizam's palace, some in Golconda, and others in the country.

MEER GHOLAM HUSSAIN, has the Pergunna of Sailgaom, valued at 70,000 rupees, for the support of troops.

RAJA, SHUMBOO PURSHAD, is the son of the late Raja, Sheo Purshad: he holds the office of Treasurer to the state, a sinecure.

JUG JEEWAN DOSS is the Vakeel of the Nuwab of Arcot, which office has been held by his family, since 1767. He is a well informed, and respectable man. He has a personal Jagheer in Nurkhora Pergunna, rated at 950 rupees.

KOOWIN NAIN SINGH, succeeded his father, Raja, Puddum Singh, as Killadar of Kowlass, a fort thirty miles N. of Beder; and has an assignment upon the district, rated at 20,046 rupees, for its support.

TRIBUTARIES TO THE NIZAM.

THE RAJA OF SHORAPOOR, Pid Naik, (commonly called the Ramoosy Raja; himself and the greater part of his subjects, being of the Ramoosy tribe.) The ancestor of this chief, having aided Aurungzeeb, in the subjugation of the Beejapoor State, of which he was a subject, was then made a Raja, and a Royal Munsubdar of 5,000. The district of Shorapoor is situated, between the Kistna and the Bheema, immediately above their junction, and is about forty-five miles from east to west, its greatest length. The Raja purchases a nominal independence, by paying an annual tribute to both the Nizam, and Peshwa (1816); the first receives 1,45,000 rupees, the latter claims 85,000 rupees, and each, also, levies a fine, on the accession of a new raja. His family, and also his principal dependents, are Ramoosies. His revenues, formerly, amounted to eight lacks of rupees; but they do not now exceed six lacks. In 1802 the troops, which the Raja had collected, to resist the Nizam's army, were estimated at 4,000 cavalry, 8,000 infantry, and 4,000 Behdurs, or Ramoosies, who form a Militia, but are employed only when urgently required. He probably has not now above 2,000 men, in regular pay. His principal forts are Shorapoor, Wakunkhera, Windroog, and Gurketah.

THE RAJA OF GUDWAUL, Seetaram Bopaul, is of the Koonbee, or cultivating, class. The district of Gudwaul is situated between the Kistna and Toongbudra, just above their junction, and extends about 30 miles from north to south. The accession of his ancestor to rank, and his own relative situation towards the Nizam and Peshwa, appear to be similar to that of the Raja of Shorapoor. The revenues may be about four lacks of rupees a year; the tribute, which the Nizam claims, is 1,20,000 rupees: the Peshwa (1816) claims only 17,500 rupees. The Raja has 500 troops in constant pay, and about 1,000 Behdurs. His principal forts are Gudwaul, Dawur, Borepelly, and Nizamkoonda.

THE ZUMEENDARS IN THE EASTERN PART OF THE NIZAM'S COUNTRY.

RAJA, SAWAIE ASHWARAO, Zumeendar of Pallooncha on the Godavery, and a Royal Munsubdar. The family held the Talooka of Pallooncha in Jagheer, and were obliged to maintain a party of peons in the Fort of Kumummet. The present Raja has a small district assigned to him, for his maintenance, worth about 10,000 rupees a year; the rest of the estate, worth above a lack of rupees, is now under the management of the Government. The Raja's rights have not been entirely abolished; he still retains his titles, &c. and may be restored to his estate, at the pleasure of the Government.

KONA RAO, ZUMEENDAR OF ELGUNDEL, a powerful chieftain, retaining above 1,000 followers, and able to raise twice that number, on any emergency, till 1819, when his forts were reduced by Major Pitman, with the regular troops under British officers, and himself expelled; he remained a fugitive in the forests, to the east of the Godavery, for a short time, and was then brought in on Kowl: he is now under restraint at Hyderabad. His estates are mortgaged to Ameen-ool-Moolk, (Taramceah,) on account of private debts, under guarantee of the Nizam's Government. Kona Rao was, for many years, refractory, and derided the efforts of the irregular troops, which he was well able to do, from the strength of his country, and the number, and bravery of his followers. He used also to plunder the country, for a great distance around. Elgundel is about eighty miles N. of Hyderabad; and the petty Zumeendars in its neighbourhood are always ready to join in any rebellion against the Government.

THE SON OF THE LATE JUGPUTH RAO, of Mulyal, holds half share of the same Zumeendary with Kona Rao; his father was also powerful, and used to ravage the neighbouring districts.

THE FAMILY OF THE GONEWAR-ZUMEENDARS OF CHINNOOR, on the Godavery, in Aramgeer circar, were very powerful, and almost independent, till reduced in 1821, or 22, by the Russell Brigade, under Major Pitman. They could raise four thousand followers, and generally kept up about two thousand; and were the very scourge of the districts, surrounding their estate for many miles. The family is divided into four branches, their estates, collectively, are worth about three lacks of rupees, and are held under a tributary tenure, paying to Government 72,000 rupees a year. The estate is now under the immediate management of the Government officers. Some individuals of the family reside in the district; some are in confinement at Hydrabad; and others are living in the Ellore Circar, as fugitives: they may be restored at the pleasure of His Highness, or of his Minister, Raja Chundoo Lall. This family is closely allied with, and related to, that of Kona Rao, and the late Jugpath Rao, of Mulyal; they are all of the Elma, or Elmewar, cast, which, like the Rajpoots in Hindoostan, forms the soldiery of Tellingana, and claim descent from Purtub Rudhur, one of the last Kings of Warangol, of the Beylal dynasty, but not legitimately.

THE FAMILY OF SEWDASHEO RIDDEY, are still residing in the Maiduck Circar, but in very reduced circumstances. This chief, formerly the powerful Zumeendar of Maiduck, it will be recollected was an associate in Ali Jah's rebellion in 1795. His son raised a rebellion, about two years ago, which was suppressed by the Nizam's regular troops; but he was not taken, and is still a fugitive and rebel.

DISTRICTS OF SURAT.

THE NUWAB OF SURAT, Meer Uzool-ood-Deen Khan, Buhadoor, styled also Hushmut Jung, has independent authority over those families, which reside upon his estate. He has about 1,600 Beegas of land, about three hundred cultivators, two hundred armed attendants, and two hundred servants and slaves. He receives 1,00,000 rupees, annually, from the British Government, and one fifth of the customs collections, and surplus revenues, of Surat, which amount to about 50,000 rupees more.

THE BUKSHEE OF SURAT, Mahomed Moo,een-ood-Deen Khan, is the great grandson of Meer Zeea-ood-Deen, commonly called Shah Meetan, the first of this family, who held the office of Buxshee of Surat. The brother of Shah Meetan, called Meer Moo,een-ood-Deen Khan Achun, was the first Nuwab of this family, and appears to have been recognized, as such, by the Honorable Company, about 1750. The present Buxshee has certain rights upon the revenues of Surat, which realized to him, last year, 12,680 rupees; but he is, otherwise, very wealthy.

The Nuwab, and Buxshee, of Surat are both descendants of Meeah Shah Mukhun, a native of Boorhanpoor, who appears to have settled in Surat, about the beginning of the eighteenth century. In A. D. 1748, Meer Moo,een-ood-Deen Khan, the elder son, commonly called Syed Achun, with the aid of the Mahrattas, under the nephew of Dumajee Rao Gaekwar, expelled the Nuwab, Saffur Khan, then Foudjar, who escaped to Thutha, in Sinde, by way of Bombay. This was the time the Mahrattas obtained their first footing, in Surat. The revenue was divided into three shares; one was assigned to the Buxshee, to defray the debts, due to Hafiz Musaood Khan, an Abyssinian, of great wealth, and son-in-law to the Seedee, then chief of Dhunda-Rajpooree; another was made over to the Mahrattas, and formed part of the cessions, made by the Peshwa to the British Government, by the treaty of Basseen, in 1802; and the third remained with the Nuwab; but, by an agreement, made in 1800, the Company took the Nuwab's share into their own hands, and made the provision for him and his family, which he now enjoys. In the year 1749 a civil war broke out, between Musaood and Syed Achun; when the latter, after being besieged in the castle for eight months, was induced to visit his opponent, who seized, and embarked him for Bombay, whence he proceeded to the Peshwa at Poona, by whose aid he was afterwards restored. But the Seedee, agreed to give him his son, to have retained their independent authority the year 1759 when the English's galleys having succeeded by the divisions in the Seedee's fleet, set out an expedition with the sanction of the Emperor and the Seedee who was succeeded by the Company's Admiral of the East, and an assignment of two lacks of rupees was granted, on the revenues.

THE NUWAB OF SUCHEEN, Seedee, Ibrahim Khan, Buhadoor, is an Abyssinian by descent. He is the son of Balloo Meah, who relinquished his heritable right to the Jinjeera principality, in favour of the Peshwa; who, in consideration thereof, gave him the estate of Sucheen, in June, 1791. The district yields a revenue of 75,000 rupees, and comprizes seventeen villages. He is independent of the British, and every other Government, though his boundary reaches within two miles of Surat.

Bheel Rajas, and Wusawas, occupying portions of the Jungle, East of the Surat districts.

RAJA OF MANDAVEE, Humeersinghjee Doorjunsinghjee, is a Rajpoot. Doorjunsingh, an ancestor of this chief, presented a Nuzur, of 5,000 rupees to the Peshwa, in 1761; which appears to be the earliest record of this family, at Poona. Doorjunsingh's party was then one hundred horse; but it was reduced to fifty, by Rugonath Rao; and afterwards increased to seventy-five, by Mahdoo Rao. In 1767 the Peshwa exacted 30,000 rupees, upon a Surunjam Puttee;* and in 1774, a further sum of 60,000 rupees, from Bhugwunt Singh, then manager of the estate. On Bhugwunt Singh's death, in 1776, the widow of Doorjun Singh adopted Gooman Singh, and presented a Nuzur of 30,000 rupees.† Gooman Singh adopted Doorjun Singh, who succeeded in A. D. 1787, when the Nuzur paid was 75,000 rupees. Doorjun Singh died in December, 1814, and was succeeded by his second cousin, Humeer Singh, the present Raja. The revenue is rated at 1,80,000 rupees; 80,000 of which is grass, or black-mail, collected from the British, and Gaekwar, territories. He pays a tribute of 60,000 rupees to the British Government. The estate is situated on the north bank of the Taptee; the chief town contains about two thousand houses; and the inhabitants are principally Bheels of the predatory tribe. He keeps up about fifteen horse, and thirty-five Sebundies.

THE RAOUL OF BANSDA, Oodé Singhjee Rae Singhjee, a Rajpoot. His country is extremely jungly, and commences about the bottom of the Rhowra Ghat. His chief town and consists of two or three hundred huts, the walls of which are mostly constructed of bamboo wicker-work, sometimes plastered over. He can command about one thousand bowmen among his subjects, but they are peaceably inclined, or timid, and much employed in the distillation of a spirituous liquor, called Mhowra. His revenue is rated at 60,000 rupees, and he pays a tribute of 7,800 rupees to the British Government. In 1758, Oodé Singh first paid chouth, to the Poona state, 4,500 rupees. He died in 1762, and was succeeded by Zoorawur Singh, when the chouth was fixed at 7,500 rupees. The Peshwa's officer interfered in the affairs of the estate in 1779, and put Keerut Singh in possession of it, exacting a Nuzur of 20,000 rupees, besides 12,800 rupees for military charges. In 1791 Veehur Singh, the son of Zoorawur Singh, died, and his half brother, Neahur Singh, succeeded, paying a Nuzur of 29,000 rupees: the son of the latter now has the estate. See Itinerary, page 20.

THE RANA OF DHURUMPOOR, otherwise of Ramnugur, Veejydeo Roopdeo, a Rajpoot. The earliest record of this chief, at Poona, is dated 1779, when

* A Surunjam Puttee commutes the service of the party, for the money required for its payment. This order, or Puttee, was occasionally sent upon chiefs, when the Government wanted money, rather than troops.

† Nuzurs (fines, or fees,) paid on succession to property, is a branch of revenue. A son, succeeding his father in a freehold estate, is not liable to this payment, unless in cases of adoption: a Jagheerdar, or other servant of Government, is always liable to it, on being confirmed: a Nuzur, however, is not limited to this meaning.

‡ The tribute, or chouth, of Bansda, and also of Dhurumpoor, was transferred to the Honorable Company by the Treaty of Basseen, concluded 31st December, 1802.

15,000 rupees was exacted from the Rana, Koor Singh. In 1784, Somdeo, then Rana, died, and his son, Roopdeo, was confirmed in the estate. Three years after, the Rana having displaced Oorted Singh, the manager of the family, to make way for Lukshmun Mallee, a menial servant, the former appealed to the Peshwa, promising at the same time a Nuzur of 5,000 rupees, and the Rana was directed to restore him. In 1801 an order (Surunjam Puttee) was sent upon the Rana, by the Peshwa, for 50,000 rupees, which demand being resisted, a force was sent against him from Basseen, which compelled payment. His territory, which is a thick forest, with scarcely any cultivation, lies between the Gaekwar's districts, and those of the Raja of Penth, and is rated at 1,40,000 rupees: the Company have a share in the transit duties, and have custom chokees in the country. His Military Force consists of about 150 Arabs and Mewattees, and sixty horsemen, besides which he can assemble, nearly, 500 Kolee bowmen. The heir is about eight years of age.

THE RAJA OF RAJPEPLA, Veheerisaljee Narsinghjee, is a tributary to the Gaekwar, to whom he pays 60,000 rupees per annum. His territory is about one hundred miles in length, by nearly as great a breadth. His present revenue is rated at $2\frac{1}{2}$ lacks of rupees, including his Tora grass, or black-mail, on the British territories. He maintains about one thousand troops, besides bowmen.

THE WUSAWA OF WADEE, Raec Singh, can command about two thousand bowmen on his estate, which lies north-west of Mandavee.

THE RAJA OF DANG, or the Wusawa, styled Silput, entertains about three thousand bowmen.

THE WUSAWA (head Bheel) KOONVARIA, has under his control about three thousand bowmen; he lives at Sookhbura, or Sagbaree, about six miles from the north bank of the Taptee, and on the east of Wadee.

THE WUSAWA, JEEWA, resides on the north bank of the Taptee, towards Khandes, and has about two thousand bowmen. This chief was, formerly, a distinguished freebooter in Khandes: having, afterwards, carried his depredations into the Company's Pergunna of Unkuleshwur, (Ocklaseer,) the Gaekwar detached a force against him, in 1814, which drove him to extremity; but not until the Rajpepla territory was nearly depopulated; and five thousand houses were reduced to ashes.

CHOWDREE, NUHANA BHAEE, lives at Nuldhura, a village in the Muhoowa Pergunna (Gaekwar's), and keeps about five hundred bowmen.

THE WUSAWA, RAMJEE, lives at Sisodra, a village in the Unkuleshwur (Ocklaseer) Pergunna, and has under him fifty, or sixty, bowmen, employed as Burtinuyas, or Watchmen, in villages of the Unkuleshwur, and Hansot, Pergunnas.

THE WUSAWA, HURIYA, lives at Wutaria, a village of the Raj; and has about two hundred bowmen under him, distributed also in Hansot, and Unkuleshwur Pergunnas, and some in the Raj.

THE WUSAWA, CHEEDIYA, has under him an hundred, or one hundred and twenty, bowmen, employed in the Gaekwar's Wusravee, and Ghulla, Pergunnas. He resides at Kuntwa.

THE WUSAWA, JERIYA, lives at Asurma-Kunukpoor, in the Wusravee Pergunna, and keeps up about seventy-five bowmen, also distributed in the Wusravee, and Ghulla, Pergunnas.

THE WUSAWA, HANSLA, lives at Kurunjun, a village of the Ghulla Pergunna, and has five hundred bowmen, employed under the command of the

The following is extracted from an account of the Bheels in the same region as those on the opposite page, but communicated after the work had been struck off.

The following Bheel Chiefs, viz. Racc-Singh of Wadee, Kelea Wulvee of Goowalee, Koonwureya of Sookhbarry, and the Wusawa of Gungtha, acknowledge the Raja of Rajpeepla as Lord-paramount. The energies of Jeewa emancipated him from all control of the Rajpeepla Raja, and he had won and established his independence at the period at which he entered into an engagement with the British Government, when it took possession of Khandedsh.

CHUNDUR SINGH of Bodowul, is about three koss north of the Taptee, and ten from Nundoorbar, is of an ancient family related to the Rajpeepla, Chota-Oodeepoor, Burwaney, and Dhurumpoor Rajas, formerly, and many Bheel Naiks were under the control of this family, Raja Parwee, and Pahancheya Parwee, who can assemble about 500 Bheel bowmen, they have each an allowance of 200 rupees, and the Raja himself a thousand rupees annually, paid regularly monthly from the British Government.

THE WUSAWA OF WADEE. This person is known by the name of Racesing Naik, and is father-in-law to Koorwurya Wusawa, of Sagbaree, or Sookhbarry : he may command about 200 bowmen, but he possesses little influence even over them.

THE RAJA OF DANG, or the Wusawa styled Silput.—Silput Raja is the principal of the Dang chieftains, and is a young man of about 26 years of age. Khem Raja, the uncle of Silput Raja, is about 50 years old, a shrewd sensible man, possessing great influence over Silput. There are other petty chiefs in the Dang district, who acknowledge the supremacy of Khem and Silput Raja. Silput has from 50 to 80 Sebundies, and can levy about 3,000 bowmen.

KOONWURYA THE WUSAWA OF SOOKHBARRY, formerly a notorious freebooter, and one of the last who was brought under the control of the British Government, enjoys a nemnookh, or fixed allowance. He resides at Sookhbarry, and can command the services of from two to three thousand bowmen; he has about 40 Arabs, Sindians, and Hubshee, in his employ, some of whom are mounted. This chief is the most active, enterprising, and intelligent of any of the Naiks; he writes Goojratee, but is greatly addicted to liquor: his conduct has, since his being admitted to terms, been generally peaceable, but it is believed that he connives at the mal-practices of his followers. He is supposed the wealthiest of all the Bheels.

KOONWUNTHA WUSAWA OF GUNGTHA, son of the famous Jeewa Wusawa, resides at Chicklee, on the north bank of the Taptee: this family, and that of the Wusawas of Sookhbarry, have a blood feud, Jeewa having put to death the father of the present chieftain;—they are relations. The Gungtha family have acted with uniform good faith to the British Government, and have had a liberal allowance granted to them. They are employed actively in preserving the peace of the country. The family possess much hereditary influence, and for purposes of aggression, could readily command the whole Bheel population.

The following observations on the Bheels in Meywar, and which apply, as far as I can learn, to the same people, spread over the countries further south, have just been communicated to me by a gentleman employed in Rajpootana.

That the Bheels were the original inhabitants of the country now inhabited by the Rajpoots, there can be little doubt. In addition to the proofs mentioned by Sir John Malcolm I may add one which seems to point out that the connexion between the Bheels and Rajpoots is that of conquerors and conquered.* On the succession of a prince to the Gaddee of Oodeepoor, a Bheel is the principal actor in the investiture. He places the Teeka on the Ranah's forehead, and the material used for this purpose is his own (the Bheel's) blood. This is a very remarkable circumstance, as the Bheels on every other occasion are carefully excluded from the Durbar—indeed they are considered as out-casts, and even their Principal Chief in this part of the country, the Row (for he claims that title,) of Jowas though he be a Gassiah, i. e. a descendant from a Rajpoot father by a Bheel mother, was refused admittance to the presence of the Ranah. There can be little doubt but that the above ceremony is emblematical of the sovereigns of this country holding their territories by right of conquest.

A more bloody proof of this connexion also exists—when a Ranah has occasion to pass the Muhee River an individual of a tribe descended from a Chowan Rajpoot by a Bheel mother is sacrificed—his throat being cut and his body thrown into the river. This sacrifice has once been performed during the lifetime of the present Ranah.

Throughout Central India the Bheels answer the description of that excommunicated clan “the children of the mist.” They lead the same predatory life, and many are still the inroads they make upon the plain, levying black mail upon the inhabitants, carrying off cattle and whatever comes in their way.

* The Raja of Mandavee, Dhurumpoor, Bansda, &c. are Rajpoots, but their subjects are Bheels.

Wusawa, Dhoolariya, who lives at Kurunj lundeyat, in the Turkesur Pergunna, and also has under him about an hundred of his own men, distributed in the Turkesur, and Ghulla, Pergunnas.

CHIEFS IN GUJERAT.

THE GAEKWAR, Syajee Rao, styled Sena Khas Kheyl, and Shumsher Bahadur. The founder of this family was Dumajee Gaekwar, a distinguished officer under Dhabary, the Suenaputee; he died in 1720, and was succeeded by his nephew, Peelajee, who, with Kantajee Kuddum Bandy, continued, as Lieutenants under the Suenaputee, to make annual inroads into Gujerat, each being at the head of an army. In 1724, a new Viceroy being appointed from Delhi over the province, to supersede Nizam-ool-Moolk, Harned Khan, his uncle, who was officiating as his deputy, called in the Mahrattas, under Kantajee Kuddum, and gave him battle, first near Ahmedabad, and afterwards at Bussoo. The imperial troops were led by Shujaet Khan, the Foujdar of Surat, and new deputy Governor of the Province, and his brother, Roostum Ali Khan, the Foujdar of Baroda and Pitlaud, who were considered the bravest officers of their time; they were both killed, and the imperial army was annihilated. Peelajee Gaekwar, by whose treachery, in affecting to join Roostum Ali at Bussoo, the overthrow of the latter had been caused, received, as a reward, the chouth of that part of the province, east of the Muhee river, including the Mahals dependant on Surat; while Kantajee had conferred upon him the chouth, west of that river. The Suenaputee, Trimbuk Rao Dhabary, arrived shortly after from the Deccan, and led the whole of the Mahrattas, in the province, to the siege of Cambay; where, a quarrel having arisen among themselves, a battle ensued, and Trimbuk Rao was slain. Ooman Bae, widow of Khundee Rao Dhabary, and mother of the infant Suenaputee, Yeswunt Rao, seems on this to have been vested with the conduct of the family interests in Gujerat, with Kantajee and Peelajee as her deputies. The latter was assassinated, in 1731, by emissaries of Abhee Singh, the Raja of Joudpoor, who had been appointed from Delhi Soobehdar of the Province; and, in 1732, Ooman Bae displaced Kantajee Kuddum from collecting the chouth of the Ahmedabad side of the Muhee, and placed the whole chouth of the province under Dumajee Gaekwar, the son of Peelajee. In this year Baroda, in which Momin Khan commanded for Sher Khan Babi, who officiated as Foujdar for his late father-in-law, Sirdar Mahomed Khan, was besieged during his absence, and taken, after a brave defence, by Dumajee Gaekwar, who defeated the army approaching under Sher Khan Babi, to its relief; and Baroda became, thenceforth, the seat of Government of the Gaekwar family. The devoted province of Gujerat, which for so many years had been a constant field of bloodshed, and oppression, arising out of the weakness, and constant changing of the imperial officers, and the absence of all principle in their annual visitors, the Mahrattas, who never sought a reason to justify an attack upon a weaker power, was destined to change masters. The combined Mahratta forces, under Rugonath Rao, (otherwise, Rugoba Dada, father of the Ex-Peshwa Bajee Rao) and Dumajee Rao Gaekwar, in 1755,* laid siege to Ahmedabad; which, after a gallant defence, conducted by Juwan Murd Khan Babi, capitulated; from which day the royal authority over the province ceased, and was divided between the Peshwa and Gaekwar. Dumajee commanded a division in the disastrous expedition to Hindoostan, in 1760, and was present at Paniput, from which he escaped, and died at Baroda in 1768; leaving four sons, the eldest of whom, Syajee, was an ideot, and the remaining three reigned in succession: two of Dumajee's sons, viz. Syajee and Futteh Sing, married ladies of the family of Kuddum Bandy. Govind Rao, the second son, but the last on the gaddee, died in 1800, leaving three legitimate children, the two elder of whom have successively reigned, and passed away, and the youngest, Syajee, is now at the head of the Government. His eldest son is named Rao Sahib. The Gaekwar's share of the revenues of Gujerat are rated at 75,00,000 rupees per annum.

* I have taken most of the dates from Grant Duff, the facts principally from Mac Murdo; not having troubled myself, to examine Manuscripts on points, in which these respectable officers differ. It is subject for regret, that the late Captain Mac Murdo's account of the early, annual, incursions of the Mahrattas, into Gujerat, is not published. I am indebted to it for the greater part of the next two or three pages.

The efficient military establishment of the Gaekwar Government is the Subsidiary Force, which consists of five regiments of infantry, completed to 800 men each, two regiments of cavalry, and a company of artillery. The maintenance of this force has been provided for by territorial cessions, as determined by treaty with the British Government in 1818. By the same treaty, he also engages to keep up a contingent of 3,000 irregular horse, which is to act, as occasion may require, with the Subsidiary Force. Other troops are maintained, for the purposes of revenue collections, and police.

Tributaries of the British and Gaekwar Government.

THE NUWAB, OR DEWAN, OF PAHLUNPOOR, Futteh Khan. He derives his descent from a tribe of Afghans, who, according to the Akbar Namu, occupied Bahar in the reign of Humayoon, Emperor of Delhi: hence the family name of Beharee, or Veharee. The tribe, it would appear, afterwards took possession of Jalore, in Malwa; and their chief, Bahadoor Khan, was confirmed, as Foujdar, by Akbar: which office remained, hereditary, in the family, to the reign of Aurungzeeb. This Prince, in order to accommodate his differences with Ajeet Sing, Durakdass, and other rebellious chieftains, of Marwar, transferred Jalore to them, dispossessing the Beharees, who were obliged to remove to Pahlunpoor and Deesa; the office of Foujdar over these places having been, previously, granted to them. Phar Khan, Jaloree, who was Foujdar in 1735, was obliged to pay one lack, as tribute, to the Mahrattas; but joined Momin Khan, the imperial officer in 1737, and 1739, and took part against them. Buhadoor Khan was Foujdar in 1759, when Pahlunpoor was besieged by the Mahrattas, under Sudasheo Ramchunder; to whom, after a month's fighting, during which the whole of his country was plundered, and laid waste, he was obliged to pay 35,000 rupees. Some Bramins of Jalore still do homage, yearly, to the Dewan, for villages received from his ancestors. The present Dewan is son of Feroze Khan, who was murdered by a faction of Sindhee Jemadars, in 1813. The revenue is rated at 2½ lacks of rupees, of which 50,000 is paid, as tribute, to the Gaekwar. Deesa is a dependency.

THE NUWAB OF DEESA, Shumshere Khan, was appointed guardian to his nephew, Futteh Khan of Pahlunpoor, through British influence, in 1813: he was persuaded also, having no male heirs, to relinquish all claims to Pahlunpoor, on his own account, to give his only daughter to Futteh Khan, and to constitute him heir to his Deesa possessions.

THE NUWAB OF RADHUNPOOR AND SUMMEE, Zoorawur Khan Babi. The Babi* family appears to have been ancient and powerful in Gujerat. An ancestor, Sher Khan Babi, was Thanadar of the district of Chowaul, in 1659; and, in 1713, Juwan Murd Khan, a grandson, was appointed Foujdar of Radhunpoor: he had several sons, the elder of whom, bearing the samename, is conspicuous, in the annals of the period, in Gujerat. He was appointed, by the Soobehdar of the Province, Mobaruz-ool-Moolk, Foujdar of Summee and Moonjpoor in

* See the Nuwab of Balasinore.

1726; and Mahomed Anwur, his brother, was at the same time appointed Foujdar of Radhunpoor. In 1731, Juwan Murd Khan had the Foujdaree of Beerungaoon conferred upon him, by Abhee Singh, then Soobehdar; in reward for his success, in negotiating a peace with the widow of the Suenaputee, and had assembled an army, to avenge the assassination of her deputy, Peelajee Gaekwar: he was then acting as Foujdar of Baroda, for his late father-in-law, Sirdar Mahomed Khan; but chanced to be absent, when it was besieged, and taken, by the Mahrattas in the following year. He also farmed the Pergunnas of Kuree and Beejapoor; and in 1733, being unable to realize sufficient to pay the rent, from the distressed state of the country, he proceeded on a plundering excursion into Eedurwara. While he was besieging Eedur, the Mahrattas, under Ranoojee Sindhia, and Holkar, unexpectedly arrived, on their way from Malwa into Gujerat, and took part with the besieged, and exacted a large fine from Juwan Murd Khan, detaining his brother, Zoorawur Khan, as a hostage, for its payment. He was appointed Foujdar of Puttun by Momin Khan in 1736, who had, by a royal decree, been appointed to the Nizamut. In short, after an active participation in the troubles, and excesses, of the period, he at length, on the death of Momin Khan, in 1743, assumed charge of the Soobeh, ostensibly for Abdool-Uzeez-Khan, then Killadar of Joonere, who had been appointed from Delhi. This Soobehdar, however, when on his march from the Deccan, was encountered, and defeated near the Kim Kutodra, and slain by his pursuers, while attempting to cross the Nerbudda on horseback. Fukhir-ood-Dowla was then sent from Delhi, to succeed as Soobehdar, having paid a Peshcush of two lacks of rupees; after evincing great valour and exertion, and being deserted by Sher Khan Babi, and Raja Rae Singh, of Eedur, with their troops, he was taken prisoner by the Mahrattas, under Rungajee, the agent of Dumajee Gaekwar, and auxiliary of Juwan Murd Khan. In 1746, Rungajee exerted himself to reinstate Fukhir-ood-Dowla, and again persuaded Sher Khan Babi and Raja Rae Singh, to join him; when they laid siege to Ahmedabad. Rungajee's proceedings, however, were disapproved of by Dumajee, and Juwan Murd Khan continued in charge of the Soobeh, till 1755, when the city was besieged by the Mahrattas, and obliged to capitulate:* Juwan Murd Khan retired to Puttun; but four years after he assisted in the second siege of Ahmedabad, when it was defended by Momin Khan. Some years afterwards the heirs of Juwan Murd Khan, were deprived of Puttun, and some other places, by Dumajee, who was desirous of weakening the power and influence of this family. The present Nuwab succeeded his father, Sher Khan, in 1824: he is the fourth, in descent, from the second Juwan Murd Khan. His revenue is about 1,50,000 rupees a year, and he sends a horse and clothes, yearly, to the Gaekwar, in token of being his tributary: he keeps up a Military establishment of about sixty horse, and 550 infantry.

THE NUWAB OF CAMBAY, Bunde Ali Khan, succeeded to his brother, Futteh Ali Khan, in 1822. These were sons of Momin Ali Khan, who was related to, and succeeded Muftakur Khan, as Mootusuddee of the Chowreasse, (or district of 84 villages,) of Cambay. Cambay, formerly the principal seaport of Gujerat, is now the capital of a small compact territory, comprehended between the Muhee and Saburmuttee rivers, on the east and west, and by the British and Gaekwar possessions, on the north. The revenue is rated at about 2,50,000 rupees; the Chouth was ceded by the Peshwa, to the Company, in the treaty of Bassein, and is rated, in the schedule annexed to the treaty, at 60,000 rupees. The company also possess half the customs, which, last year, realized 34,096 rupees.

The degeneracy of their descendants should not operate, as a check, to perpetuating the achievements of the illustrious dead; and as it is my purpose to notice more particularly those, whom others have passed over, let this be my apology, for a longer notice of the first, as well as the second, Momin Khan, otherwise styled Nujeem-ood-Dowla. The first Momin Khan is conspicuous in the annals of Gujerat, from 1725, till he succeeded the Maharaja, Abhee Singh, as Soobehdar of the province, in 1736. He retained this charge till his death, which happened in 1743, when the care of the province, by a royal Firman, was entrusted, jointly, to his son, Muftakur Khan, and Fidaool-Deen Khan, who had been latterly his colleague. They were both ejected by Juwan Murd Khan Babi, as soon as the purport of the Firman was known, when they retired to Cambay. In what relationship Nujeem-ood-Dowla stood, to the first Momin Khan, does not appear; but he was Mootusuddee, or chief of Cambay, in 1746, when he repulsed a force, sent from Ahmedabad to subdue Cambay. A difference arising between the Gaekwar and Peshwa, in 1748, the Nuwab requested the latter to send an agent, to collect the Mahratta share of the revenue; and, from that day, the Peshwa had an interest in the affairs of Cambay, to which the British Government has succeeded. After beating off the Gaekwar forces, in 1753, he was unable to pay his troops their arrears, and gave them leave to plunder a village, belonging to the Raja of Limree. Finding that this violence was not noticed, he attacked Goga, and exacted a Peshcush from it, and every other village on his route; and, next year, sent a force into Goelwar, and Katteeawar: and, in two months, took Peshcush from all the Zumeendars of these provinces. In 1755-6 he seized upon Ahmedabad,* which, after a long seige, he yielded up to the Mahrattas, with whom it has since remained. In 1758 he was besieged in Cambay, when he agreed to pay the Peshwa an annual fixed sum, of 10,000 rupees, in lieu of the customs of the port. Momin Khan is said to have obtained a Sunnud, for the Chowreasse of Cambay, from the Emperor; if so, it is the only territory, I imagine, held upon an imperial tenure, in Gujerat. His eldest son, Futteh Ali, succeeded him, and was at the head of the Government, when the Honourable Jonathan Duncan visited the place, in 1801.

THE RAJA OF EEDUR, Gumbheer Singh, is great grandson of Anund Singh, who was a brother of Abhee Singh, the Raja of Joudpoor, and viceroy of Gujerat, between 1731 and 1736. Anund Singh, together with his enterprising brother, Rac Singh, obtained possession of Eedur about this time. Anund Singh was killed in action with the Mahrattas, in 1742, near his own fort. Eedurwara, of which this is the capital, is a mountainous and jungly country, inhabited principally by Bheels.

THE RAJA OF AHMEDNUGUR is a son of Sungram Singh, and grandson of Anund Singh, the first Raja of Eedur. Raja Rae Singh, the brother of the latter, joined the Mahrattas in 1740, but went over to the Soobehdar's side, during the following year, when he had Ahmednugur, Amliara, &c. conferred upon him, in Jagheer.

* I have followed Grant Duff, as to the date of the capture of Ahmedabad, in 1755; at the same time, I must be permitted to observe, that Mac Murdo gives a journal of a siege in 1753, conducted by Dumajee Gaekwar, and Rugonath Rao; when the Royal authority was subverted: and again, in 1757, when the siege was more obstinate, and of greater duration. The defence was conducted, this last time, by Nujeem-ood-Dowla, otherwise Momin Khan, ancestor of the present Nuwab of Cambay, who had obtained possession of the city; and Juwan Murd Khan Babi, was on this occasion in the ranks of the besiegers.

THE RAJA OF BARREAH, has retained his independence (paying tribute to none) from the impervious nature of his country, a hilly and jungly tract, situated on the N. E. frontier of the Gaekwar possessions. His revenue is small, consisting principally of exactions, levied upon the villages of other States around him, as the price of forbearance. The marauding parties of Bheels, sent out from these wilds on former occasions, when their dues were withheld, consisted usually of 7 or 800 bowmen, who drove off the cattle and inhabitants, who were held for ransom. A small party of Sindhians, Arabs, &c., partly on foot, and partly mounted, usually composed the rear guard in the retreat. They advanced to the point, where they intended to commence their depredations, under cover of ravines, taking along with them all travellers, who discovered them, and plundered, as they retreated to their jungles, with a management and celerity, which baffled pursuit.

THE NUWAB OF BALASINORE, is a tributary of the British Government. He is a descendant of an elder branch of the powerful family of Babi. The earliest accounts we have of them are, that during the reign of the Emperor Shah Jehan, Oosman Khan, a person high in authority at Delhi, obtained for his two sons, Sher Khan, and Bahadur Khan, charge of the then disturbed Soobeh of Ahmedabad, and upon their subjugating the town and district of Theraud, it was, with Balasinore and Veerpoor, granted them in Jagheer. Sher Khan died childless, and the property descended to his nephew Sufdur Khan, and from him to his sons and grandsons. One of the latter, by name Bahadur Khan, took forcible possession of Joonagurh from a Rajpoot, about the beginning of the eighteenth century, another established himself, at a latter period, at Puttun, and a third at Theraud, which, with Naundépoor, is to the present day enjoyed by his descendants in Jagheer. Balasinore and Veerpoor continued appendages of the Joonagurh estate till circumstances induced Bahadur Khan to send his eldest son, Sirdar Mahomed Khan, to Balasinore, and dying shortly afterwards, his two younger children took possession of the Joonagurh Gadee, without any opposition from their elder brother; since which each Gadee has descended to the posterity of the respective families. The Balasinore property, during Sirdar Mahomed Khan's lifetime, yielded but a trifling income, and in the following reign, the period of its greatest prosperity, the revenue was about 50,000 rupees. Till 1768 Balasinore remained independent, when it was made tributary to Ahmedabad, by the Peshwa's Mamulutdar, who then fixed the tribute at 3,000 rupees, which he afterwards increased to 10,000 rupees: his successor however experienced difficulty in realizing this sum and brought an army before Balasinore, but after a six months siege the chief was obliged to submit, and since this period the fixed tribute has been regularly paid by succeeding chieftains. In 1818 it became ours by right of conquest from the Peshwa.

THE THAKOOR OF GHORASIR, an ancient and powerful chieftain. This family formerly resided at Huldee a village a little distance from Ghorasir, on the bank of the river Watruck. Previous to the British sway, this chief had made many of the surrounding villages tributary to him; he in return guaranteeing them protection against the incursions of other independant chiefs. The custom of villages purchasing the protection of such chiefs by a voluntary tribute prevailed much in Gujerat, and when this was not the case, such a payment was forcibly demanded. The right to tribute from villages as may be supposed, gave rise to much contention between the chieftains themselves, and their power fluctuated often with the caprice of their tributary villages. This Thakoor is now, as indeed are all others in the Kaira Zilla, quite peaceable. In lieu of their tributary payments, Government pay them a given sum under the head of Girras. Their wanta lands, and other acknowledged hereditary property, have been continued to them, and they are now agents for Government in the Magisterial capacity; conducting themselves with every degree of propriety, and being overawed from committing excess, they are reconciled to a system combining security to themselves, and their property, and which has conferred so much prosperity not only on the community in which they themselves reside, but has been also productive of happiness to the inhabitant of the surrounding country.

THE THAKOOR OF SINNORE is next in importance: Sinnore is about five or six miles to the eastward of the town of Balasinore. What has been said of the Thakoor of Ghorasir, equally applies to that of Sinnore; the same habits and pursuits actuated them alike in subduing, and bringing into tribute, the surrounding country and minor chieftains.

THE THAKOOR OF OMETTA. Bahria Vijey Singh, is son of the late Nursing, Bahria. This Thakoor is of some importance and though a greater person than that of Sinnore, cannot be said to be equal to that of Ghorasir. The same remarks as above noticed with respect to the Thakoor of Ghorasir, applies to this person. His yearly revenue is about 50,000 rupees, and he keeps up a party of seven horse and about thirty matchlockmen. Ometta is about twelve miles west from Baroda, on the Muhee River.

THE THAKOOR OF DEHWAN, near Borsud, is a person of the same stamp as that of Ometta, though perhaps a little inferior in importance. His revenue is about 50,000 rupees, and he keeps up about ten horse and forty Sebundy.

THE THAKOOR OF KURRAUL, in the Kuppurwunj Pergunna, is a person much the same as the above: he is subject to the Gaekwar authority, but enjoys some land in the Company's district.

THE THAKOOR OF SENALEE, in the Mondah Pergunna, is of but little note.

THE THAKOOR OF SONEEPOOR is a person who was of considerable note in former days: he is now a peaceful and obedient subject.

GUNGADHUR SHASTRY, PUTWURDHUN, who was assassinated in July, 1815, at Punderpoor, while on a mission to the Poona Durbar, from Baroda, left three sons who receive, between them, pensions of 10,000 rupees from the British Government, and 60,000 rupees from the Government of Baroda. Shumboo Shastry, brother of the deceased, has a pension of 1,200 rupees a year from the British Government, and holds various enam villages besides, in the Konkan, Deccan, Surat Zilla, and Bundelcund.

CHIEFS IN KATTEEAWAR,

(Alphabetically arranged.)

THE CHIEF OF AMRUN is a descendant of Meroo Kowaus, a minister to the Jam of Noanugur, who threw off his allegiance shortly after the accession of the Jam, Suttajee, and possessed himself of the districts of Jooria, Balumba, and Amrun. The latter place, was with twelve villages, confirmed to the Kowaus family when they evacuated the forts of Jooria and Balumba, on Colonel East's force encamping before the former place. The present chief, who is entirely given up to opium eating, pays 12,000 Kowries* towards the Noanugur tribute. Amrun is a small fort of no strength, and its wall is, in many places, in ruins; there is, however, one strong bastion, in which some guns are mounted. There is a Mahomedan tomb, of white marble, in the place, which is worthy of remark.

THE CHIEFS OF BAUNTWA. This Talooka (which comprises eighty villages, of which thirty-six are now deserted) was given by Sulabut Khan, the second Nuwab of Joonagurh, in 1740, to his younger sons Dulleel Khan, and Sher Jumma Khan, to be held in equal divisions by them and their descendants.

* 350 Kowries is equal to 100 Rupees.

The principal holder at present is Kumal Deen, who has twenty-two villages. The other twenty-two villages populated, are held by six proprietors, the principal of whom are, Mahomed Khan, and Nuttoo Khan. Bauntwa yeilds a revenue of about 1,00,000 rupees, and pays a tribute of 32,000 rupees by Colonel Walker's settlement; but the villages are in a wretched state, and the six proprietors descended from Sher Jumma Khan, are in very penurious circumstances. The Talooka is still subject to the gaddee of Joonagurh, and pays a share of the tribute, besides its own.

THE RAWUL, STYIED ALSO RAJA, ALSO THAKOOR, OF BHOWNUGUR, Vujjee Sing. The revenues of this chief are estimated at 7,40,000 rupees. The Bhownugur district itself, including the sea and land customs, is estimated at 2,00,000 rupees and the Talooks of Gogeh, Burra Sehere, and Oerralla, under the Ahmedabad collectorate, are rated at 1,00,000 rupees. The British Government tribute is 75,400 rupees annually, and on account of the Joonagurh Zoortullubbee 23,400 rupees more. Vujjee Sing is probably the richest chief in the Peninsula, and the greater part of his country is in a flourishing condition. He is about fifty years of age, and a man of much talent and energy. He has several children. His elder son resides at the fort of Sehere.

THE CHIEF OF BUJANA, Dhureca Khan, is a Jhut (a tribe of Mahomedans, supposed to be the earliest converts from Hindooism, and from whom the Province of Jutwar derives its name.) Bujana is a very small Talooka, with a revenue rated at 13,000 rupees, of which 5,000 is paid in tribute to the British Government: the town itself however is populous, and situated on the south bank of the Runn.

THE CHIEFS OF CHEETUL and JAITPOOR, are Kattces of the Khoomaun* tribe. The principal of them are Vikumsee and Mooloo Wala. The tribute paid by Jaitpoor and Cheetul together, to the British Government, is 54,264 rupees, and the Joonagurh Zoortullabbee is estimated at 3,530 rupees more, annually. The whole revenue is estimated at 1,50,000 rupees. The receipts of the Nuwab are 960 Jam Shye Kowries from the customs annually, and a fixed share, (being $\frac{3}{4}$ ths,) of the produce of what is termed the Julpud lands.† The Kattee lands of both Cheetul and Jaitpoor are at present under attachment, on account of the Khoomaun chiefs, for whom the Jaitpoor Kattces are security. Jaitpoor is situated on the Bhadur river, has a good strong and high wall, and contains about 12,000 inhabitants. It was in this place that the refractory Kattee chiefs usually left their families when they went out upon pillaging excursions.

THE RAJA OF DURANGDRA, Oomar Sing, is head of Jhalla Rajpoots. Being entirely given up to devotion, his resources are left in bad hands, and the estate, which comprized in 1809 about 200 villages, has now not more than 100 inhabited. The population is scarcely one third of what it was, from the effects of the famine of 1813, and the incursions of Meyannas and other freebooters. The town of Durangdra, which is in good preservation, and the walls newly built, is situated on a clear stream which falls into the Runn. The revenue is rated at 1,67,900 rupees, and the tribute to the British Government is 48,909 rupees; but latterly, on account of the impoverished state of the Talooka, 44,000 rupees only, have been taken, and I rather think, that last year only 40,000 rupees were taken. See page 97 of Itinerary.

THE ZUMEENDARS OF DUSSARA, are Mahomedans, and either bear the title or family name of Mulluk. The estate, comprizing twenty-five villages, (many of which are deserted,) bordering the Runn on the north of Jhalawar,

* There are several tribes of Kattces, but they all intermarry; the principal are the Khoomaun, Wala, Rana, &c.

† Lands recovered from the sea, and brought under cultivation.

was, it is said, conferred upon their ancestor by the Emperor, in the eighth century of the Hejra. It is divided into two large Patties, or shares. The chief proprietors are Mulluk, Adobye Lalmeah, and Mulluk Bawajee Mullukbhoy. Colonel Walker, in 1809, settled the tribute of this Talooka at 14,001 rupees, but owing to the poverty of the chiefs, there are considerable arrears, and the Talooka is now under attachment. Of late years there has been scarcely half the produce, and Government, the year before last, made a new settlement remitting 2,000 rupees of the tribute, and 12,001 rupees is now settled for the five years from 1826.

THE CHIEF OF GOONDUL, Chunder Singh, has a large district in the division of Hallar: his chief towns are Goondul and Dhorajee, both large and thriving, and the district comprizes 179 villages. The chief himself however pays little attention to the affairs of his Government. His revenue may be rated at 2,63,225 rupees and his tribute to the British Government is 53,005 rupees. Dhorajee and Ooplaita are at present under farm to Runchoorjee Dewan, on account of the debts of the Goondul chief to Nanjee Veerjee, and others.

THE CHIEF OF HULWUD is subject to the Durangdra Raja, and pays tribute with Durangdra. He has eight villages besides Hulwud.

THE GOVERNOR OF JAFFERABAD, Eyib Khan, bin Yakoob Khan, is a Seede, or Abyssinian. He was appointed, in succession to his father, about 1808, from Jinjeera, otherwise Dunda-Rajpooor of which Government, Jafferabad is an appendage. It is a walled town of considerable strength, and has five villages subject to it; the revenues of each however not exceeding 500 rupees, and the whole of the revenues of this petty colony, including land and Sea Customs, may not exceed 15,000 rupees. The present chief has been the Governor for many years. Vide page 24 for the Seede of Jinjeera.

THE NUWAB OF JOONAGURH, Buhadar Khan, was placed on the Musnud in 1811, at which time he was about sixteen years of age. From his habits of extravagance, and the ill administration of those who have had the management of his affairs, his country has been rapidly going to ruin, and for the purpose of freeing his Highness from his embarrassments Government have been necessitated to place the administration in the hands of a farmer, Govindjee Jhalla, in 1823. The land revenues are farmed to this person for ten lacks and a half of Kowries, (including his own salary 75,000,) out of which the Nuwab receives 2,40,000 Kories for his maintenance,* and the remainder is set apart for the payment of his Sebundy, and creditors. Besides this amount, His Highness has another source of revenue in the Zoortullabee† or collections from most of the chiefs in Katteawar paid to him; this is farmed at present to Nanjee Veerjee, a Merchant of Poorbunder, at 2,23,000 Kowries. The Mooluck-geery‡ collections, which were ceded to the British Government in 1811, realized last year 82,384 rupees. The Joonagurh dynasty originated with Sher Khan Babi,§ who during the confusion occasioned by the struggles between the Mahratta and Moghul for superiority, in the province about 1730, established himself in the Government of Soreth, of which Joonagurh is the capital. The other chief towns are Buntlee, Kesor, Choorwaur, Soodra-Para, Oona-Dilwara, Kootianna, Vairawul-Puttun, &c. Joonagurh is surrounded by a well built wall and rampart thirty feet high, with a ditch at its base excavated out of the rock, and twenty feet deep,—making the height from the bottom of the ditch fifty feet. The inhabitants are estimated at 30,000 souls.

* The Nuwab had lately an increase I believe, towards his maintenance of 10,000 Kowries a month.

† The Zoortullabee and Mooluck-geery, seem to be a similar species of revenue, being a forced settlement upon every village in Katteawar levied at the head of an army; the former was established by the Nuwab, the latter at an earlier period I suppose, by the Mahratta's. Similar to this is the revenue extorted under the head of GHAS-DANU, which seems to have commenced with the Peshwa's farm of the Gaekwar's Mahals in Gujerat. GHAS-DANU, however, seems to have been exacted for the benefit of Sirdhars of the Mooluck-geery army, while the Mooluck-geery exactions were for the benefit of the Prince.

‡ See the Nuwabs of Rahdunpoor, Balasinore, &c. all descended of the Babi family.

THE CHIEF OF LIMREE, now a minor, is a Rajpoot. The revenues of the Limree Talook are estimated at 1,57,075 rupees; this does not include either what is derived from the Bhyad villages, or those under Ahmedabad. The tribute payable to the British Government is 51,931 rupees annually. The town of Limree is situated on the banks of the Bogwara river, but is now a place of no strength, and the walls are fast going to decay: but it is extensive and celebrated for the number of its monied inhabitants. The Talook is divided as follows. Thirty-two Durbar villages: thirty-nine under the Bhyad (brotherhood) i. e. under the management of, and for the support of, cadets of the family: thirty-four under the Ahmedabad collectorate, including Dundooka, Burwala and Wuddara: the latter pay tribute through the Collector.

THE THAKOOR OF MALLIA, Suttajee, a Jahrejah Rajpoot. Having lost his faculties from the immoderate use of opium his affairs are managed by his mother a woman of talent and ability. She exhibits one of the few instances of a Rajpoot lady sitting in Durbar in the presence of Europeans. The residence of the family is at Kokrajee a large village five coss from Mallia, and three from the Runn. The revenue is estimated at about 70,000 Kories, or 17,138 rupees, and the tribute to the Gackwar Government is 1,200 rupees. Mallia has seven villages under it, and three Bhyad villages, the latter pay a fixed sum towards the tribute.

THE NUWAB OF MANGROL, seems formerly to have been dependant upon Joonagurh. The first who assumed the title of Nuwab was a Kusbatty, but his descendants have retained it. The principality remained independant until the time of Omarjee the Dewan of Joonagurh, who compelled the Kusbatty to cede the villages of Seal, Buggusra, Meyaree and Dewassa, to his master; fixed the Mangrol share of the tribute at 11,000 rupees yearly, which the Joonagurh officers collect: and further to cede the half produce of the remaining forty villages in this Talooka. The Nuwab of Joonagurh has authority to decide in all cases of disputed succession, but no authority in the town of Mangrol itself, nor any share of the customs. The Mangrol produce is estimated at about 1,25,000 Kories, not including either the customs or the town revenues, which amount to about a lack more of Kories. The town of Mangrol is very populous, and the port much frequented by small craft.

THE THAKOOR OF MOREWEE. Jehajee, a Jahrejah Rajpoot, is the principal chief of Muchoo Kaunta. His estate comprizes ninety-seven villages. His revenue is rated at 1,68,641 rupees, and his tribute to the British Government is 40,001 rupees. His chief towns are Morewee and Tankaria: the latter is at present in the hands of Meiral Bhow a Baroda shroff for debt: it has nine villages under it not included in the Morewee Talook: the estimate of the Tankaria revenues may be about 20,000 rupees annually. Jahreja Jehajee has also several villages in Kutch under him. The Morewee villages are now rather in improving circumstances.

The legend says that the ancestor of the present Chief of Morewee, by name Rewajee, who was the eldest son of Raidhunjee, Rao of Kutch, and should have succeeded to the Gaddee of that country, was murdered about 1685, by his younger brother, Pragjee; and his offspring were obliged to fly to Morewee, then a possession in Katteeawar, belonging to the Kutch State, which, at a subsequent period, confirmed the Talook to an ancestor of the present Chief of Morewee's.

THE JAM OF NOANUGUR, Runmuljee, is the head of the Jahrehaj Rajpoots. He was adopted by the widow of Jam Suttajee, the last chief, who died about 1814. The widow continued in the administration of affairs during his minority aided by Jug-Jeewan, a Nagur Bramin, of some talent, as her minister. His Government extends over the greater part of the province of Hallar, and his revenue is rated at 5,50,000 rupees whereof 95,000 rupees is paid in tribute to the Gaekwar Government. Noanugur, the chief town, is the most populous in Katteawar, is nearly four miles in circumference, and is principally celebrated for the beauty and texture of its cloth manufactures. The other principal towns in the Jam's dominions, are Jooria, Kumbalia, and Sutchana, which are the chief sea ports in Katteawar in the Gulph of Kutch, and Balumba a well built town, containing about 1,000 houses, surrounded by a double wall and ditch. The Noanugur country, is at present farmed, on account of the debts of the Jam to the late Soonderjee Sewajee,* for 17,25,000 Kowries annually; out of which the Jam receives three lacks for his maintenance, and the rest goes to pay his tribute and creditors. There are upwards of three hundred villages in this talooka included in Soonderjee's Farm, which is now held by his son Soonderjee Dewjee.

THE RAJA OF PAULITANA is a relation of the Raja of Bhornugur; he is however much in debt, and his country is at present mortgaged to a Banyan. Paulitana is a principal place of pilgrimage in Gujerat. The principal place of worship is on the summit of the Shaitrojee hill the bottom of which is about a mile from the town. The top is covered with temples of various kinds, but the finest is that dedicated to Parisnath, which is elegantly carved, the image is of black marble and is always adorned with a great variety of rich clothes and jewels. Most of the other temples are well carved and the gods are of white marble.

THE DESSAYE OF PATREE. His estate lies on the northern extremity of Katteawar. The town was formerly reckoned a place of considerable strength, but is now much in decay. It is surrounded by three separate walls, at the inner of which is a ditch. The revenue is rated at 18,000 rupees, and the fixed tribute to the British Government is 5,652 rupees.

THE RANA OF POORBUNDER, Halajee, styled Pritheraj, is a Rajpoot of the Jaitwar tribe: he is head of a petty maritime State called Burruda, or Jaitwar, which is under the immediate protection of the British Government. The estate comprises about 100 villages, including the forts, of Chya, Ranawau and Kundoorina, and the seaports of Nuvée-Bunder, Meannee, and Poorbunder. Half the port duties of the latter place, rated at 37,500 rupees, were ceded, in 1808, to the British Government to defray the expense of 100 sepoy and an officer, to be stationed at Poorbunder. These port duties realized 31,230 rupees last year. A tribute of 30,000 rupees is also paid to the Gaekwar. The Rana is a man of little capacity: being joined by a number of profligate associates, he raised a rebellion against his father, about 1810, and established himself in the adjacent fort of Chya, where he was besieged in the following year, by Colonel East's force, which, after sustaining some loss, succeeded in taking him prisoner, when he was delivered over to his father. His country is in a very impoverished condition: when it was farmed to Soonderjee Sewajee the revenues were estimated at upwards of six lacks of Kowries.

THE THAKOOR OF RAJKOT, Soorajee, is a minor; he has a revenue rated at 34,500 rupees,—his tribute to the British Government was fixed at 20,500

* The late Soonderjee Sewajee was a merchant in Katteawar, deserving notice for the patriotic manner in which he has applied his great wealth: 1st, To the improvement of the country—2d, In extensive charity, particularly during the famine in 1812-13, when he expended two or three lacks of rupees; and 3d, In works that will perpetuate his name for some time: particularly in the completion of a road and bridge up the Geernar hill, near Jcouagurb, for the use of pilgrims who visit the temples on its summit.

rupees, but I rather think that only 17,000 rupees is now taken. The Talooka is at present farmed to Runchorjee Dewan, the ex-minister of the Nuwab of Joonagurh. The principal town is Sirdhar, which was formerly the residence of the chief.

THE THAKOOR OF SAEELA, Alluda Sing. The revenues of his district may be estimated at 35,000 rupees of which 12,000 is paid in tribute to the British Government. In 1809 the Talooka comprised thirty-eight villages but of these seventeen were depopulated by the famine in 1813. The revenue at the first period was estimated at 50,000 rupees, and Colonel Walker settled the tribute at 18,782 rupees. Saeela is a large walled town situated in an open country, and upon a large Tank. Serraw a well built walled town west of it, is the next principal place under this Talook.

THE THAKOOR OF WANKANEER, Dosajee, has a small district comprising villages in Mutchoo Kaunta. He is an old man, and looks older from the effects of eating opium, a practice common to the chiefs in Katteewar. His revenue in 1809 was assumed at 40,000 rupees, and his tribute fixed at 18,000 rupees. The former is now reckoned 26,000 rupees and the tribute taken is 12,000 rupees. See page 99 of the Itinerary.

THE RAJA OF WUDWAUN, is a minor, and the Government is conducted by the mother of the late Raja, Jhallum Sing, who died last year. The Bhyad villages of this Talooka settle separately for their tribute. There are twenty-eight Durbar villages in this Talooka, all in a high state of cultivation, the finest cotton in Katteewar is grown in it. The tribute settled by Colonel Walker for Wudwaun was 27,831 rupees the revenue may be estimated at 1,00,000 rupees.

GOVERNMENT OF KUTCH.

THE RAO OF KUTCH, is of Rajpoot origin, and is styled the Maha-Raja, Mirza Rao Shri Dessuljee. He was unanimously elected in October, 1819, by the Jarejah chiefs to succeed to the throne of Kutch, in succession to his father Bharmuljee, who was deposed on account of his tyranny and oppression to the Jarejah Bhyad, (brotherhood of chiefs.) During the Rao's minority, the affairs of the Government are transacted by a Regency of six persons, viz. the Jarejah Chiefs, Nonguljee of Kotree, Banjee of Motarah, Chandabye of Nangurcha the Minister Mehtah Luckmadass Wallubjee, (one vacant) and the British Resident for the time being.

The Government of Kutch subsidizes a Battalion of Native Infantry with Artillery, for which it pays to the Honorable Company seven lacks of Kowries annually, besides eighty-eight thousand rupees for the rent of Anjar and its Pergunna, which was in the year 1822, re-transferred to the Rao. The military force of the Durbar is very limited, consisting of about three hundred horse, and two thousand Sebundy, which are employed principally in the collection of the revenue, and police of the country. A few Arabs are maintained for the defence of the forts of Luckpnt and Mandavee.

This country had long been the scene of disorder and misrule, and its Government being too weak to prevent the constant irruption of Banditti and Freebooters into the Company's Territories, led first to the treaty of Anjar, in 1815, and subsequently to the Subsidiary Treaty of Bhooj, in 1819, which guaranteed the security of his dominions to the Rao, and arranged for the permanent residence of British troops at his capital. Since that period the country has been subjected to many misfortunes; in 1819 a dreadful earthquake took place, which destroyed the forts and principal buildings in Kutch and occasioned the loss of many hundreds of lives. In 1823, and the year following, the periodical rains failed, which occasioned much distress, and the emigration of a large portion of its population. In 1825, the country was overrun by plunderers from Sindh which added to the distress of former years. Since that period Kutch has been better protected, order has been restored, and its population has chiefly returned.

The revenue of the territories belonging to the Rao of Kutch, may be calculated at between twenty-eight and thirty lacks of Kowries, and its expenditure exclusive of the Subsidy, at between twelve and fourteen lacks. The remaining portion of the country has been granted away in Jagheers to the Bhyad, or to religious establishments.

The soil of Kutch is principally of a sandy description, but it contains extensive tracts of country, such as the plain of Abrassia, and some districts in Wagur, of an extremely rich, and productive nature, and particularly favorable to the growth of cotton, which may be considered the staple of the province. It possesses likewise, on its northern boundary, extensive grass lands, which are resorted to by numerous tribes of wandering Rehbaries, Jhuts, &c.

The Jarejah Bhyad of the Abrassia and Wagur acknowledge the Rao as their chief, and on a summons from the Durbar are obliged to attend at the camp of the Rao with their retainers, both horse and foot, but during their attendance subsistence is demanded. From the chiefs in Wagur only, a Jumabundy or tribute is levied of forty Kowries on each plough of their Ryots, but this arrangement has been subsequently commuted into a fixed tribute, according to a calculation of the number of ploughs in each village in 1819: the settlement is shewn in the following table. The deposed Rao endeavoured to establish a similar tribute from the rest of his chiefs in other parts of the country, but failed. The following statement shewing the revenues of the Kutch State does not include the villages assigned for the maintenance of the ladies of the Durbar, over which they have the sole sovereignty and management. All disputes amongst the Bhyad are referred to the Durbar at Bhooj for adjustment.

THE PETTY STATE OF SIROWI.

THE RAO OF SIROWI, is a Rajpoot claiming descent from Mehnsé, a Chowhan Prince, who reigned at Jahlore. To Sessmull, one of his descendants, is ascribed the founding of the city of Sirowi, in A. D. 1424, then named Sheepooree. The revenue which comes into the Rao's treasury does not exceed seventy thousand rupees, but the Marwar Government have advanced claims to a share of it in tribute. The Rao keeps up at present between 300 and 400 Sebundies, but the whole population, which is composed of the predatory tribes, chiefly, Meenah, Grassias, and Bheels, are always armed. The mountain of Arbud, or Aboo, celebrated for its splendid Jain temples, is within this territory; and the superb ruins of the ancient city of Chandrawattee, are to be seen near to the village of Mawul, close to the south eastern shoulder of Aboo. See Itinerary page 116.

PRINCIPAL OFFICERS,

AT THE COURT OF GWALIOR.

SINDHIA, styled Maha-Raja, and Ali-jah. Ranoojee, the founder of this family, sprang from a menial rank in life, but left at his death, which occurred about 1750, to his successor a government, extending over the greater part of Malwa, with a revenue estimated at 65 lacks of rupees. He had five sons, of whom three were killed in action, during his lifetime. Jyapa, his second son, succeeded him, and was present at the capture of Ahmedabad, about 1755. In 1759, he was assassinated by an emissary of the Raja of Joudpoor, whom he was besieging in Nagore. Of the sons of Jyapa, one was killed in action; Junkoojee, the other and most distinguished as a soldier, was, in 1761, taken prisoner at Paniput, and afterwards put to death by the conqueror. Mahadjee, the fourth son of Ranoojee, being now the only survivor, though illegitimate, (the other having been killed in action,) and having established claims by his own services, was confirmed in the Jagheer: Mahadjee died at Poona in 1794, and was succeeded by his grand-nephew, and adopted son, Dowlut Rao; who, like his predecessor, extended the Mah-ratta conquests in Malwa, and Rajpootana, and died 21st March, 1827; leaving territories to his successor, capable of realizing, under proper management, an annual revenue of nearly 140 lacks of rupees. The late Maha-Raja having no male heirs, and there being but little prospect of any, he shortly before his death, sent to the Deccan for the children of some of his distant relations, that he might select an heir from amongst them. The candidates, five in number, arrived at Gwalior after his death, and the right of selection fell upon Bueza Bae, the acknowledged Regent, who chose Mootgut Row, a boy twelve years of age, the second of the candidates in respect to years. The ceremony of adoption took place on the 17th June, 1827, and of marriage, on the same day, to the grand-daughter of the late Maha-Raja, by his daughter married to Rao Suenaputee. He was seated on the Gaddee on the following day, under the auspices of the British Government; assuming the name of Junkoojee, in compliment to his distinguished ancestor of this name.

The army of the State at the period of the death of the late Maha-Raja, was at the lowest computation, exclusive of the British contingent, and garrisons to forts, estimated at 14,000 infantry, 10,000 cavalry, and 250 pieces of cannon.

THE REGENT. BUEZA BAE, styled the Bacc Sahibah, the younger,* but favorite, wife of the late Maha-Raja, assumed the reins of Government on his demise, agreeably to the understood intentions of her late husband, who died intestate; and she has been recognized by the British Government, as Regent during the minority of her adopted son, Juukoojee Rao, who is now twelve years of age. The chief persons in the administration are: first, her brother Hindoo Rao Baba Ghatgay, who is at the head of the Military Department; and, 2dly, Bapoo Rugonath, who is Mookhtiar, or Prime Minister, and at the head of the Financial Department: the latter is the celebrated minister of the Dhar State, during the period of anarchy in Malwa, and of whom so full an account is given in Sir John Malcolm's memoir on that province. But, Atmaram Pundit, Raojee Khasgeewala, Appa Chitna-wees, a dependent of Hindoo Rao's, and Dajeeba Potnuwees, seem the principal male persons who have access to the presence of Her Highness.

JUE SINGH RAO GHATGAY, styled Hindoo Rao, is the son of Sukaram Ghatgay, styled Surjee Rao, and brother to Bueza Bae, the favorite wife of the late Dowlut Rao Sindhia; since whose death he has, naturally, attained greater influence at the Court of Gwalior. The uncle of Hindoo Rao, styled Wiswas Rao, was, together with his father, originally in the service of the Raja of Kolapoor, whose daughter was married to the former. The town and district of Kagul, an ancient possession of this family of Ghatgay, and supposed to be a royal grant, was confirmed in Jagheer to Wiswas Rao, as his wife's dower. After his death, it was conferred upon Surjee Rao, as an enam, in reward for important services, rendered by him to the Raja of Kolapoor. Surjee Rao's daughter, who was celebrated for beauty, having been espoused by Sindhia, he became minister at Gwalior, in 1796. After a series of the most unexampled atrocities, perpetrated during the period that his influence predominated in Sindhia's camp, he was killed in an affray, in which an attempt was made to seize him by Sindhia's orders, in 1810. His son, the present Hindoo Rao, did not go to Gwalior till 1815-16. His Jagheer, in Sindhia's country, is estimated at 1,50,000 rupees, and he has an allowance from the treasury besides.

DHABARRY YESWUNT RAO, styled Suenaputee. His ancestor, Khundee Rao Dhabarry, held this office under the Raja Sahoo, and was the fourth person, who held it under the house of Satara. His career was short, but brilliant : he died about 1720, and was succeeded by his son, Trimbuk Rao. By the success of his lieutenants, Kantajee Kuddum Bandy* and Peelajee Gaekwar,† he obtained the chouth of Gujerat, in 1724: Trimbuk Rao arrived the following year from the Deccan, and assumed charge of the army, but was killed in an affray among his own troops, while besieging Cambay. His mother succeeded to the management of the family interests ; and her lieutenants, in various actions, defeated the imperial officers, as well as the agent of the Peshwa, who was jealous of the power she had acquired, and was desirous of having the chouth of Gujerat established in his own name, instead of the Suenaputee's. Ooman Bae died about 1748, and was succeeded by Ambaka Bae, the wife of another son, named Baboo Rao Dhabarry ; and from about this time the office of Suenaputee became a sinecure, and without influence. He holds Jagheers in Sindhia's country, rated at 70,000 rupees ; in the Deccan his personal Jagheer is rated at 22,850 rupees ; and his enam villages, of Tuligaom, and Endooree near it, together, are rated at 8,300 rupees. His son, Manyaba, styled Baboo Rao, has a pension of 2,500 rupees per month, from Sindhia's treasury : he was married to Chimna Bae, the eldest daughter of the late Dowlut Rao Sindhia ; but she died in 1820, leaving three daughters : the eldest is married to the Powar of Dhar,‡ the youngest to the Maharaja, Junkoojee Rao Sindhia, Bahadur, now at the head of the Government ; and the second is still unmarried. The present chief was the nephew, and adopted son, of his predecessor in the chiefship. The office, or rather the title, of Suenaputee,|| was bestowed, last year, by H. H. the Raja, upon his own cousin-german, which gave rise lately to a remonstanc from Yeswunt Rao.

BALA BAE, (literally High Lady) is the second daughter of the late Mahadjee Sindhia. She was married to Ladoojee Seetolay, commonly called, Ladoojee Deshmookh, who was appointed Soobehdar of Delhi ; but, having deserted that city, in fear of Ghoolam Kaudir, of notorious memory, he only escaped a capital punishment, by the intercession of his wife ; and afterwards died at Poona. She holds Jagheers, rated at 3,00,000 rupees, including territories, rated at about 50,000 rupees, intermixed with the British possessions in the Deccan, viz. : Fooltamba, Undersool, Sonae, Mamda-poor, Rajooree, Maloonjee, and Largaom, in the Ahmednugur districts ; and 16, or 20, villages in Khandes.

LALA SAHIB is the son of the late Gopal Rao Bhow, and has charge of part of his father's Jagheers, rated at 1,00,000 rupees, in Sindhia's country ; which have been assigned for the support of the present generation of descendants of Gopal Rao Bhow. He is about twenty-five years of age, and possesses the frechold villages of Waukry in the Satara districts, and Belapoor in the Ahmednugur Collectorship.

YESWUNT RAO BHOW, formerly ruler of Jawud, and other districts in Meywar, the revenues of which were assigned to him, for the payment of his Brigade : he is son of Jewba Dada Bukshee, formerly Sindhia's Commander-in-Chief, and brother to Narraen Rao Bukshee,§ who was in 1800 barbarously put to death, by Surjee Rao Ghatgay, by the order of Sindhia, for his adherence to the interest of the Baees, or widowed Princesses, of Mahadjee Sindhia. Yeswunt Rao was one of the principal leaders, among Sindhia's chiefs ; but having, in several instances, protected the Pindarees, in 1817-18, he was attacked by the Bengal Division under Major General Browne, when his army was dispersed and broken up, and he was afterwards deprived of his strong holds and all other places he held in Mewar. He has been residing at Gwalior, without any situation, ever since, and holds a personal Jagheer, of about 40,000 rupees.

FUKEERJEE GARWAY, a native of Wae, near Satara, of the shepherd tribe, is a commander of 200 horse, belonging to the Pagah: he was originally in command of 100 horse, with Mahadjee Sindhia; in 1798, he abetted the late Ghatgay Surjee Rao, in persecuting the persons, attached to the interests of Mahadjee Sindhia's widows, as well as in his various severities; and is now attached to the party of Hindoo Rao. He served a considerable time in Hindoostan, with Gopal Rao Bhow, and was a favorite companion of Dowlut Rao Sindhia: his only surviving son is blind, and lives at Tara-bad; which place, with Ranjungaom-Musedee, and other villages in the Ahmednugur districts, are held in Jagheer by the family.

ODAJEE KUTKIA, the Surnobut, is of the shepherd tribe: he was a favorite officer of Dowlut Rao Sindhia, and is a native of Kol-Peempulgaom near Ahmednugur in the Deccan. He commands the contingent of 2,000 horse, which is kept up by Sindhia, and superintended by British officers. He generally resides at Goona (140 miles S. W. of Gwalior,) the head quarters of the contingent.

MADHOO RAO PUNT BRIMAJEE, Commandant of the Park of Artillery, to which he succeeded in 1809, on his predecessor being killed before Dhoo-nee: besides the Park, he commands six battalions of infantry, with twenty guns attached; and has large tracts of country assigned for their payment. His father was Koolkurny of Sakoor-Mandwa, in the Ahmednugur Collectorship, where he holds the villages of Arungaom, and Waloony, in Jagheer.

COLONEL JACOB, a native of Armenia, has the most extensive command of any officer in Gwalior service, consisting of thirteen battalions of Infantry, and three or four hundred horse, with a complement of four guns to each battalion: they are kept in pretty good order, as they are regularly paid; Colonel Jacob having extensive assignments of territory for that purpose.

MAJOR JOSEPH ALEXANDER, commonly called Josee Sekunder, was formerly an officer of Jean Baptiste's army; but, when the latter lost his command, Josee Sekunder received charge of several battalions, which he kept for some years. He got into a quarrel with one of the Bundelcund chiefs in 1821, in which the British Government had to interfere, and he was ordered to Gwalior; where he has resided for the last five years. He commands two strong battalions, and two hundred horse: he is a half-caste, supposed an Indo-Briton.

LUKSHMUN RAO WITTUL, Killadar of Gwalior, is a native of Chumargoondee, in the Deccan: he is son of Wittul Mahadeo, the vakeel, who signed the Treaty on the part of Sindhia, negotiated with H. E. Sir A. Wellesley, in 1803. He has about 50, or 60, villages round Gwalior, in Jagheer, for the support of the Garrison.

RAM RAO FALKA has a party, of 400 Silladar Horse, in the Gwalior service: he is a native of Wae, in the neighbourhood of Satara.

THE LATE GOKAL PARUK, an extensive banker, officiated at Gwalior in all the duties of chief minister, as well as minister of finance, having had in his hands the principal control of Sindhia's financial affairs: he died last year, and was succeeded by MUNNEE RAM SEIT, a native of Jeypoor, who formerly kept a haberdasher's shop in one of the camp bazars, is now the first, or richest, banker in Sindhia's camp: all the other bankers look up to him, and will not advance a rupee to government, without asking his advice. The firm of the house is "Munnee Ram and Lutchmee Chund:" they are father and son.

DAJEEBA POTNUWEES (principal revenue accountant,) is uncle to Amrut Rao, to whom the situation of Potnuwees belongs in succession to his father Krishnaje Mahadjee Sindhia : but Dajeeba is styled Potnuwees, as he does the duty of the office, his nephew being very young, and in the Deccan.

ATMARAM SEWRAM BABA WAUKRY, commonly called Atmaram Pundit, the minister, is son of Lukshumun Rao Waukry, who accompanied Mahadjee Sindhia from the Deccan, as Potnuwees ; from which office he was dismissed. Dowlut Rao Sindhia, on the death of Tautia, his Pagnuwees, appointed Atmaram to the situation, who held it about two years. During the administration of Surjee Rao Ghatgay, he was again received into favour, and appointed Dewan ; but, since Surjee Rao's death, he has not been employed, though he retains the fees of the office, which is now considered hereditary ; the present possessor being the third of the family, who has held it : he is a native of Poona, and his father took the surname of Waukry from a Sahookar, in whose service he began life. His Jagheer is that part of the district of Shujawulpoor which was transferred to Sindhia by the British Government.

COLONEL JEAN BAPTISTE FILOSE, an Indo-Neapolitan, formerly commanded a division, comprising the greater part of Sindhia's infantry, the most efficient part of his army ; and had a large assignment of territory for their support. Sindhia, in 1817, enticed him to Gwalior, and placed him in close confinement : he was set at liberty in 1825, through the intercession of Gokal Paruk, the chief minister, and he now resides in the Mahratta camp at Gwalior without employment.

(Re-published from Colonel Brigg's Genealogy.)

MULHAR ROW HOLKAR, the first member of this powerful family, was the son of a shepherd and weaver of camlies in the village of Hole Pergunna, of Phultun, from whence he derives his name. At an early age he enlisted as a horseman in the troops under Amrut Row Kuddum Bhandy and subsequently having raised a small troop of his own, gained distinction under the banners of the Kuddums, which his descendants continue to use, now they have attained to the eminence of Princes. Sir John Malcolm, in his history of Malwa, has supplied all the information required of the exploits of the first Mulhar Row, the administration of his extraordinary daughter-in-law Ehlya Bye, of the character of Tookojee, and of the feats of Yeswunt Row, his illegitimate and youngest son, whose illegitimate offspring, the sole but disjointed descendent of the house, now sits on the Musnud at Indoor, and rules over the half of Malwa, yielding a revenue of 25 lacks of rupees.

CHIEFS IN MALWA.

The Mahomedan and Rajpoot, Princes, and Chiefs of Malwa, under the protection of the British Government, having been fully described by His Excellency, Sir John Malcolm, G. C. B. &c., in his "Central India," as they stood in 1820, my notice of them

* I had hoped before this sheet was put to the press, to have been successful in obtaining an original account of the Holkar family, together with accounts of the present leading officers of the Durbar at Indore. and principal Military Commanders.

shall be concise, and will be principally extracted from that work, but corrected up to the latest period; their political measures and external relations are subject to the control of the British Government, to which they pay tribute, or render military service, agreeably to their respective means. Most of the seats of their Government will be found in the Itinerary.

THE RAO OF KOTAH, Kishour Singh, styled Maharao, had (in 1822) a well equipped military force of 20,500, men, with a revenue of 47 lacks of rupees. His tribute to the British Government amounts to 1,00,000 rupees, and to Sindhia, 1,02,430 rupees. The Raja himself is but a pageant, the hereditary Dewan, Madho Singh, (son of the late Zalim Singh) being chief de facto. The town of Kotah and its original lands, are principally situated in the province of Harowtee.

THE NUWAB OF BHOPAL, Nuzur Mahomed Khan, has a territory capable of realizing a revenue of 20 lacks of rupees, and keeps up a military force of 2,600 horse, and 4,000 infantry, including the contingent of 600 horse, and 400 infantry, to be furnished at the requisition of the British Government.

THE NUWAB AMEER KHAN, holds the districts of Seronj, Peerawa, Tonk-Rampoura, Gogul, Chupra and Neemaheera, the revenues of which are rated at 15,00,000 rupees. He has no military establishment beyond what is required for police and revenue duties, and is under the protection of the British Government.

THE NUWAB GHOUH MAHOMED KHAN, a minor, has succeeded his father the late Ghuffoor Khan. His Jagheer comprises the districts of Sunjeet, Mulharghur, Tal, Mundawur, Jowra, and Barrode, which are computed to yield to him a revenue of about seven lacks of rupees per annum. His contingent consists of 500 well-mounted cavalry, also 500 infantry, and four guns, with their complement of Golundauz, which is to be employed on the requisition of the British Government. Ghuffoor Khan owed his first elevation to his connexion with Ameer Khan, who, in 1808, caused the Holkar regency to confer a Jaedad upon him, the continuance of which is guaranteed to him by the Treaty of Mundisoor.

THE RAWUL OF BANSWARA,* Bhowanee Singh, is of the same stock as the Oodeepoor family. His revenue may be estimated at 3,00,000 rupees, and he pays three eighths of it in tribute to the British Government. His military establishment consists of about 1,000 men, horse and foot, including the contingents of his Jagheedars, who all belong to the same tribe.

THE RAWUL OF DOONGURPOOR* is also connected with the Oodeepoor family. His revenue may be assumed at 2,50,000 rupees, and he pays 37½ per cent, in tribute to the British Government, with which his troops are bound to act in subordinate co-operation: exclusive of his armed Bheel subjects, his military establishment may be taken at 1,100 horse and infantry.

THE RAJA OF PURTABGURH, Sawunt Singh, has a country, the revenue of which may be assumed at 4,00,000 rupees, of which he pays 45,000 rupees in tribute to the British Government. His military establishment comprises about 950 horse and foot, all Rajpoots, besides his armed Bheel subjects.

THE RAJA OF DHAR,† Ramchunder Rao Powar, has the Pergunnas of Dhar, Budnawur, and Nalcha, the revenues of which may be rated at 4,00,000 rupees. He receives also 1,10,000 rupees annually from the British Government, for the district of Bairseeah, and tribute of Allee-Mohun, both of which were ceded by treaty, dated 18th December, 1821, in perpetuity to the Honorable Company. The former is rented to the Nuwab of Bhopal, and the latter is relinquished to the chief of Allee-Mohun which see. His troops (about 1,100 horse and foot) act in subordinate co-operation with the British troops, when required.

* See page 20. † See pages 11 and 12.

THE RAJAS OF DEWASS,† two Rajas of equal rank, but with one minister. The revenue is about 3,00,000 rupees, derived from the districts of Dewass, Sarungpoor, Allote, Ringnod, &c. The military establishment is 140 horse, and 200 foot, including the British contingent of 50 horse, and 50 infantry.

THE RAJA OF ALLY, commonly called Allee-Mohun, has a revenue rated at 45,000 rupees, including the Sayer, rated at 20,000 rupees, which belongs to the British Government, but which relinquishes it to the Raja to enable him to maintain fifty men for the security of the road between Ally and Dhar.

THE AMJHERRA CHIEF, Ajeet Singh, a Rhattore Rajpoot, has a territory which should realize 1,00,000 rupees, but he pays a fixed tribute of 35,000 rupees yearly to Sindhia, guaranteed by the British Government.

THE RAJA OF RUTLAM, Bulwunt Singh, is son of the late Purbut Singh. His revenue is assumed at 5,50,000 rupees, of which 84,000 rupees is paid in tribute to Sindhia. He has no military establishment, but on occasions of emergency, the dependent chiefs of his family, who held Jagheers of him on feudal tenures, arm their adherents and form his military force.

THE RAJA OF SEETA-MHOW, has a revenue rated at 1,20,000 rupees, of which he pays 60,000 in tribute to Sindhia, and has a military establishment of 900 men.

THE RANA OF SOONTH, has a revenue of about 70,000 and pays 7,000 rupees, in tribute to Sindhia: his Zumeendars, principally Bheels, furnish each a contingent of troops when required.

THE RAJA OF LOONAWARA. This chief is of an ancient family. In 1739 an ancestor, then styled only Zumeendar, it appears paid a tribute of 3,000 rupees, together with the customary presents, to the royal authorities in Gujerat. In 1758, Deep Singh, his successor, was besieged by the Peshwa's troops, and after an honorable defence of his fort, he was obliged to pay down 51,000 rupees and give hostages for good behaviour. This petty state is now tributary to Sindhia, and pays a fixed tribute of 12,000 rupees. The revenue is rated at 80,000 rupees.

THE RAJA OF SEYLANA, pays 42,000 rupees in fixed tribute to Sindhia. His revenue is rated at 1,20,000 rupees. He has no regular military force, but the Rajpoot Chiefs of his family, who hold their lands of him on feudal tenures, arm when required.

THE RAJA OF JUBOOA, Bheem Singh, a Rhattore Rajpoot, is tributary to Holkar to whom he pays 35,000 rupees. His son, Purtab Singh, has now the chief management, and the revenue rated at 80,000 rupees, is shared equally between him and his father. He has no military force, but his subjects are Bheels and his country is strong.

THE RAJA OF KILCHEEPOOR, Sher Singh, styled Dewan, is of the Khychee tribe of Rajpoots. The state of Kilcheepoor has existed from one hundred and fifty to one hundred and seventy years. The family came originally from Gagrone, where their ancestors held large possessions. The districts contains about 200 villages, and the revenue, exclusive of numerous small Jagheers, amounts to 35,000 or 40,000 rupees. It is tributary to Sindhia, and pays the yearly sum of 13,500 rupees. It also pays a yearly tribute of 1,050 rupees to the Raja of Kota. Kilcheepoor lies west of Oomutwarra, and south of Harowtee.

THE CHIEF OF GAGOORNEY, Rugonath Singh, is a Rathore Rajpoot, and the descendant of a family who are said to have once ruled over the two districts of Zeerapoor and Machilpoor. The present possession of the family comprises only 20 villages. It is a dependency of the Holkar State, to which it pays a yearly tribute of 1,500 rupees.

THE CHIEFS OF OOMUTWARRA. This province takes its name from two chiefs of the Oomut class of Rajpoots. They established their dominion over great part of Malwa during the decline of the Moghul empire, but were confined to their present limits by the Mahrattas. Newul Singh, styled Rawut or chief, resides at Rajghur, and Hunmunt Singh, styled Dewan or Minister, at Nursing-ghur. They are of the same family, and deduce their genealogies from brothers, between whom the territory was equally divided, not into distinct tracts of country, but by each taking the alternate village. The country contains about 800 villages, and at present produces from four to five lacks of rupees. The Rawut is tributary to Sindhia, and the Dewan to Holkar. The amount of tribute from each is 85,000 rupees, that of the Rawut however has been commuted, in 1819, for territory ceded. The Rawut besides pays 1,050 rupees to the Raja of Kota. They continue to receive a Tanka (rent or fee) from some of the districts formerly in their possession.

THE NUWAB OF KOORWYEE, Ukhber Khan, is the third in descent from Nuwab Duleel Khan, the founder of the principality. The district contains now only 92 villages, yielding a revenue of from twenty to twenty-five thousand rupees. The family are Afghans, and established themselves in this part of Malwa during, or shortly after, the reign of Aurungzeeb. Koorwyee lies east from Seronj.

THE NUWAB OF MAHOMUDGHUR-BASOWDA, Assud Ali Khan, has a small territory of 17 villages, yielding five or six thousand rupees. He is a branch of the Koorwyee family. Basowda lies to the east of Bhilsa.

THE NUWAB OF MAHOMUDGHUR, Ahmud Koollee Khan. This possession contains 22 villages, producing six or seven thousand rupees of annual revenue. The chief is of the same stock as the Koorwyee chief, and nearly related to Ussud Ali Khan, of Basowda. Mahomudghur adjoins Basowda.

THE RAJA OF MUKRAEE, Devi Sah. This chief is a Gond, whose ancestors, in former days, are said to have held the Punj-Muhals of Hurda and Hindia, till they were taken possession of, first by the Moghul, and latterly by the Mahratta. A tract containing 45 villages, is all that is now left to the family. This State was a dependency of the late Peshwa, and, consequently is now one of the British Government.

THE CHIEF OF MUXOODENGHUR, Bhyree Saul, styled Raja Bahadoor. Muxoodenghur is all that remains of the conquests made by the late Doorjun Saul, whom the present chief succeeded. He is descended from an elder branch of the family of the present Raja of Ragooghur. He belongs to the Khychee class of Rajpoots, from whom the tract called Khycheewara takes its name. The district under Muxoodenghur contains about 60 villages, but produces a revenue of only five or six thousand rupees. The districts having been nearly destroyed, during the protracted contests between the Khychees, and Sindhia's Government. The chief now considers himself under British protection.

THE THAKOOR OF AGRA-BURKAIRA, Chuttur Saul. His estate consists of 12 villages: the chief is also hereditary Zumeendar of Gunj-Basowda.

and receives a percentage on the revenue, besides holding several half villages. Chuttur Saul is a Powar Rajpoot, son of Nirbhee Singh, who, during the period of anarchy, headed four or five hundred horse, and subsisted them by plunder.

THE RAJA OF SHEOPOOR. The legend of this family traces its descent from one of six brothers, from Adjeegurh, who lived about the year of the Hejra 590. Two of these fell in battle, three became Rajas, of Ajmeer, Harowtee, and Nagore, respectively, and the fourth surviving brother, a Jagheerdar of twenty villages. The descendant of the Raja of Ajmeer, Jogae Raja, became involved with the Emperor Jehangeer, and died a fugitive in the wilds of Lukhairee. His son, Gopal Rao, became, for a time, a leader of freebooters, but having afterwards, in the service of Shah Jehan, taken Asseegurh, he was appointed to the command of it. Gopal Rao, together with his son, fell in battle near Tutha (Sinde) and his brother, Wittul Dass, who had remained as his deputy at Asseer, had districts in Malwa, including fifty fortified places, conferred upon him. Wittul Dass divided this territory between his two sons, Inder Singh, and Arzoon Singh. The first had Shahabad &c. and the second Sheopoor, &c. and hence the origin of this family. The legend enumerates a long line of heroes, but it may be sufficient to say that they are of the Gour tribe of Rajpoots, and that the present Raja holds a Jagheer from Sindhia's Government, valued at 40,000 rupees, being a part of his former territory, and resides at Gwalior, within the Residency limits. Sheopoor is situated S. W. from Gwalior, 120 or 130 miles; and was the head quarters of Jean Baptiste, in the days of his prosperity.

CHIEFS IN JHANSI AND BUNDELCUND.

THE SOOBHDAR OF JHANSI, Rao Ramchundur Hurry. Hurry Damodhur the great grandfather of the present Soobehdar, and his brother Sudasew Damodhur, had each command of a small party of horse in the service of the Nizam. They afterwards entered the service of the Peshwa Bajee Rao Bulal, who conferred upon them, in enam, Parola, and other villages in Khandes, rated at 7,238 rupees, which the family still hold. On Raja Bahadur* being recalled, by the Peshwa, from Jhansi, Hurry Damodhur was sent to succeed him as Soobehdar. His son Shew Rao Hurry, styled Bhow, rendered himself in some measure independent, by ceasing to send his accounts, or any portion of the collections, to Poona, after the decease of the Peshwa, Sewai Madhoo Rao, in 1797. Shew Rao entered into a treaty in 1804 with the British Government, when he acknowledged himself one of the Peshwa's feudatories. He had three sons, but the eldest, who was father to the present Soobehdar, died during his father's lifetime. When Jhansi was first ceded to the Maharrattas by the Raja Chuttur Saul, the revenues, rated at 24,00,000 rupees, were allotted as follows:—

To Sindhia, districts in Jagheer, rated at	Rs. 14,61,361
To Holkar, Lands in Enam, supposed to yield	98,956

The Peshwa's rights (rated as above, at 6,36,782,) over the estate of Jhansi, were transferred to the British Government, by Treaty, in June, 1817; but in consideration of Shew Rao's uniform attachment to the British Government, and in deference to his wish expressed before his death, it was confirmed in perpetuity to his grand-son, Rao Ramchunder Hurry. The military establishment I do not know, but the chief of Jhansi is bound to employ his troops, whenever required to do so, in subordinate co-operation with those of the British Government.

THE CHIEF OF SAUGOR, KALPEE, AND JALOUN, Nana Govind Rao. With the first acquisition of territory in Bundelcund (properly Boondelkhund,) by the Mahrattas, a story, perhaps an idle one, is connected. It is said that Chuttur Saul (who I suppose to have been a descendant of a powerful Zumeendar in the province of either Gurah or Mundela, of the name of Lodi,) served as a bargeer in the army of the Raja Sahoo, and having had a sword conferred on him by his Prince, in acknowledgement of some distinguished service, he declared that with it he would acquire dominion. He afterwards went into Boondelkhund, of the whole of which he gradually possessed himself. A quarrel with the neighbouring powerful Prince of Furrukabad, obliged him to call in the aid of the Mahrattas, which being timely afforded, turned the scale of victory. Chuttur Saul, in gratitude, adopted the Peshwa, Bajee Rao Bullal, as a son, and conferred upon him, at his death, in 1733, an equal share of his possessions with his other two sons. Besides Jhansi, the Peshwa's share of Boondelkhund rated at 20,00,000 rupees realized, in 1779, 15,40,935 rupees,* at which time Baloojee Govind Rao, son of Govind Bullal, the first Soobehdar, was in charge. Govind Bullal, the first Soobehdar of Saugor, was killed in action, when transporting the revenue of his Government to the army at Paniput, in 1760. He had two sons, Baiajee Govind Rao and Gungather Punt. The Peshwa confirmed the first in possession of Saugor and other districts; and the latter, who was grand-father to Nana Govind Rao, was put in possession of Jaloun, which has been confirmed to him in perpetuity by the British Government, having fallen under our direct authority by the Treaty with the Peshwa, in June, 1817. The district of Saugor is now under the administration of the British Government, and from the revenues, assumed at 6,98,000 rupees, a sum of 2½ lacks is assigned as a provision for the maintenance of Seeta Bacc, the widow of the son of Baloojee Govind Rao, the last Raja, and also to maintain Venaik Rao, the former manager: and whenever the assumed estimate is realized, a stipend of 1,18,360 rupees is payable to Nana Govind Rao of Jaloun.

THE RAJA OF OURCHAR, Moonhur Dhurmpaul. The fabulous history of this chief exhibits seventy-two generations. The first Raja, Ramchunder, reigned at Ayodya (Oude,) and was succeeded by his second son, Ankoosh, from whom Gungruk, who founded Gayah in Behar, and erected some splendid buildings therein, is the sixteenth in lineal descent. The twentieth Raja, Buldeo Rukh, founded the place called Pruyag in Allahabad, and his son, Indradumun, built the celebrated temples of Juggernath. It is from Raut Singh, the second son of the 32d Raja, that the Burgoozur Rajpoots derive their origin. The 34th Raja, Kurmshya, conquered the province of Benares. Kemkurn, the second son of the 46th Raja, having, together with a person named Mulsa, performed some religious austerities on the summit of Hinda-Chul, succeeded in propitiating Bedraoshenee, the tutelary Devee of the mountain, with her permission, proceeded against, and overcame, Khan Jehan Khan Lodi, Raja of Jukumpoor, where they reigned 59 years. The 60th Raja, Prutab-Roodra, built the fort of Ourchar, for his son Bharteechund, who succeeded him. Mudkur, the 62d Raja, reigned in the time of Akber. His eldest son, Ramasa, succeeded to the throne of Ayodya, while the younger son, Nursingh Deo, was confirmed by Jehangeer in Ourchar, and the district of Chunderee was given to Ramasa, as an equivalent. Nursingh Deo had twelve sons, the third son, Pahar Singh, accompanied the Emperor Aurungzeeb to Aurungabad, and founded a Poora, or Suburb, which now bears his name. With Bhugwandass, the fourth son, originated the tribe of Koorers. The 69th Raja, was Owdhoot Singh, adopted from the family of the Raja of Hurdwar, and the present Raja, who succeeded his father about 1817, is No. 72. The Raja of Ourchar is considered as the head of the Boondely tribes, and all the other Rajas receive their investiture from him. His chief town is about eight miles from Jhansi, and his revenue, at present, does not exceed a lack of rupees.

I should have been glad could I have given a fuller account of the Chiefs in Bundelcund, or those holding possessions on its frontier. The Boondely chiefs are perhaps the most ancient in India, and a careful comparison of their legends, with those of other tribes and nations, who have had intercourse with them, should furnish something of value to the historian; the Soobehdar of Jhansi, and Chiefs of Saugor, and Kalpee, are but of modern date. The principal chiefs of the ancient family, who have been received under British protection, are, the Raja of Sumpter, who, by his engagement, furnishes a contingent of horse when required. The Raja of Dutteeah, with whom similar engagements exist, viz. Protection on the one side, dependence, fidelity, and co operation on the other. The Raja of Gwah-Kota, has been restored to part of his possessions, but virtually reduced to the rank of a Zumeendar. The Rajas of Rewah, of Tehree, and many others, names and style unknown to me, are in like manner guaranteed in their possessions by the British Government.

CHIEFS, AND PRINCIPAL OFFICERS, UNDER THE NAGPOOR STATE.

THE RAJA OF NAGPOOR, styled, Scna-Sahib-Soobah. Rughoojee, a minor, son of Nana Goojur, by a daughter of the late Rughoojee Bhonslay, was placed on the Gaddce under the auspices of the British Government, in 1818. Her Highness Buka Bacc, widow of the late Rughoojee, was at the same time appointed Regent. This branch of the Bhonslays affirm, that they owe their origin to the Patels of Hingun-Berde,* near Poona, and Dewoor, near Satara. The story, of their emerging from obscurity, is as follows: Pursojee Bhonslay, Soobehdar of Berar, about the beginning of the nineteenth century, had a nephew, Rughoojee, who served under him with four horse, but of whose remarkable talents he became jealous; Rughoojee in consequence deserted; plundered some villages on his route; and, collecting a party of about 100 horse, entered the service of the Raja, Chand Sooltan, the brother of Bukht Boolund, Raja of Deogurh, and then ruler in Gondwana: these Rajas, had been converted to Mahomedanism. About this time a Sahookar, by name Putwurdhun, on his way from Benares to the Deccan, had heavy transit duties levied upon his merchandize, by the Gond Raja, and Pursojee declined his interference to get it remitted. It happened that Pursojee's tribute, 3,00,000 rupees annually, had not been sent to Poona for sixteen years, and the Peshwa was preparing to enforce it, when Putwurdhun suggested, that a member of the same family should supersede him. Rughoojee was, therefore, sent for to Poona, and received the investiture of Soobehdar: Putwurdhun became his security for the payment of the arrears of tribute, rated at fifty lacks, and Rughoojee engaged to subdue the Gond Raja. Rughoojee took his uncle prisoner and he was sent to be confined at Satara. The Gond Raja, Bukht Boolund, having died without issue, an illegitimate son of Chand Sultan, named Meer Buhadoor, usurped the Government in Gondwana; though three legitimate sons were living, viz.: Boorahan Shah, Akber Shah, and Wulee Shah. The latter had been put to death by the usurper, and his mother called upon Rughoojee to avenge it, at a time that the crafty Mahratta was assembling troops to invade Gondwana, in pursuance of his engagement with Putwurdhun, who had provided funds for the payment of 10,000 horse. Rughoojee invaded the province, and encountered Meer Buhadoor; but both armies drew off; and Meer Buhadoor was, afterwards, seduced by his opponent to an interview, and treacherously put to death: the victor restored the other brothers; and, having received Pownec, Brimapooree, &c. in Jagheer, returned to Berar. A domestic quarrel shortly after happened, and Akber Shah wounded his elder brother, and made him prisoner; when the confined prince entreated Rughoojee, again to enter the province: on his arrival at Brimapooree, Akber Shah met him, with an army of 15,000 men; of these, 12,000 were detached, by Rughoojee's contrivance, when he surprized, and dispersed, the remaining 3,000 men. Akber Shah fled, with about 100 horse; but he was overtaken, near Deogurh, and his followers being then finally dispersed, he reached Aurungabad, a solitary fugitive; and was sent, by Nazir Jung, to his father's court, at Hydrabad. Nizam-ool-Moolk was preparing to espouse his cause, when Akber Shah died, in 1745; and Rughoojee, from this date, became undisputed Raja of Gondwana. About this time he received the title of Sena-Sahib-Soobah. He ruled seventeen years; and died in 1753, leaving four sons: Janoojee and Sabajec, the elder, were by his younger wife; and Boembajec and Moodajec, by his first wife. He divided his territory between them. To Janoojee* was left the supremacy, with the title of Sena-Sahib-Soobah, and Deogurh was assigned to him: he reigned about twenty years, and died; having adopted Bapoo Sahib, otherwise Rughoojee, the eldest son of his brother, Moodajec; who was afterwards confirmed, as Sena-Sahib-Soobah. Sabajec had Berar assigned to him; Beembajec had Chuteesgurh; and Moodajec had Chundunpooree. Durcea Bacc, the widow of Janoojee, officiated as regent, with Sabajec's assistance, during the minority of Bapoo Sahib. Moodajec, conceiving that he had best right to the office of guardian to his own son, collected troops, and gave battle to Sabajec, at Paclgaom, near Nagpoor, on 27th January, 1775, and was defeated: the victor approached his brother, and was in the act of uttering some consolatory expressions, when Moodajec drew a pistol, and shot him through the head: Moodajec, by this act of atrocity, became guardian of his child, and ruler in Gondwana. He died in 1788, and his son Rughoojee, the Sena-Sahib-Soobah, succeeded. The younger sons of Moodajec, viz.: Chimna Bapoo, and Venkojee Munya Bapoo, otherwise Khundojee Bhonslay, had Chundunpoor assigned to them, in Jagheer. The Sena-Sahib-Soobah sent his contingent, of 10,000 horse, to join the Peshwa, in the war against Tippoo, and his brothers accompanied it. Chimna Bapoo greatly distinguished himself at the siege of Badaun, in 1786; and it is said, that in the last assault, the greater part of his division were amongst the slain: he had the title of Sena-Buladoor, with presents in Jewels, rated at one lack of rupees, conferred upon him, on his return to Nagpoor: the Raja, however, became jealous of him, and fearing equally, to allow him to conduct the re-inforcements, or accompany them himself, and leave his brother behind at Nagpoor, he purchased the absence of his contingent, by paying a contribution of 10,00,000 rupees towards the war. The Raja is said to have used incantations, for the destruction of Chimna Bapoo, who died in 1795. Rughojee reigned forty years, and died in 1816. He was succeeded by his son, Balla Raja, otherwise Pursojee, who was blind, and reputed (as usual in such cases) to be the victim of witchcraft. He was murdered in 1817, by Appa Sahib, his cousin-german, the son of Munya Bapoo, who ascended the Gaddee. After a short reign, remarkable for repeated perfidy towards the British Government, he was arrested, but escaped from his escort, on the way to Allahabad, which had been fixed upon as the place of his confinement; he is now a fugitive, forgotten, and friendless. He was, by the latest accounts, residing in privacy at Lahore, upon a scanty allowance from Runjeet Singh. The revenue of the Nagpoor State is rated at 40,00,000 rupees, exclusive of the revenue of the territories alienated for the payment of the Subsidiary Force. The military establishment consists of two regiments of infantry, clothed and disciplined in every respect like the Company's regular sepoy, and 3,000 irregular horse, the whole commanded by British officers. This is exclusive of garrisons to forts, and the Sebundy employed upon revenue and police duties.

* See page 20.

* Of Janoojee, the most remarkable personage of this race, I have said nothing, as his history is so fully given in Grant Duff's History, a book which every officer in the Honorable Company's Service should read.

ACCOUNT* OF GURAH, MUNDELA AND OTHER DISTRICTS SITUATED TOWARDS THE SOURCE OF THE NERBUDDA, AT PRESENT INCLUDED IN THE MODERN DIVISION OF BUNDELCUND AND NAGPOOR STATE.

About the end of the sixteenth century the province of Gurh, or Gurah, and Mundela, was held by a number of independent Zumeendars, who each governed within their own limits. One of the family of Lodi,† named Dulput Shah, seems to have been the greatest among these Zumeendars, and to have been looked up to as chief in the province. He died in A. D. 1585, and was succeeded, in his influence, by his widow Doorgawutee, who, in 1600, being defeated by the emperor's forces, stabbed herself, leaving the province in possession of the royal authorities. Adhur Thakoor, a Kaet, then minister, on this went to Delhi, and obtained the investiture for Chunder Shah,

* Why should any original historical notice of a newly acquired country, and of which but little is known, stand a chance of being consigned to oblivion in some one of the bundles of papers which my heirs may one day direct to be sold by weight in the bazar. This account of the provinces of Bundelcund, Gurah, Mundela, &c. supposed to have formed, formerly the dominion of Raja Chutter Saul, exhibits an alienation successively of district after district from his posterity, till the last of his descendants was subdued by the Bhoinslay of Nagpoor.—thrown into confinement, and his remaining possessions annexed to the Nagpoor State. Many of these districts, now denominated the Saugor and Nerbudda territories, form part of the acquisitions of the Honorable Company, arising out of the events of the war of 1817-18; and the rest are held by the descendants of the ancient possessor who are attached to the British interests under the usual engagements, viz. protection against enemies, on the condition of paying tribute, or furnishing a contingent to be employed in subordinate co-operation with the British troops.

† This family seems, from the name, to be Hindoo, whether therefore, Khan Jehan Lodi, who was governor of the Moghul possessions in the Deccan, and afterwards in Malwa, about the beginning of the seventeenth century, is connected with it, is doubtful. Many of the Hindoo Princes seem, about this period, to have become converts to Mahomedanism.

the brother of the deceased Dulput Shah, but as a Nuzur he transferred three districts, viz. The Pergunna and Fort of Dhamoree with 350 villages under it, now included in the division of Bundelcund, rated at 1,00,000 rupees: Kalli-Bhet and Mukrae, rated together, at 2,00,000 rupees: and the Pergunna of Karobag, comprising 700 villages, which was afterwards conferred upon Mahadjee Sindhia by the Emperor, in 1789, with the Vizarat of the empire. Chunder Shah, was, it is said, murdered by his own son, Mudhookur Shah, who ruled until 1614, when he died of leprosy. He was succeeded by his son Prem Narraen, who reigned nineteen years, until Beer-singh Deo, and Hursingh Deo, the Boondelly Rajas of Dutteeah, invaded his country, and having seduced him to an interview, treacherously put him to death in 1633, and usurped, for a time, the Government of the province. Hurdesa, the son of Prem Narraen, was at Delhi at the time of his father's murder, but returned home on hearing of it, and concealing himself in the jungle, was joined by many of the Zumeendars, and, with their aid ejected the usurpers. He reigned until 1659 when he died, and was succeeded by his son Chuttur Saul, who died in 1671. His son Keshury Shah then succeeded and reigned six years, when he was murdered by his half brother, Hurbunus, when out hunting, supposed at the instigation of Pahar Singh, their cousin, who came from Delhi, says the legend, for this purpose. In 1677, Neerunshah, the son of the deceased, a boy seven years of age, was placed upon the Gaddee, but the conspirators, Pahar Singh and Hurbunus, having collected an army, the young prince took refuge with Bukht Boolund, the Raja of Deogurh, who espoused his cause, defeated the conspirators, and Pahar Singh having fallen in the battle, Neerunshah was restored to his Government, and conferred the districts of Chahooree-Seonee and Chuppura, rated together at 1,00,000 rupees, upon Bukht Boolund. In 1742 the Bhonslay subdued all the Raja of Deogurh's territories except these two named districts. In 1767 Janoojee Bhonslay proceeded to Poona, when Mujid Khan, a Patan, one of his most distinguished officers, accompanied him. The Peshwa, for what purpose does not appear, seduced Janoojee to the palace, where he determined to keep him in durance. On this Mujid Khan, under pretence of demanding their arrears of pay, went to the palace, with about 100 of his followers, and having obtained access to Janoojee, in a mutinous and tumultuous manner, seizing his hand, dragged him forth from the intended place of his confinement, declaring that he must first discharge the arrears due to his troops. By this stratagem he was carried to camp, and afterwards escaped to Nagpoor. Mujid Khan, for this service, had the two aforementioned districts conferred upon him, on condition of his subduing them, and his descendants now hold great part of the Chuppura district, in Jagheer,* under the British Government, to whom these districts were ceded in 1818.

Juggot Rae, son of the famous Chuttur Saul, took the following Pergunnas from Neerunshah, viz. Saugor, Billeroo, Runoly, Tuyano, and Dummode, together rated at a revenue of 2,05,000 rupees, which were afterwards given with Kalpee, and other districts, to the Peshwa, by Chuttur Saul. Five more Pergunnas, viz. Burdee, Mopal, Goonurgurh, Raisseen, and Bairseeah, together rated at 7,00,000 rupees, appear about this time to have been alienated by the Peshwa from this dominion, and to have fallen into the hands of Mahomed Hyat Khan Rohilla, one of the Peshwa's officers, who assassinated Chynshah, then in charge.† Raja Neerunshah died in 1730, and was succeeded by his son, Maharaj Shah, who was killed at the assault of Mundela by the Mahrattas, in 1742. The Peshwa, Nana Sahib, then confirmed Seoraj, the son of the deceased Raja, as his successor, exacting a Nuzur of 1,00,000 rupees on his installation, and fixing an annual tribute of 3,00,000 rupees, which was assigned to Rughoojee Bhonslay in Jagheer.

* I am uncertain whether this Jagheer has not lapsed to the British Government, by the decease of the grandson of Mujid Khan without heirs.

† Original Mahratta Manuscripts are sometimes obscure, but a translator must suffer his author to express himself in his own way, or run the risk of substituting, unintentionally, something of his own.

This prince died in 1749, and was succeeded by his brother Nizam Shah, who transferred the Pergunnas of Deoree, Punagurh. Gourjamur and Meettee; together 1,200 villages, and rated at three lacks of rupees, to the Mahrattas, in lieu of the chouth or tribute. In 1779, Khundoojee Bhonslay, surnamed Chimna Bappoo, on his route to invade Orissa, deprived Nizam Shah of the Pergunnas of Kunjee, Khyrogurh, Kurrola and Khurowgurh, comprising, in all, 1,400 villages, and rated together at 6,00,000 rupees. He reigned 27 years, and dying without issue, was succeeded by his nephew, Nurhar Shah, who held the remaining twenty-seven Pergunnas about two years, when he was dispossessed of them by the Peshwa's Generals Lukshmun Rao, surnamed Boondely, and his deputy Moropunt, surnamed Mundely. The circumstance which led to the final subversion of Nurhar Shah's Government was as follows. Lukshmun Rao, with Moropunt and Veesajee Punt under him, had been put in charge of the Mahratta possessions north of the Nerbudda, by the Peshwa. But the former had become jealous of his colleague and deputy Moropunt, who was renowned for his skill and bravery, and had him thrown into confinement, from which he escaped. Lukshmun Rao shortly after discovered a conspiracy against him among the Zumeendars, headed by Nurhar Shah, when Moropunt seasonably presented himself with assurances of fidelity. They then assembled a force, overturned the Government of Nurhar Shah, threw him into confinement, and annexed the province of Gurah-Mundel, and the other districts belonging to that prince, together twenty-seven Pergunnas, with a revenue rated at 15,02,905 rupees, to the Mahratta possessions in 1778. These districts were held by them till 1793, when the Peshwa, agreeably to a promise given some years before, conferred them upon Khundoojee Bhonslay, in reward for his services at the capture of Badamee in 1786. The Bhonslay appears at this time to have had a well equipped force of 11,000 men, under leaders of experience, which after the battle of Kurdla, he employed in wresting the above districts, for which he had obtained sunnuds, from the possession of Lukshmun Rao and Moropunt. The latter, who was a brave and active officer, was encountered and defeated in two battles, when the whole of the twenty-seven Mahals of Gurah and Mundela, above mentioned, fell under the Nagpoor State. Eleven of these Mahals lay to the south of the Nerbudda, and were rated at 6,73,750 rupees; and 16 north of the river, rated at 8,29,155 rupees. Moropunt died of a disease called Patea, and Lukshmun Rao a natural death. Radhabaee, the widow of the latter, and their son Venaik Rao, were permitted to retain four forts on the Nerbudda, viz. Dhamoree:* Chowragurh: Mundel: and Tez-gurh, of which the two former afterward held out against the British troops in 1818. Bapoo Sahib, on obtaining possession, gave the Soobeh of Gurah to his relation Nana Ghatgay: that of Shreenugur to one of his Mootusudees, Mahadjee Punt Mukhlasee, and the Soobeh of Seonee-Hoosingabad was bestowed upon the Nuwab Sidum Ali Khan. In 1809 Meer Khan advanced to Chowragurh, which induced Venaik Rao to call upon the Bhonslay for assistance, and Mahadjee Punt marched in consequence from Shreenugur. On Meer Khan's retreat, possession was taken of Venaik Rao's† four forts and a fixed sum assigned to him in lieu. Nana Ghatgay died in 1810, having raised Jubbulpoor from a small village into a populous and thriving town, and it is now the modern capital of the province. Jeejaba Ghatgay‡ succeeded his father and managed during two years. He was superseded by Ramjee Tatia, a deputy of Hurbajee Punt Kuturny, who had charge of the Soobeh in 1818, when events transferred it to the Honorable Company. Ramjee Tatia is now at Nagpoor, employed as Dewan to Her Highness the Regent Buka Bacee.

* I am uncertain whether this is Dhamoree or Dhamonee.

† Venaik Rao has been provided for in the settlement with the Chief of Saugor; see page 67.

‡ This chief now resides at Kolapoor, with the Raja of which his family is connected by marriage, and under which Government he holds a Jagheer, rated at 8,000 rupees. He is not related, however, to the Kagulkur Chatgay.

In some few places, particularly between Cambay, Kairah, and the west bank of the Sauburmuttē, they are liable to be flooded, this tract being remarkably low and flat, but it is seldom that they are not passable for wheeled carriages. The Road from Baroda to Jumboo- sur, is over the same kind of soil, and is at all times equally good. The Road from Baroda to Meagam is of a similar description with the exception of the black soil intervening in a trifling de- gree in one or two places. From Jumboosur to Tunkaree Bunder, and all the southward of these places and Meagam, through the A- mode and Broach Pergunnas, to the north bank of the Nerbudda River, the soil changes to rich black mould, and a few hours heavy rain renders the roads quite impassable for carts.

Ascend a difficult ghat to Dolus or Dolsena, s. v. ws.	4	4	Note.—This route was measured by Lieutenant Beek of the 9th Regiment, under instructions from the Quarter Master General, last year, and is more likely to be correct, as far as regards the distances, than No. XII. in the Itinerary which is the same route great part of the way. Lieutenant Beek observes that his baggage was conveyed upon carts from Khandala to Maligaom, and that the only difficult part for carts was the descent from Dolsena. Under these circumstances I am of opinion that the best route from Bombay to Maligaom is the one now offered; there is less jungle than on the road by Bhowndy and the Tull ghat: (LIV. of the Itinerary reversed,) a greater facility of obtaining carriage, and, as far as Tuligaom, is a more frequented road.

The god was therefore wroth, and caused his image to take a journey under ground—that it made its appearance in different places in Hindoostan, at each of which a temple is built, but at last it settled at Nauthwarrah, which from that time became the head-quarters of the Vishnavas. POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

N. B.—A portion of the thirty rupees demurrage, noticed in the 5th para. of the Advertisement, will be returned to the traveller from Bombay on his arrival at Poona, provided he has been punctual to time. Attention to the note at page 134 of the Itinerary is recommended to persons travelling dāk between Bombay and Poona.

There are Taverns at every stage on the road to Poona, and the prices for Refreshments, Liquors, &c. (which are exhibited upon a board hung up in a conspicuous place) are very reasonable. There is always plenty of carriage of all sorts (except hamals,) at Panwell, and the rates of hire are shewn on the next page.

As gentlemen sometimes are not sufficiently explicit in their instructions when requiring a dāk to be laid for them, the following form of a Letter is recommended to their attention.

(FORM.)

LETTER OF ADVICE TO THE POST MASTER AT POONA.

TO THE DEPUTY POST MASTER AT POONA,

SIR,

I request you will have the goodness to direct a Dāk to be laid for me between Panwell and Poona; I propose to leave Panwell on the _____ at _____ o'clock (morning or evening.) It will be requisite that _____ Bangymen should accompany each set of Bearers, and that Masauljee's should be sent to the Stations of _____ and _____ which I propose to pass during the night.

Mr. _____ will follow me and take up the Dāk on the following day, for whom I request the favour of your making the necessary arrangements.

A receipt for the amount of the Dāk, together with demurrage, on account of Mr. _____ which has been paid at the General Post Office, is herewith transmitted to you. I have, &c.

THE BANGY ESTABLISHMENT.

To the Editor of the Bombay Courier,

SIR,

Having reason to believe that the nature of the Bandy Establishment, now existing between the Presidency and this station, is not generally understood, which occasions to the department and myself unnecessary trouble, I request the favour of your giving publication to this letter.

The Bandy Establishment consists of twenty hamals, stationed at ten different places, two at each, from Bombay to Poona. The packets, or parcels, are contained in covered cane baskets which are sealed up at the office from which they are despatched, and opened only at the office to which they are addressed.

The Bandy was originally established for the convenience of the community at Poona, as well as to aid the mails, and the advantage of this might be extended to places in the interior. I shall be happy, for a few months, to forward any packages arriving by Bandy, and addressed to my care; but the transmission to me of a receipt from the head writer of the General Post Office, for the amount of the coolie hire from Poonah to the place to which the package is intended to be forwarded, is indispensable. Letters on this subject should be "Post Paid," and addressed to "The Post Master at Poona."

The usual rates of coolie hire at Poona are as follows, and the same rate is charged for a package of five pounds weight as for one of 30. Packages will be committed, through the Bazar Muccadum, to trust worthy persons; but it is proper to notify, that the department is not responsible for any that may be lost.

 The Hire of a Cart with two bullocks from Panwell to Poona is 8 rupees : this includes the expense of taking the Cart-load to the top of the Ghat, by men, which usually costs about two rupees.

Return Camels are sometimes met with at Panwell, but the Rate of Hire depends upon the wants of the parties.

It is useful to the traveller, and certainly only humane to the ferry-men, at Poonowla and Ound, to apprise the former, that the latter have no monthly pay, and that they depend for subsistence, principally, upon such of their fellow creatures, more fortunate in that respect, whom they convey across in their boat. It is only during the rains, that these rivers are not fordable, and there are but two ferries on the direct road between Panwell and Poona. Gentlemen going to Poona, will never be refused a passage over, though they may not have money upon their persons, but it should not be forgotten that some one of the Boatmen has to trudge all the way to Poona to obtain their dues when they are not paid at the ferry. The amount is but trifling ; ½ rupee for a Palankeen and Bearers : ¼ rupee for a horse : and 2 pice for each individual.

SECTION IV.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

IN

EXPLANATION.

* * * Candy and Maund have already become part of our language, it is too late therefore to restore them to their proper form of Khundee and Mun ;—willing to accommodate myself to the European and Native I have written the first Khandy.

Ruti, used to express an English pound, is, I imagine, the Rottolo of Italy and the Levant.

I have omitted the Itinerary Measures of India in the following pages, as more curious than useful.

There is also a measure, or mode of calculation, in use among Shawl Merchants, who mark all clothes of value, especially shawls, by numbers, and sell, or buy, at so many annas per lack. A little knowledge of these rates, might save my fair friends, occasionally, from imposition, and trouble, and should another edition of this publication ever be called for, I may then be more able to give an account of both the Shawl manufacture and traffic.

SECTION IV.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Throughout India, and particularly the Deccan, a very considerable diversity prevails, not merely in every district, but in every village, in Measures, whether of Weight, Length, or Capacity; nor are the subdivisions to be found in a determinate proportion to each other. To whatever this may be owing, whether to the want of a common, or universal standard in former times, the decay, or abrasion of the measures and weights, the knavery of the owners of them, or to the apathy or connivance of the native district authorities, is probably immaterial, but the present ill-defined system must be felt by all the class of buyers as a hardship, and they, doubtless, would be grateful for any beneficial amendment.

There are three kinds of Weights in use in India; the first are for weighing, drugs, gold, silver, &c the second for all bulky articles,—and the third for pearls and precious stones.

Those of the first class seem to be founded on the weight of a tola throughout India, and the tola, under most Governments, seems to conform with the rupee, or principal Current Coin of Account. In towns the weights generally are of iron or lead, sometimes in a determinate form, but oftener as a shapeless mass. In many villages however, the shopkeepers have only basalt stones as weights, which are met with in beds of rivers. Indeed when great weights are required they are generally made of stones; and under any circumstance considerable advantage would be derived by the people were the use of stones as weights prohibited under severe enactments. The Table of Weight annexed, will shew the great variety of the first class, (and its corresponding English Weight) which exists throughout Western and Central India. Nor are the weights, at the Presidency less multifarious, than they are in the interior. In the following Table of the various weights, by which goods are sold in Bombay, it will strike one as a singular incongruity, that, varying as those weights do with almost every variety of goods, and that, serving as such must, to clog commerce, this system should be submitted to, when the fact is known, that actually every article is weighed by one Weight, viz. THE ENGLISH AVOIRDUPOIDS, and afterwards reduced, by calculation, into the great variety of local Weights, which are merely nominal.

How much would it facilitate commercial operations, were the English Weights, the only ones actually in use, substituted for these local ones, that exist but in a name, and what an advantage would such afford the stranger in readily comprehending at once the value of goods, and simplifying his calculations. It is most difficult to overcome native prejudices in favour of customs, they have, for generations, been familiar with, yet might not firmness on the part of the European Mercantile community in Bombay effect a change.

We have an instance of the failure of such, however, in the attempt to alter the custom, when sales are made by a per centage on the Invoice,* of valuing

* This circumstance is not generally known to gentlemen at Out-Stations, who receive for reply, from the Bombay Shopkeeper, when complaining of his extravagant prices, "What can do, Master?—Give Merchant so large per cent on Invoice;" and this he at once verifies by the production of the Invoice and the agreement at so much per cent. Seldom does the party complaining know, however, that 8 Rupees only were given for the Pound Sterling, when the exchange required perhaps 12.

THE SMALL WEIGHT, commonly called GOLD SMITH'S WEIGHT, is either founded on the Goonj or Ruttee, or the mustard seed. The Goonj or Ruttee is the small red seed, whether of the white or red species, of the abrus precatorius; these seeds are very uniform in size, and the plant producing them grows wild all over India. Two seeds, otherwise Goonj, make one wall, a weight represented by a seed of the Cheelur. This weight is further subdivisions as follows:—two Barley Corns=1 Goonj, and eight mustard seeds=one Barley Corn. Under different Governments of India, the tola is composed of different proportions of these Goonj, or of the massa. The Bengal Tola, being of 100 Goonj or 12½ Massa—the Malwa Tola of 96 Goonj or twelve Massa. The Bombay Tola of 92 Goonj, or 11½ Massa. Several districts in Southern Konkan of 92 Goonj, or 11½ Massa; 90 Goonj, or 11¼ Massas; and 96 Goonj, or 1 Massas. The pice of Kotah in Malwa, is equal in weight to 18 Massa, so that from these we may hope to obtain something approaching to the common weight of the Massa or Goonj, the fundamental measures of weight.

The Weight of the Bengal Massa in troy grains is 15.353,—being 191.916 troy grains, the Weight of a Calcutta Sicca Rupee, divided by 12.5, the number of Massa in one tola. The weight in Troy grains of the tola in Malwa is 190 grains; which being divided by 12, (the number of Massa in one tola) gives 15.8333 Troy grains for the weight of the Massa.

In ascertaining (says Major Sykes,) the weight Troy of a Goonj, with a Hydrostatic balance, turning with the 10th of a grain, the results were as follows:—32 seeds, or Goonj, weighed 60.5 grains Troy—16 seeds or Goonj, weighed 30.5 grs.—8—weighed 15.1, and 56 seeds—weighed 105.2 grains,—which would give an average weight of 1.914 grains Troy for each seed: 96 of these would make the tola equal to 183.7536 grains Troy. But as the seer weight of 80 rupees, or 13.800 grains troy, is to consist of 72 tolas, the tola should weigh 191.6666 grains instead of 183.7536, affording sufficient evidence that the tola in use, like every other weight, is below the proper standard.

MEASURES OF CAPACITY.

Whether Measures of Capacity in India are derived from those of length, agreeably to the notions of many able theorists in Europe, and in which they are borne out by very ancient writings among the Hindoos, or whether they were invented originally merely to save trouble in weighing grains and liquids, is a subject of inquiry for the philosopher. I am much inclined to the latter opinion, as far as regards Western India, from observing that the same denominations belong to the Measure of Weight as to the Measure of Capacity, and also, relatively, to their subdivisions. In this case it seems to me highly probable that the Tukka or Tunka, a small Silver Coin, current during the period of the Moghul supremacy, and in which the revenue was collected, and reckoned, throughout the Western Provinces of their Empire, and particularly in the Nizam-Shahee territories, was the foundation of the weights at present in practice throughout the Deccan. Seventy-two of these Tukka go to the Seer, which makes it nearly similar to the Tola, and the nuo-tank, or nine tanks, is still a Measure for Liquids in very general use. The Chetak, or six tanks, is the 16th part of a Seer of Weight in the Deccan: but my inquiries regard the weights that are in use, and not those that have been. The most popular of the actual Measures of Capacity, are, the nuo-tank, the Seer, the Pusseeree, and the Adholee.

DRY MEASURE.

THE ADHOLEE.—The Dry Measure called Adholee of two seers, which is the largest in use in the Deccan, is, in towns and large villages, made of wood turned in a lathe and lackered. It is in form nearly that of the hour glass and the half seer, $\frac{1}{2}$ seer, and $\frac{1}{4}$ seer, resemble it in form and lackering. In small villages, where the dealers are poorer, these measures are made from the large hollow bamboo sawed through at the joints.

The Adholee in the Northern Konkan, consists of $3\frac{1}{2}$ and 4 Kutchu Seers, and the number of Adholees to the Kokuni Maund, varies in different towns in the Collectorate from 17 to 24. Where the 4 Seer Adholee obtains, there the Maund contains 20 Adholee, and where the Adholee is $3\frac{1}{2}$ Seers, there the Maund consists of 24 Adholee; so that the Adholee and not the Maund differs: the 17 Adholee Measure is perhaps confined to Salsette. The Kokuni and Arabi Khandy are both in general use in this Collectorate,—the first consists of seven Maunds, the other of eight Maunds. The Ghatti, or Deccan Khandy, is also in use, and is used for measuring salt.

In most countries south of the Nerbudda grains are sold by measures, but in selling the flour, a measured seer of grain is put into one scale, and the flour weighed against it.

In countries north of the Nerbudda there seems to be no Dry Measure of capacity, and every thing is therefore sold by weight. This appears also to be the case in most of the Nizam's districts adjoining those of Ahmednugur. The introduction of measures into the Deccan appears to be of late date, but on what principle they were constructed it is difficult to conjecture. The solid contents of a seer of capacity is widely different from a seer of weight throughout the Collectorships of both Poona and Ahmednugur: the first filled with the grain Bajree varies from 108 to 120 rupees, while the other weighs about 80 rupees, or 73 Tola and 4 Massa.

THE PUSSEREE, OR PUNJ-SEREE. There is a measure, as well as weight, termed Pusseree, or Punj-serree, both occasionally met with in the Deccan, but the former is in general use in the Nizam's Country. It ought to contain five seers, as its name imports, but it varies so much, arising either from ignorance, or fraud, in the construction, that it occasions very general complaint.

In Gujerat the Punj-serree is, in fact, but the representative of weight, but its cubical contents is ascertained through the medium of a variable standard, that is, one species of grain, rice in the husk, which is liable to fluctuation according to the varying weight of that kind of corn in different soils, and seasons.

The large Dry Measure in Bombay for salt is the para, containing 10½ Adholee, whereof, 100 make an anna—one anna is equal to 2½ tons—and 1,600 para, or 16 annas, make one rash, or 40 tons. The Para Measure, when used, is struck off even with the rim by a rod made for the purpose.

The small Dry Measure for grain is the seer, whereof four make a Puheelee, 17 Puheeleees, a Para: and eight Para, a Khandy:—Batty or Rice in the husk is reckoned by the Moora of 25 Para.

THE GRAIN KHUNDEE, in the Poona districts, consists of 20 mun: each Mun 12 Puheelee, but sometimes of 16 Puheeleees: and each Puheelee of 2 Adholee: each Adholee of two seers. The subdivisions of the seer are ½, ¼, and ⅛. The Pulla is a measure of capacity, the contents of which weigh 120 seers of 80 Ankoosee rupees the seer, or rather, it is the representative of the weight called Pulla. The Puheelee at Bheema-Shunkur, Neelsee, and some other places bordering the Konkan, consists of 3½ seers only, instead of four. The mun therefore of 12 Puheelee at these places, consists of 42 seers instead of 48 Dry Measure.

LIQUID MEASURES.

THE LIQUID MEASURE is used in the Deccan and Konkan, by the Oil sellers, and Spirit dealers: the measures used are of brass or iron, commonly in the form of a truncated cone. Like the other measures the aliquot parts will be found irregular, or varying from truth. Milk in our camps, and indeed in large towns, is sold by arbitrary measures, but they should, properly, be regulated by the seer weight of 80 rupees.

Oil, Milk, Ghee, and Spirits, are weighed in the Southern Konkan, with the seer of 28 tolas. The vessel in which they are contained being previously weighed, and the weight thereof deducted. Liquids are also vended by weight throughout Gujerat, but the oil and spirit dealers, have measures constructed on the principle of their solid contents being equal to the weight they are intended to represent, hence such measures must vary with the specific gravity of the articles.

Throughout the Northern Konkan, every Talook seems to have its own Oil, or Liquid, Measure; it seems, however, to have been originally framed to contain, of oil, what would weigh one Kutchá Seer. When oil is bought for retail, forty-five seers are reckoned to the maund.

The Liquid Seer Measure used in Bombay for Spirits, Arrack, and Milk, is equal in weight to 60 rupees, or 1lb. 10oz. 7dwt. 12gr. troy. The Maund consists of 50 of these seers, and the seer is subdivided into half seers, quarter seers, and the latter into two measures called nuo-tanks,—or nine tanks, or tukka. The measure for oil corresponds with the Maund of 28lb., that is, the contents weigh that, and the contents of the seer, consequently, weigh 11oz. 4dwt.

LONG MEASURE.

THE MEASURES OF LENGTH, are the Kathee, the Guz, and the cubit. The first is only used as a land measure, the other two are more used by artificers, and sometimes in measuring piece goods, cloths, silks, &c. not sold by the piece. In most of the provinces under this Presidency the Guz is divided into 20 tussoo. In Gujerat it measures 27.5 inches, making the cubit of 14 tussoo, equal to 19.25 inches. In Cambay the Guz is 28.5 inches and the cubit 19.95 inches. At Bombay, and in Malabar, it is 28 inches and the cubit 19.6 inches. In the Deccan, the Dooab, the Southern Konkan, Surat, and also in Kutch, the Guz is divided into 24 tussoo, but of a great variety of length, and the cubit into 14 tussoo. The Peshwa's Guz, which is in use in the public departments at Poona, is 33.86 inches. At seven of the principal towns in the Dooab, the Guz varies from 31.75 inches to 34.75 inches, and broad cloth, velvet, chintz, and other articles of Europe manufacture are measured by it. An average, accurately taken, at 12 of the chief towns in Southern Konkan makes the Guz 33.438 inches, and the cubit 19.508 inches. In Surat the Guz used by tailors is 27.8, and by artificers 24 inches. In Kutch the Guz is divided into 24 tussoo, and measures 26.5 inches. The length of the cubit however, almost every where, is usually determined by the mean length of five different men's arms, measured from the elbow to the end of the middle finger: turbans, &c. are sold by this measure, but it is seldom met with out of Surat, as a measure, unless with tailors: purchasers usually measure by their own arm's length. The English yard is in common use at Bombay in measuring Europe manufactures, and indeed in many places in the interior.

 SUPERFICIAL, AND SOLID, MEASURES.

SUPERFICIAL MEASURES for the measurement of land, Solid Measures for ascertaining the quantity of timber, and many kinds of artificers work, are obtained from the same data, as the measures of length.

ARTIFICER'S WORK. In Superficial measurement throughout Gujerat, Deccan, Konkan, and at the Presidency, the reckoning is made by 100 in length, whether Guz or Cubit, by one in breadth. This rule applies also to the manufacture of Carpets, Mats, &c.

MASONRY is calculated by the brass, which is 25 Cubits in length by one in breadth, and one in height. The quantity therefore of the brass varies agreeably to the Cubit. The Cubit in use among Masons in Bombay is 20 inches, (being 4 longer than the timber Guz,) so that a brass of Masonry contains 115.74 Cubic feet.

TIMBER is measured by the Guz, and the rule for determining the contents is, by the square of the quarter girt multiplied into the length. A Sawyer's Guz is 32 inches in length, and 9 inches in breadth:— $32 \times 9 = 288$ square inches= 2 square feet.

Bombay and Canara Measurement of Timber and Plank.

TIMBER—20 Vissvassa make 1 Vassa—20 Vassa, 1 Covit, or Candy.

PLANK—Is measured by the Guz of 28 English Inches. or 24 Borels: 24 Borels in length,—12 Borels in breadth, and 1 Borel in thickness, make a Guz. A Borel is equal to 1.666 English Inches.

TIMBER—Is measured by the Candy or Covit—16 Moganies make 1 Borel—24 Borels=1 Koll—24 Koll=1 Covit, or Candy.

PLANK—Is measured by the Guz—thus 16 Moganies make 1 Borel—12 Borels in breadth—24 Borels in length, and 1 Borel in thickness, constitute a Guz.

LAND MEASURES.

(Extracted from Captain Thomas Jervis's Report.)

The Land Measures are as follows :—

The Standard rod of five cubits length used throughout Gujerat, called a guntha, also a 'bans' or 'bamboo,' sometimes a 'moula', and sometimes, a 'wussa'.

Of five and a half cubits length in the Deccan called a cathee.

Of five cubits, and five mooshtees (or palms-breadth) in Malwa, also, called cathee.

Of five cubits and five mooshtees (or palms-breadth) in the Konkan, also called cathee.

The length of the several measures, obtained by Major Williams here under specified, led me to fix the length of the hustu, or cubit, at about 19.3 or 19.4 inches,—the districts in which the shorter measures are used being so small in comparison of the districts, in which the larger measures are used.

In Goojerat the Bheega, or Veega, it is sometimes pronounced, is equal to the square of 20 gunthas; the square of one guntha being termed a wuswassa.

20 Wuswassa, = 1 wussa; and 20 wussa, = 1 Bheega.

It may be observed here that the terms wussa, and wuswassa, so generally used in all measures in Goojerat are corruptions of beeswa, and beeswansa, meaning the twentieth part, and twenty-twentieth.

On the western side of India the Bheega is equal to the Superficial content of a square of 20 Cathees: the square of one Cathee is called a poluh.

20 poluh = 1 Pand; 20 pands = 1 Bheega; and 120 pands = 1 Chaor.

It is customary in the Konkan to reckon 23 pand, equal to one bheega, and the Mhars, whose office it is to measure the land, do not lay the Cathee, or measuring rod, on the ground, but raise the one end up, and pass it quickly over to the supposed place of the other end, which gives a much less quantity than the true superficial content—this last custom, is also observed in Goojerat—but in the Deccan land is measured with a rope which gives the true contents.

The following is by the late Byram Rowles, Esq. of the Bombay Civil Service, from whose abilities in revenue matters, we may infer it to be very correct.

1st.—Akbar Shah's Bheega (on the authority of Mr. Colebrooke) 3,025 square yards.

2d.—Sashtee or Salsette Bheega (on the authority of Mr. Duncan) 3,927 square yards.

3d.—The Bheega of the Neriad Cusba, (by marks on the Chuklasee Bhagul Dhurumsala) 2,994 square yards 4 feet 4 inches.

4th.—Supposed extent of the large Bheega throughout the Neriad villages, 2,500 square yards.

5th.—Small Bheega of Sulamee, and Posaitu Tenures, as well as the Wuseefa, and other lands, not fully assessed, 1,600 square yards.

6th.—Bheega of the Western division of Gujerat, comprising grassia tenures, 1,600 square yards.

7th.—Turab of Mahomedan Law, 1,600 square yards.

8th.—Kaira Bheega, according to the Patells' rods, 3,404 square yards.

9th.—The Bengal Bheega, 1,600 square yards.

[From Colonel Monier William's Memoir, &c.]

The proportions between the different Land Measures of this country and that of England are illustrated as follows:—

	Yards.	Feet.	Inches.
In an English Statute Acre,	4,840	0	0
In a Standard Koombha of the Jumboosur, Amod, and Debej Purgunnas,	4,641	0	20
In a Standard Beega of the Baroche, Unklesur, and Hansot Purgunnas,	2,477	7	64
In a Standard Beega of the Ahmedabad, Kaira, and Surat Collectorates,	2,844	4	0

There are various modes of reckoning land in the Deccan, but they are all founded on the Bheega, measuring, in superficial contents, 400 Cathees of 5 cubits, and 5 palms-breadth in length. In the Poona districts 10 Bheega=1 Rooka: 48 Bheega=1 Tukka:—a Khandy contains from 20 to 35 Bheega; and a mun, or Maund, of land is the twentieth part of a Khandy. In Khandes, and in many of the Ahmednugur districts, 4 Bheega=1 Purtun, and 80 Bheega=1 Dooree. In the Dharwar Zilla, a Koorgee is as much land as can be sown with a drill plough in one day, consequently varying from 2 to 8 Bheega.

The same as Ahmedabad.
Grain is usually measured here in a cylindrical wooden measure called a maunnee, 100 of which make a culsey—equal in weight to the Khandy of 20 Maunds. The maun-n should contain 8 Seers.
The same as Blowungar.

Grain sells by this Maund. Jagery, Sugar, Sugar Candy, Dates, Pepper, Beetlenut, Saffron, and Dry Ginger, per Maund of 42 Seers.

The following are the subdivisions of the Seer in the Kaira Zillah. 3 Ruttee=1 Wall; 32 Walls=1 Tola; 36
Tola=1 Seer; 40 Seers=1 Maund. With these weights commodities of every description are weighed, but Tobacco, and some other articles, are allowed 42 or more Seers, according to the particular usage of different villages.

Dried goods, Knuppas, and Grain.

Grain sells, per culsey, of 16 Maunds of 40 Seers, each.
There is likewise a great weight at Jumbooseer and Dollera, called a Bhar, by which Knuppas, and Kullah
(i. e. Cotton in the Pod,) are usually weighed. At the former place it consists of 24 Maunds, at the latter of 16
Maunds of 42 Seers each.

Grain sells, per Garce, of 30 Maunds of 40 Seers, ea-
The number of Surat Seers in the Maund, differs much in the Surat Collectorate, there being 11 different Maunds in 20 Knabas. The Maund, in fact, ranges from 40 Seers, through all the intermediate gradations up to 46 Seers, nor is the Khandy confined to 20 Maunds.

Throughout the province of Gujerat the weight is regulated by the rupee only.
The subdivisions of the Maund, are Ad-muneeb=¾-Dusseroh=¼; Panseree=⅓ or five Seers. The usual subdivisions of the Seer are Pono-seer=¼; Ad-seer=⅓;
Pa-seer=½; Nuo-tank=⅓; Adholee=or one sixteenth.

MALWA.
Banswara,	Salem Shye	84	20	49	2 12 12	40	8 0 0		The intermediate weight between the Maund and Seer, are the Pusseee and Dhuree. The first is, literally, Funj-Seer or five Seers, though in few towns it consists of exactly this number; for instance in Seronge it consists of 6½ Seers, and in Omutwara of 3½ Seers. The Dhuree in some towns is synonymous with the Pusseee and in others two of the latter make one of the former. The small or Kurannah (dry goods) Pusseee, is that by which every thing is sold in the Bazar. But the Bunniah (or retail merchant) purchases his grain by the large or grain Pusseee. The Maund for grain consists only of 20 Seers or 4 Pusseees, but the Maund for Kurannah, as Opium, Ghee, Spices, Oil, and the like, is 40 Seers or 8 Pusseees. Therefore the Grain Maund must weigh, .. 41 4 6 40 And the Opium and Kurannah Maund,..... 80 7 8 0 The weights used for dry goods generally differ from those for Grain, Salt, &c. and even the latter are often not the same throughout a district, as those in use in the principal towns which give it its name. Malcolm's Central India, Vol. II. In Central India every article is sold by weight: in a part of Nemaar, in the Kotah district, (but not in the town) and some others, a measure for grain is used, founded on an equivalent for pice weights.

In the Ahmednugur Collectorship, Oil, Sugar, Ghee, Area Nuts, Cocoanuts, Indigo, Turmeric and many other articles are sold by weight, but there are measures for some of them which assimilate with the Seer of weight. Chooam, Charcoal, Firewood and Vegetables, or Fruits, (such as Onions, Famarinds, &c.) are sold by the Khandy and not by the Pullah. There are 72 Tola (Goldsmith's weight) in a Seer of Safron, Silk, Gold Thread, Cochineals, and two or three other articles.—The subdivisions in the measure of weight are the same throughout the Collectorship, viz.

4 Chetacks=½ Seer, 16 Ch tacks=1 Seer, 40 Seer=1 Maund, 3 Maunds=1 Palla, 20 Maunds=1 Khandy.
 In some of the towns and villages on the Seena river, there are weights in use which have no relation in their terms to the Poona weight: Dusseeree, the largest, weighs from 248 to 254 Ankoosce rupees; Panch seeree, from 120 to 127 rupees; Urhdee-seeree, from 59 to 65 rupees; Suwaee-seeree, the smallest, 27 to 33 rupees.

By Major Sykes's calculations the Poona Seer is 102.50 grains less than two English Pound Avoirdupois. The ½ Seer is 100grs. less than one English Pound. The ¼ Seer is 50grs. less than ½ English Pound: the ⅓ Seer is 26grs. less than ⅓ English Pound.

One Seer of Bajree weighs exactly 2½ Pounds Avoirdupois provided the seed be full, and not old: 1 Seer of Joarree, dry crop, weighs 2lbs. and 2½oz. provided the seed be full and new.

In the Ahmednugur and Poona districts, Goldsmith's weight is divided as follows:—2 Grains of wheat is 1 Goonj or Ruttee: 2 Goonj=1 Waal: 4 Waals=1 Mas-sa: 12 Massa=1 Tola: 24 Tola=1 Seer.

Belgaon, Pucka Seer of measure,	Shapooree 174.0	109 $\frac{3}{4}$	48	0 7 11 11		In the Southern Mahratta Country what is denominated the Pucka Seer, is a measure, the cubical contents of which is found by weighing the number of rupees in this Table against 9 kinds of grains mixed together in equal quantities, viz. Wheat, Toor, Hurbaree, Kooltee, Moong, Oorsee, Joaree, Paddy and Mudkee. The whole being filled into a vessel should be rolled off level with the rim. Four Pucka Seers make one Pubelee or Chittee : from 16 to 32 Pubelees (in most places from 16 to 20) make one Koodoo ; and 20 Koodoos make one Khandy. The Pucka Seer is used for measuring Grains, Salt, &c. It will be observed that the largest Pucka Seer is that of Bagulkot, which contains 133 Madras Rupees of 180 Grains each, or 139 Bagulkota. The smallest is that of Havery which weighs 94$\frac{1}{2}$ Rupees. At New Hoobly, and Kancee-Bednoor, one Seer is used for buying and another for selling. The Pucka Seer is in some places called Pao, because it is one fourth of a Pubelee. The Kutchia Seer is more regular, and is generally equal in weight, whether in buying or selling, to 24 Shahee pice, and is gene- rally equal to 14 Seers, but generally 12 : the Mann or Maund (the highest wet measure in practice) contains 4 Durra ; and the Khandy 20 Maunds.

 In ascertaining the weight of the Seer by Rupees, none should be made use of which are not in the assaye table published by Government.
 This Table is intended to include the weights used in every Kusba, or Market Town under the Presidency of Bombay, and as many as could be ascertained of those used in the Towns, &c. within the territories of the Rao of Kutch, the Soobehdar of the Deccan, and Raja of Nagpoor, the Provinces of Malwa, and Bundelcund. To all these territories, as well as in the Portuguese possessions on the Western Coast of India, the Seer, the Maund and Khandy are common in name, though differing in quantity.
